How to Make a Big Income From a Small Investment.

This booklet is published in the interest of not only the professional and semi-professional public exhibitor but also for the man who is ambitious and anxious to get on in the world, who desires to be independent, to throw off the day laborer's shackles, make a financial standing for himself, a position among business men and to earn a title of being a self-made man.

Our establishment is well known to the professional and semi-professional classes, and our entertainment outfits in part or in whole are in the possession of most of the more successful exhibitors throughout the United States and foreign lands.

To the young man who is just finishing school, and more especially to those whose responsibilities by duty to parent or home compels him to leave school; to the young man or the middle-aged man who is toiling on the farm, working on the railroad, in the factory, shop or office; to the clerk behind the counter or to the country school teacher; to the great mass of bright, active, enterprising, ambitious deserving and would-be wealthy and prominent men of the land, but who by force of circumstances can scarcely see a ray of hope or a chance of bettering their circumstances, a chance for earning more than two to five dollars per day, we address you with the greatest profit paying proposition, the firmest bottom round and surest immediate money-making and the most certain future-promising proposition ever known.

Thousands of men are looking for business opportunities, looking for an opening, a possible chance where they can through their own efforts acquire a fortune, but unfortunately there are so many unprincipled individuals and concerns who for personal gain would misguide the aspiring young man. The papers are full of offers of glowing opportunities to become rich. We see many advertisements offering to employ men at big salaries, offering to send them large outfits with which to do business, etc., and many a man has answered these advertisements and has sent his money only to be disappointed. Hence, we are not at all surprised that young men, middle-aged men, elderly men and fathers and mothers would look with a marked degree of suspicion upon even a "bona-fide offer" which promises to any man of average intelligence even without educational advantages and with but a small investment and no risk, an income which from the start should not be less than $5.00 per day, and almost certainly with the proper amount of energy and application would bring an income of $3,000.00 per year, and upwards of that amount in years immediately to follow.

Opportunities like this are indeed rare, and we are not surprised that on first thought one whose experience and opportunity for observation has been limited would be suspicious. Indeed, with all of our chances for observation we know of no other opportunity offered by any individual, firm or company in any town, city, or locality where there is a reasonable assurance, without previous experience, of at least $30.00 per week from the start, and a possible $100.00 per day or more as he becomes master of the situation.

It is easy to avoid deception, and if every one would first take the trouble before sending money to thoroughly investigate the party who promises so much for so little, such dishonesty could not exist and people would not be disappointed and become suspicious of every proposition which was placed before them, and thousands of men who are now working for a mere existence would not be afraid to make a change which would place them in a position of competence and independence. The merit of the opportunity which we offer, and so far as we know the only opportunity whereby a man with but little means can successfully start in a business with a promising future, the only opportu nity left where a man without previous experience may immediately cease to be a member of the masses and take his position among the classes; the only way whereby any man can immediately place himself in a position of comfort and plenty; the only one easy and quick way to meet the mortgage-holder with his money.

It is our desire if you take up this work you should do it with a feeling of confidence and security, for our success does not depend upon the first sale we make, as the profit on this class of goods is necessarily small by reason of the low prices at which we sell our outfits, consequently it is only the success of the exhibitor, his continued patronage and his influence to start others, which makes it worth our while to so earnestly recommend this line of work.

A well-selected stereopticon or motion picture outfit furnishes a form of amusement that is patronized and enjoyed by all classes, including the very best class of people in the land, and when properly managed, is sure to pay big profits. The Motion Picture and Stereopticon business is divided into three classes as follows: The Traveling Exhibition, the Nickelodion or Nickel Theatre as it is sometimes called, and Street Advertising.

Most generally the traveling exhibition consists of a combination of motion pictures and stereopticon views that are shown from one to several nights in a place, in theatres, lodge halls, churches, schoolhouses, vacant stores, or in black motion picture tents which are constructed especially for the purpose. Some exhibitors, who have been able to save several thousand dollars each year, have shown mostly within a radius of fifty to seventy-five miles of their own home, seldom going more than one hundred miles. They go over and over almost the same circuit from year to year with increased patronage for each return of their entertainment.

Others prefer to travel over considerable distances, stoppingin each successive town, while some visit only the larger cities and towns, and then there is quite a large class of others that combine the exhibition business with traveling for either health or for pleasure.

Some of the most successful confine their efforts to showing in churches and lodge halls, for which they are usually able to make arrangements on a percentage basis, giving a percentage of the receipts, ranging from twenty-five to forty per cent, for the use of the church or hall. Fraternal Societies and churches, especially the latter, are usually glad to arrange for an entertainment of this kind, as it not only furnishes an enjoyable and high class form of amusement, but is a very important feature in what is even more necessary, viz., the replenishing of the usually depleted treasury. Very often it is possible to give from two to several exhibitions in the same town or city, depending upon the population. The fact is, some exhibitors have worked for many months and even some have shown continuously in some of the larger cities.

Some exhibitors prefer to carry with them a black canvas tent, which is made especially for motion picture exhibitions. It is constructed entirely of black canvas and lined throughout, so as to shut out all outside light. By so doing they have little or no ground rent to pay, hence nearly all is profit.

When it is considered that there are more than 10,000 towns of over 500 inhabitants and more than 200,000 churches in the United States, one begins to get some idea of the endless possibilities, and the vast field there is to cover in this line.

New York City alone has 534 churches. Philadelphia 664, St. Louis 263, Pittsburg 187, Buffalo 154, Minneapolis 126, Nashville 105, Indianapolis 96, Atlanta 81, New Haven 65 and Topeka 50.

In addition to opera houses, churches, and halls in the larger cities and towns, is the farming and mining districts outside of the towns and cities where the people see very little of up-to-date and high-class entertainment, are always easy to interest, and patronize liberally anything in this line. They also invite and are ready to assist in anything which promises to contribute to their church or social organization in a financial way.

To Estimate the lesser possibilities we will take for example a country school house, church, or hall, which will hold but 150 people, the receipts for admission at only 15 cents each would amount to $22.50, and as the expenses would be very light a conservative estimate after allowing for the use of the hall, assistance, board, etc., would be about $15.00 net, and at such an average would amount to 90.00 per week, 360.00 per month and $4,320.00 per year net profit.

The receipts from larger Churches, Halls, and Theatres in small towns of from 500 to a few thousand inhabitants, which would come within the route would be much greater. In such places a series of two, three or more exhibitions may be given in the same town, thus reducing traveling expenses, and as this class of churches and halls have a capacity of 500 to 1,000 or more the receipts may be from $50.00 to $100.00 or more per night.

These Estimates are based on the actual experience of hundreds of customers who have written from time to time and told of what they have done and from this we believe it reasonable to figure that any one with a little ambition and energy who will secure one of these outfits and follow our instructions, should be able to make clear of expenses from $1.500.00 to $5,000.00 per year.

Among the best known successes in this line of work is that of John L. Stoddard, who gained a wide reputation about 1880. At that time motion pictures were not known. He showed a series of well-chosen stereopticon sets, and gave memorized descriptions of the same. He visited only the larger cities. In Chicago he showed for many years at the Central Music Hall, which stood on the present site of the new Marshall Field retail building. The little Theatre seated 2500 people, and he was usually favored with a crowded house for each of his entire series of lectures. He continued in the work until 1895, after which he retired with a fortune of nearly $100,000.

About 1892 Mr. Burton Holmes, having accumulated a large number of views of different parts of the world while traveling for his health, decided to take up the stereopticon exhibition work, and began by exhibiting over practically the same circuit as that shown to by Mr. Stoddard. About 1896 motion pictures were introduced for the first time, and Mr. Holmes wisely added this valuable feature to his stereopticon exhibitions. Mr. Holmes enjoys the distinction of having shown his entire series of five sets of views covering five successful weeks at the Auditorium Theatre Building to 3,500 people every evening, nearly every entertainment being repeated from two to three times.

The appreciation shown by the public and the excellent merits of Mr. Holmes' series of entertainments has been amply endorsed by flattering "press comments" from all of the big newspapers of Chicago, New York and the other great cities of the country. Mr. Holmes' "Travelogues" as he calls them, have also become very popular during the past two years in England.

Mr. Elmendorf has been for several years very popular in this line of work in and around New York, but last year he made his first appearance in Chicago and was favored with full houses for his entire series of fine entertainments and the repetitions of the same.

The Outfit For The Traveling Exhibitor should consist of a combination of stereopticon and motion picture views, together with a suitable apparatus for illumination. A good selection of both stereopticon and motion picture views is imperative and should cover some subject in which the public generally will be interested. The outfit should also include advertising posters, admission tickets, and a small printing outfit for filling in dates, name of subject of exhibition, etc. The "Instruction Book and Business Guide" also is a very important item, that is included with every one of our complete outfits.

Owing to the superior merit of motion pictures, some prospective exhibitors get the impression that the exhibition should consist of nothing else. Such a view is a mistaken impression, unless it should be the intention of operating a Nickelodeon or Five Cent Theatre in a tent or store room, giving thirty minute shows at intervals throughout the afternoon and evening, but in this case, it would not come under the heading of "Traveling Exhibitor's Outfit."

The traveling exhibitors who have been most successful in giving exhibitions in theatres, churches, lodge halls, etc., give a full evening's entertainment, covering a period of about an hour and a half, the principal part of which consists of stereopticon views, which are interspersed throughout with a good selection of motion picture views. The only way to show views where the beauty of the scenery, etc. is the important feature, is with the stereopticon, while on the other hand, where there is much action in the scene, the use of the motion picture is almost imperative. The stereopticon views are restful to the eyes, while the motion pictures are somewhat tiring, hence an exhibition covering a period of an hour and a half and consisting of only motion pictures would become tiresome, while a mixed entertainment would be thoroughly enjoyed all the way through. This fact is amply evidenced by the practice of the acknowledged leaders in this line.

Many traveling exhibitors use illustrated songs in combination with stereopticon song views and motion pictures. The songs may be sung by someone connected with the exhibition, by local talent or by a talking machine.

The Illumination best adapted to the requirements of the traveling exhibitor is by all means the calcium light. Electricity is a little stronger than calcium light and may be used to advantage where connections may be had, but the calcium light is more mellow, lacks the dazzling whiteness of electricity, gives a more natural appearance to the pictures, and may be depended upon under all conditions, and the Enterprise Portable Gas Outfit will be found to be the most satisfactory means of supplying the gases. The Sun Rival, Gasoline Vapor, Vapo Search Light and Acetylene are also extensively used by traveling exhibitors, but usually where only stereopticon views are shown.

The Street Advertising Outfit is somewhat similar to that required for the Nickelodeon, but must be provided as a rule with longer range lenses as the views are usually projected across the street. Electric light is preferable for street advertising work, owing to the intensity of the illumination required; but where it is not practicable to get connections, the next choice would be the calcium light. The cost for electric light covering a period of only two or three hours will not, as a rule, exceed twenty-five cents.

The street advertising outfit should consist of a stereopticon, arc lamp, rheostat, wire, etc., a good quality long range objective lens, screen, a selection of advertising lantern slides, a few miscellaneous scenic and comic lantern slides, and a few well chosen motion picture views, while not imperative, will add very much to the value of the exhibition, and will bring better returns from the advertisers.

Advertisers are ready and glad to patronize the best means of getting their business card before the public, and this method is, we believe, as evidenced by experience, not surpassed by any, and good as it is, it has been worked comparatively little.

Arrangements can be made with from twenty to thirty merchants at a time to show their advertisements from four to six times during an evening (either single slides or a series). Advertising slides should be interspersed with a selection from our regular comic list, scenic views, etc., to keep up the interest, and an occasional motion picture view will add much to the value, but is not imperative. While the advertisements of the first set of merchants are being shown, arrangements may be made for another set, and so on.

The name and address of the advertiser may be written or printed on the outside of the slide with a pen and India ink. By so doing the name and address may be erased and the slides used again for some other merchant. We have a large list of designs in Stereopticon advertising slides, suitable for representing almost any kind of business.

For further particulars and estimates on outfits, see "Complete Outfits" listed in the back part of the book.

Choice of an Illuminant.

There are eight different forms of illumination which are to be considered in the selection of an exhibition outfit. We will name them in the order of their intensity, which is as follows: Electric arc, Calcium or lime light, Sun Rival, Vapo Search Light, Acetylene, Incandescent Electric, Welsbach Gas, and Kerosene Oil.

The electric arc is the strongest of any of the illuminants and will develop about 1,500 candle power (candle power is measured by comparison of the illuminant in question with the standard sperm candle). Electric arc light by reason of its great strength is a little better for motion pictures, but is not so good for stereopticon views as calcium light. While most theatres, halls, churches, etc., where public exhibitions could be given are wired for electricity, there are some that are not.

Calcium light is, without question, more generally used by the most progressive exhibitors than any other form of illumination for optical projection work. While for motion picture work there is a little advantage in favor of the electric arc light in that the illumination is stronger, experts in steropticon work prefer calcium light owing to its freedom from the dazzling whiteness of the electric arc light, and its being a softer and more mellow light, which gives a more natural appearance to the pictures. When used at its maximum efficiency Calcium light will produce illumination, the intensity of which is within about 15 per cent of that given by electric light when used under average conditions.

The Sun Rival Gasoline Vapor Light, and the Vapo Search Light, may be considered in one class, being well adapted for stereopticon work, and have been very large sellers owing both to their portability and cheapness of operation. The cost of operating the Sun Rival is about 1 cent per hour, and of the Vapo Search light about 8 cents per hour exclusive of mantles. They produce about 275 candle power, and will illuminate a stereopticon view up to ten or twelve feet in diameter. While we do not recommend the Sun Rival for motion picture work, it is sometimse used for such when showing small pictures of six or seven feet in diameter, and where the exhibitor was not able in the start to provide himself with a stronger illuminant. These illuminants are especially well adapted to the requirements of churches, Sunday Schools, Secret Societies, Day Schools, etc. They are exceedingly simple and easy to handle, and there are no dirty chemicals of any kind to soil the hands and clothing.

Acetylene is a well-known, convenient and economical illuminant. The outfit is light and portable and is very simple in operation. The cost of operating it is about 15 cents per hour, and it produces about 250 candle power, which is only a little less than that produced by the Sun Rival or Vapo Search Light.

Incandescent Electric Light will produce from 50 to 100 candle power, depending upon the type of bulb used, and is especially suitable to the requirements of secret societies, churches, school houses, Sunday schools, etc., and also for home use.

Welsbach Gas Light produces about 100 candle power, which is a little less than the incandescent electric, and it is suitable for the same purposes.

Kerosene Oil light produces about 85 candle power. Many years ago it was used very extensively as an illuminant for stereopticon work, but since the introduction of so many stronger and more convenient forms of illumination, it has been but little used. For a traveling exhibitor, it has the added objection of being difficult to transport without the oil leaking out and saturating everything else that is packed with it.

The Subject to be Illustrated is one of great importance. It is necessary that the exhibitor illustrate something in which the people generally will be interested sufficiently to attend the entertainment after seeing the advertisement.

We Have Departed Radically from a custom established many years ago by dealers in this line, and by many of them still continued, viz., of listing thousands of slides of various subjects, nine-tenths of which would be of little interest to the public. We have confined our attention to only such subjects as will be of greatest interest to the public, and which we know to be of such nature that they will bring success to the exhibitor. There is quite a variety to choose from, and after studying descriptions of each, we would suggest that the prospective exhibitor select a subject which he thinks would harmonize best with his own ideas, and by so doing he can put forth his best efforts. We will be pleased to give further advice on this subject when desired.

Additional information covering details in the selection of the accessories will be found in the introductory headings which precede the different instruments and apparatus.

The Question Has Been Asked,

"Won't the people get tired of Motion Pictures?" The universal answer by those who know the business, is, "The public is learning every day to better appreciate the scope and merit of motion pictures." "It seems, the more they patronize them the better they like them." It would be just as reasonable to believe that the public would tire of theatrical performances, or of reading books. One of the most prominent reasons for the continued success of motion pictures is that for amusement the public demands something new all the time. The motion picture show is probably successful to a greater extent than any other class of public amusement in affording variety.

Another reason for the success of the motion picture is because of the exact interpretation of things true to life. Scenes are reproduced with an accuracy that cannot be approached by any kind of stage setting. They are simply true to nature. Another, and very important reason, for the success is because of the low price at which entertainments of this class can be furnished. The expense of running a show of this kind being exceedingly small, the price of admission may be made correspondingly small and yet pay large profits to the promotor of the enterprise. Motion pictures place the most entertaining kind of amusement within reach of the masses, who have hitherto been unable to enjoy recreation in the way of public entertainment.

Some go so far as to say that the time is near at hand when through the medium of motion picture shows, the important events of the day will be depicted with a reality that cannot be approached by our papers and magazines. Such events as the San Francisco Disaster, the Coronation of King Edward, or the result of the races may be viewed with all the reality of the original within a few days after the event has taken place.

No Competition to Fear. While there is competition in this line the same as in any other, it is widely scattered and there's room for thousands more. The business never has been crowded probably for the reason that the field is so large and that people are slow to start into it. As a rule, these enterprises are started by those who, without previous experience, have had the courage to procure an outfit and plunge in. We may state with positiveness that those who have been the most successful in this line are men who have served no apprenticeship, but who were fortunate in possessing sufficient self-confidence and determination to be willing to undertake without a teacher something which they had not done before.

Our Plan of making up outfits complete with everything required to conduct the business offers a very great advantage to any one that wishes to engage in this line. Only a short time ago when a party wished to engage in this business, he could secure of the dealer nothing but his instruments, lantern slides, films, and in many instances not even a descriptive reading, and he was unable to get anything more than the most meagre instructions for the operating of the instruments. In these matters we have worked a revolution. With great care and diligence we have prepared a complete instruction book and business guide, a book that not only tells how to manage the instruments, but also tells all about how to start the business, how to make arrangements for the use of halls and churches, what would be considered a fair share for the use of the same, and how to get the advertising posters, circulars, etc., distributed and posted, tickets sold in advance, the use of complimentary tickets to secure influence, and services, how to do newspaper advertising, and render much needed assistance to the inexperienced.

One of the Advantages to be gained through purchasing an outfit of us is, every complete outfit includes a quantity of Large Advertising Posters which to duplicate for individual use would alone, in some instances, cost twice the price of the complete exhibition outfit. By producing these posters in quantities, we are able to furnish not only posters sufficient to last for a considerable length of time, but also a quantity of admission tickets and other accessories that are included with the outfit without additional charge.

New Goods and New Catalogue. All of the instruments, apparatus and supplies listed in this catalogue are of the very latest design, a large number of them having made their first appearance on the market with this issue of our catalogue. If the exhibitor is to make the best of his chosen profession, he must be equipped with good instruments and apparatus. While the opportunity for profitable investment in this line is unusual, one who would start in handicapped with instruments of poor quality may be well likened unto the man who, even though a good swimmer, would undertake to swim a river with a stone tied to his neck. We do not handle second hand goods. While we are aware of the fact that occasionally a bargain may be had, in nine cases out of ten, or possibly ninety-nine out of a hundred, the goods have been discarded by their original owner for reasons that are amply sufficient to warrant the rejection of them by the prospective purchaser. It is our aim to treat our patrons as we would like to be treated if we were in their place, to furnish them with the best quality of goods obtainable at the smallest margin of profit. We endavor to fill all orders with promptness and dispatch, and, as a rule, it is only on such slides or films that are made to order that there need be any delay.

The Business is Easy to Learn.

There is nothing mysterious or complicated about the operation of the instruments. On the contrary they are very easy to learn and any one of average intelligence can, with the assistance of our "Instruction Book," easily and quickly learn to operate them with perfect ease. We have done everything possible to simplify and make more practical our line of instruments and apparatus, and have endeavored to leave nothing undone in the line of printed instructions, which describes in plainest language all about how to operate and care for the instruments. These instructions have been supplemented by numerous diagrams and otherwise made so plain that any one of ordinary intelligence will have no difficulty in successfully following them.

Discounts. While it was at one time customary to issue catalogues with prices advanced for the purpose of giving discounts, that practice has been almost entirely dispensed with except with a few houses where for the purpose of getting more for their goods, they offer discounts believing that because the purchaser gets a discount which may not be offered by the other fellow, that he will fail to compare prices and values. The discount is a delusion. The same discount is invariably offered to every applicant for prices, but after the discount is deducted it will be found by comparison that the prices are considerably in advance of ours. It's simply a way of fooling the people.

To us one man's money is as good as anothers. We want no excessive profits. We have listed our goods at prices that will net us the smallest percentage of profit on which we can afford to do business.

Our Special Outfits for traveling exhibitors are offered at a little less than individual articles, first, because we can handle a big order proportionately cheaper than we can handle a small one, and, second, because it is to our interest to get people started and, in view of their future patronage, we can afford to sacrifice a little on the same principle that a wholesale house will spend more money to get a customer started than they could afford to continue to spend on the same customer.

A careful comparison of our catalogue and our prices and values with those of other houses, should convince you that our prices are right, that we are offering you greater values than you can get elsewhere, and that you will get fair and just treatment if your orders are placed with us.

To those who expect to start as well as those already engaged in the business, we earnestly solicit an opportunity to convince you that we can handle your orders in a way that will merit your future patronage. We are always willing and glad to answer questions, and whatever else you may wish to know, do not fail to write us.

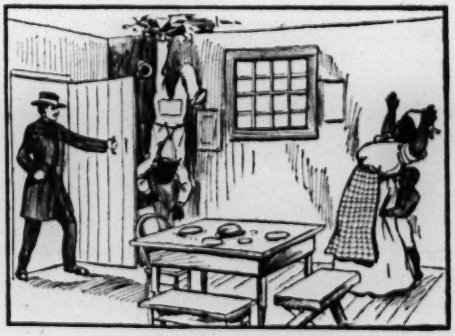
Yours truly,

CHICAGO PROJECTING CO.

CHICAGO PROJECTING CO.,

The Motion Picture Machine.

One of the greatest and most wonderful of recent achievements is that of producing pictures in motion. By the use of motion pictures it is possible to make a complete photographic record of every motion of any object that is before the camera, and with the aid of the motion picture machine and powerful condensed light, these same motions may be reproduced as many times as desired, the pictures being shown in large size and as natural as life. By this means records of events may be viewed by thousands of people, thus giving them a correct idea of the entire performance as it originally occurred.



To illustrate more clearly, we will describe an incident as it would be shown in a theatre, church or hall. The house is darkened and, as the lens of the motion picture machine is uncovered, there seems to open before the audience a huge window. Through this window they see a rollicking comedy of the Sunny South, full of laughter from start to finish. A typical Southern darkey is devouring a section of fried chicken. The play opens with an interior view of a genuine chicken coop, in which over a hundred chickens are seen on their roosts at night. Two chicken thieves creep into the coop and gather in a bagful of the plumpest fowls. When the theft is discovered, the farmer and his son set an immense bear trap outside of the coop, preparatory to another visit by the thieves. Next scene shown is a chicken dinner in a typical darkey cabin, faithful in every detail to Southern mannerism. The chicken thieves go back after another load, and the bear trap gets in its work. The succeeding scenes are tinted to give the effect of moonlight. There is a wild pursuit through the woods and country roads by a posse of farmers, and one of the chicken thieves is brought down by a charge of bird shot. The other with the bear trap still on his leg, arrives at his cabin while a dance is in progress and is concealed in the attic. The farmers burst in and search the place, and are about to leave when there is a terrific crash, and the chicken thief comes down through the ceiling amidst a shower of lath and plaster head first, hanging by one leg fastened in the bear trap which is caught to the rafters.

The picture described above is entitled "The Chicken Thief," which will be found in our regular list of motion picture films.

The optical principle of the motion picture machine is the same as that of the stereopticon, only that the pictures for the motion picture machine appear on a transparent film, and pass before the lenses in rapid succession.

The film is a long transparent celluloid tape 1¾ inches wide, (See introduction to Motion Picture Films) the length varying with the duration of the scene that is being illustrated. On the film is a series of photographs about ¾x1 inch, taken at the rate of from fifteen to twenty per second, and to produce the animated movements, the films are moved past the projecting lenses at the same rate of speed, with a fractional stop between each picture. On a film one hundred feet in length there is a series of about 1,500 separate and distinct photographs, each one slightly different from the other. From the beginning to the end of the film all the movements will be recorded that have been exhibited before the camera at the time the picture was taken. For each subject that is to be illustrated, a separate film is necessary.

For the production of motion pictures, the indisenpsable elements are, a source of illumination, "A" condensing lenses, "B B" for gathering and condensing the light rays, and passing them through the picture on the film "H" to the objective lenses "E F" of the motion picture machine, where it is magnified and projected on the screen "G" where the pictures are displayed. The machine must be provided with a mechanism for intermittently moving the film so that each successive picture in its turn appears before the objective lenses, and an automatic shutter to successsively cut off the illumination while each picture is being moved to place. What is called "persistence of vision" is depended upon for the blending of one picture with each succeeding one. The motion picture machine must also have a means of framing the picture, by which is meant bringing the picture to a position that will accurately register its margin with the edge of the light opening in the machine.

It must also be provided with satisfactory reeling mechanism for unwinding and winding up the film as it passes through the machine. Objective lenses of the highest standard of quality are an indispensable element to high grade motion picture work. Owing to the small size of the picture on the film, which measures only about ¾x1 inch, great magnifying power is required to produce a picture of the required size on the screen, and as the detail of the picture on the film is very small, nothing but a first-class lens will reproduce it accurately. All of this and many other requirements are necessary to the production of a satisfactory motion picture machine.

In the new Model Optigraph No. 4 Model 1907 we have endeavored to provide every possible requirement in the way of adjustments and conveniences that will contribute to the highest grade of motion picture work, and to the comfort and satisfaction of the operator. We invite your most careful investigation of the New Optigraph, as we believe it to be the best motion picture machine to be had, and are pleased to recommend it as the best to all those who are considering this line of work.

The Optigraph No. 3½ Motion Picture Mechanism

The Model No. 3½ Optigraph Motion Picture Mechanism is an improvement for 1906 on the Model No. 3 of which it is safe to say there have been more sold than of all other Motion Picture Machines combined. The improvements for 1906 consist of 1st. A Special Screw Reel Clamp and new type of reel. Its object is to clamp the reel firmly on the reel shaft, and let the belt slip when the reel is taking up the film instead of depending on the reel to slip on the shaft. The new arrangement is much better adapted to the handling of the longer films.

2nd. The Grooves in the reel spindle have been dispensed with.

3rd. Separable Reels in the larger sizes (8 and 10 inch) which enables the operator to get along with one reel instead of having a separate reel for each roll of film.

4th. A Longer Crank Handle, which measures 1⅜ inches from center of main shaft to center of handle while the handle for the Model No. 3 measured only 1⅛ inch and the large ball on the No. 3½ measures ⅞ inches in diameter where the No. 3 measured only ⅝ inch.

5th. The Thumb Nut of the lens focusing pinion has diamond knurling same as on the reel thumb nut and instead of the diagonal knurling as on the No. 3.

6th. The Model No. 3½ is stamped on the lower corner of the front plate "MODEL NO. 3½" 1906.

The Optigraph No. 3½ will run the films backwards as well as forwards. This feature not only adds a very novel and amusing feature to the entertainment, but is an economical feature, as it enables the exhibitor to give a longer show with the same amount of films.

The No. 3½ has the limited framing device the same as the No. 3.

For Steady Pictures the Optigraph always has and still leads. The vital parts are constructed with the greatest accuracy and precision and are so arranged as to give the best possible results.

Absence of Noise is a feature of great advantage in the Optigraph over any other machine. There is absolutely no other machine that approaches the Optigraph in this regard, and it is a feature that is very greatly appreciated by the exhibitor of experience.

For Workmanship and Durability the Optigraph is not approached by any other machine. It is made of the finest materials; and throughout is constructed by the highest class of mechanics, and no pains or expense has been spared to make it as nearly perfect as possible.

Its Light Weight, Simplicity and Portability makes it especially adapted to the requirements of the travelling exhibitor who finds it a great advantage to make his outfit as light and compact as possible.

LENSES.

The Size of Picture that can be projected with the Optigraph is unlimited and depends entirely on the distance which the machine is set from the screen.

No. 1 Lens is called a medium angle or focus and will project a picture 10 feet in diameter when set at about 45 feet from the screen.

No. 2 Lens is called the wide angle or short focus, and will project a picture 10 feet in diameter at about 28 feet from the screen.

No. 3 Lens is called the narrow angle or long focus, and will project a picture 10 feet in diameter at about 60 feet from the screen.

Any other sizes of pictures may be projected with any of the above lenses by varying the distance between the machine and the screen.

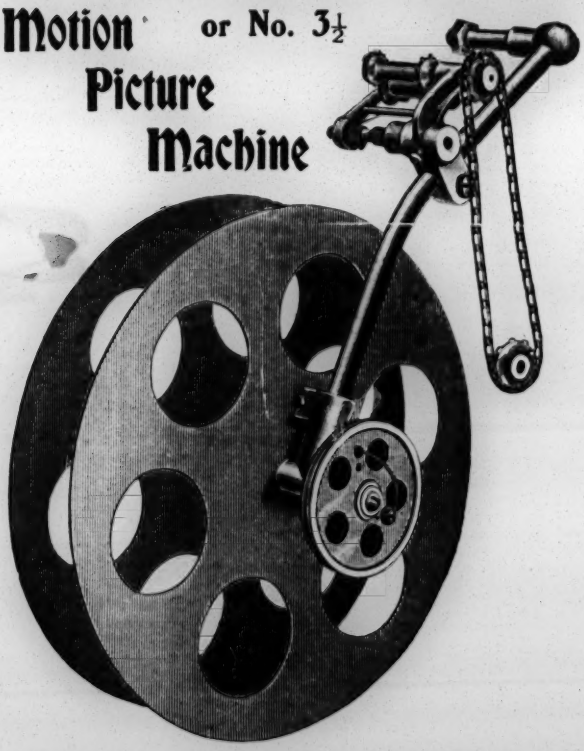
Lower Rewind Attachment

For the "Optigraph" Model No. 3 Motion Picture Machine or No. 3½



This attachment was designed to fill the requirements of those who prefer to have their films wound up as they pass through the machine instead of running them into a bag, box or basket. It is constructed on the same plan as the upper reel, except that it has a feeding sprocket to relieve the strain from the intermittent motion of the main sprocket wheel. It also has a sprocket wheel which is to be attached to the shaft of the upper feeding sprocket wheel, and a chain for connecting the two.

This attachment may be attached to any No. 3 and 3¼ improved Optigraph by simply removing the bolt which clamps the Optigraph to the upright post.

More Optigraphs sold than all other Motion Picture Machines Combined

There are Forty Reasons

.... WHY ....

The New Optigraph No. 4

Is the Motion Picture Machine • • •

• • • • • • • • You are Looking For

No. 1 New Framing Device is a most important feature and one which places the New Optigraph No. 4 a long distance in advance of other machines, in that the shutter does not change position with relation to the "optical axis" of the lens while framing the picture, as in other machines. The film may be placed in the machine without any consideration of the relation of the pictures to the "light opening" or "optical axis of the lens," and when started in motion the picture may be instantly framed with the greatest ease and exactness, and without sacrificing the correct relationship of the shutter to the lens and light opening.

Note:—By "Framing" is meant the act of shifting the film to make the margin of the picture coincide with the margin of the light opening in the machine.

No. 2 The Optigraph No. 4 mechanism is a "Universal" machine, in that it is equally adapted to use with a regular motion picture lamp house, or with a single, double or triple dissolving stereopticon. The Optigraph possesses the distinction of being the first machine designed for such purpose.

No. 3 It has Universal Sprocket Wheels, adapted to use any and all makes of standard gauge film, and so designed and proportioned as to cause the least possible wear on the films, and thus prolongs their life to the maximum, with the result that where the machine is used a great deal it may save its cost from once to twice a year in saving on films. The width of standard gauge motion picture film is one and three-eighths inches.

No. 4 Steady Pictures is the one feature above all others that stands for superiority in a motion picture machine, and in this accomplishment we are proud to be able to say, "the Optigraph No. 4 holds first place." Accurate workmanship, design and some special features of Optigraph construction are responsible for this most important advantage.

No. 5 Reversing the Film, or running it backward can be done safely with no machine other than the Optigraph, because, to run a film backward requires certain features of construction that are not found in other machines. By the judicious use of the backward movement of films, many ludicrous and very laughable effects may be produced, and many short films may be prolonged to more than twice their original length. Imagine horses going backward at full gallop, people running backward, articles or people jumping upward from the ground to the top of a wagon, divers coming from the water feet first, alight on a spring board and run backward and a thousand other ludicrous, unnatural and very humorous happenings. To produce reverse effects with other machines it is necessary to have films made by "reverse printing" which unfits them for any use other than the reverse or backward movement.

No. 6 Absence of Noise is another great advantage in favor of the Optigraph. This important accomplishment is the result of a class of material and special arrangement of parts not to be found in other machines. With the Optigraph it is not necessary to keep a piano, orchestra or other musical instruments going to cover the noise while showing the motion pictures.

No. 7 The Improved Automatic Take Up Attachment has geared connection (no chains), is smooth running and positive in its action; may be quickly attached and detached at will, and has a substantial support bar; detachable head, is well made of the best materials, is light in weight, yet durable and always dependable.

No 8 A Detachable Spring Actuated Ball Crank Handle forms a part of no machine other than the Optigraph No. 4. By its use there is no danger of burning your film by reason of the handle accidentally coming off and allowing the machine to stop. The handle may be instantly detached for safety during transportation.

No. 9 The Framing Handle may be instantly folded to a place of entire safety without the use of screw driver or thumb screws, a feature which is a very great advantage when packing the machine for transportation. This feature is found in no other machine.

No. 10 The Compound Changeable Speed Rewind Reel Head belongs to the Optigraph and to no other machine. By its use films can be quickly rewound and without fatigue. It has two speeds; a fast speed to be used while the roll of film is small, and a slow speed when the roll become large.

No. 11 It Has High Grade Lenses, without which no machine can project good pictures. A high grade lens must have large glasses to prevent loss of light, but large glasses require the greatest care and accuracy of workmanship in order to get a sharp and uniform picture. The lenses of the Optigraph No. 4 gives the maximum of illumination with perfect definition. They were designed and are ground and finished by an expert in optical projection lens work. We claim them to be far superior to other so-called high grade lenses.

No. 12 Choice of Lenses Without Extra Cost is an important advantage to be enjoyed by the purchaser of a No. 4 Optigraph. Other makers furnish only lenses of certain focus with machines at prices quoted. One lens is included with every Optigraph No. 4 and the purchaser may have his choice of either No. 1, 2 or 3.

No. 13 Interchangeable Lens Cells is responsible for a Great Economy in lens purchases. By their use only one lens body is required and that is the best that can be made. Different sizes of pictures may be projected without changing distance between machine and screen by simply changing the cells in the lens. The cells are all marked with numbers to avoid the possibility of mistakes in selection.

No. 14 A Wide Range in size of Pictures may be accomplished by the use of the Optigraph Interchangeable Lens cells, which enables the operator to locate his machine in any part of the hall that is most convenient, and yet project a picture of suitable size. By simply removing one pair of cells from the lens body, and substituting those of another number a picture of a different size may be obtained.

An extension collar is required and is furnished with each complete lens or pair of lens cells (except the 3 inch which requires none) to locate the mounting the proper distance away from the film to bring the lenses into focus. A "Table of Sizes" showing the different sizes of pictures that may be projected with the different lenses at given distances and a complete description of the New Optigraph Motion Picture lenses will be found under the heading, "Motion Picture Lenses."

No. 15 The New Style Spiral Lens Body with triple bead knurled focusing band is absolutely unapproached for ease and accuracy in focusing, convenience, neatness of design and finish. The casing is finished in a rich yellow Egyptian bronze lacquer: the focusing band and lens tube are nickel plated and the cells are finished in black enamel. The different colors are thus combined to bring about the most artistic effect. This new style lens mount is a very marked improvement over the old style "rack and pinion" focus movement, and furthermore it is not liable to injury in transportation. This style of lens can be had only with the Optigraph No. 4.

No. 16 Improved Film Pressure Springs make it possible to apply a uniform pressure to the film, to keep it at all points in perfect focus and perform a function in the production of steady pictures that cannot be done with the ordinary springs in general use.

No. 17 The Separable Reels make it unnecessary to carry a reel for each roll of film. The rolls may be changed almost instantly, on and off a single reel, thus affording an advantage not alone in the way of economy but in making the outfit lighter and more compact for transportation. The reels are made of strong material and are lightened as much as is practicable by large perforations.

No. 18 Improved Reel Clamps which clamp the reels securely on the reel spindle are a means of imparting positive and steady movement to the film reels and at the same time of preventing them from accidentally tearing the film or of slipping off the spindle.

No. 19 Fire Proof Film Magazines that may be quickly attached to or detached from the reel heads, afford a means of protecting the films from accident in case of neglect on the part of the operator. The film passes through a roller trap which will instantly extinguish a flame.

No. 20 Solid Steel Reel Arms and Solid Brass Reel Heads mean no breakage, hence a great improvement over the brittle, cast iron parts used for the same purpose on other machines.

No. 21 The Reel Heads are Separable from the reel arms by simply turning a thumb set screw, which is considered a great convenience for packing.

No. 22 The Cylindrical Shutter is an Optigraph invention, and being entirely enclosed it is free from accidental breakage, a source of much annoyance to operators who use other machines. This shutter is double acting and is the only type of shutter that gives uniform exposure. It is quick in its action because it opens and closes from both top and bottom at the same time, dispenses with the flicker and makes the pictures delightfully smooth and pleasant to the eye.

No 23 Two Pressure Rollers for holding the film against the sprocket wheel, insures good contact of the film with the sprocket teeth, hence a positive feed, and no tearing of film by reason of not enough teeth engaging.

No. 24 Adjustable Tension is provided for the pressure roller frames which enables the operator to use any amount of tension he finds necessary.

No. 25 The Eccentric Stops for the pressure roller frames prevents excessive pressure and wear on both the feeding sprockets and the film, as well as on other parts of the machine. It may be so adjusted that the rollers will barely touch the film, still the frame will be maintained by a strong tension against the eccentric stop.

No. 26 The Spring Door Stop holds the door where it is wanted, either open or shut.

No. 27 The Heat Arrester Disc protects the film, door, springs, etc., from excessive heating while the machine is in operation.

No. 28 Absence of Friction on the picture prevents the disagreeable vertical streaks called rain; also the flashing of light spots, both of which are due to pictures coming in contact with the metal parts or rollers of the machine. In the Optigraph every possibility of that nature has been eliminated. In other machines it has not.

No. 29 The Improved "Vise-Grip" Sliding Base is distinctly an Optigraph product and there is nothing like it that forms a part of any other machine. It holds the machine as firm and solid as if in a vise, and is one of the means of preventing unsteady pictures that are so disagreeable and tiresome to the eyes.

No. 30 Interchangeable Parts affords a great convenience to the operator, for, in case of accidental breakage of any part, a new part may be had from stock to take its place.

No 31 Simplicity is a very strong point in favor of any machine, for the more simple it is the easier it is to operate; the less liable it is to get out of order, and the easier it is to repair in case it does get out of order. On this point the Optigraph always has held first place, and still maintains its well-earned reputation.

No. 32 A Compact Machine is a great convenience to the traveling exhibitor, because every inch and every pound of additional baggage is that much additional burden. The Optigraph is exceedingly compact and instead of having most of the working parts exposed to accident, they are contained on the inside of the machine. The Dimensions of the No. 4 Optigraph are as follows: Heighth from bottom of round base to top of body 8¼ inches; to upper reel arbor, 12¾ inches; to center of light opening 5¼ to 6¼ inches (when on the sliding base about 6 to 7 inches). Length from heat arrester disc to front of lens, 5½ inches. Width, with handle removed, 5¾ inches. Length of crank from center to handle, 3 inches. Width of round base, 3¾ inches. Length and width of Sliding Base 9¾ x 5 inches. Diameter of lens tube, 1⅞ inches. Swing of Sliding Base 5¾ inches. Lamp House: Heighth 11 inches; length, 9 inches; width, 5 inches. Backward and forward swing, 4½ inches.

No. 33 The Weight of the Mechanism No. 4 without take up is but 9 pounds; take up device, 2¼ pounds; Sliding Base, 3¼ pounds. Optigraph with motion picture lamp house, base board and stereopticon lens, 28½ pounds. Arc lamp, rheostat, knife switch and wire, 9 pounds. Some manufacturers have made a desperate effort to convince the buyer that a very heavy machine is necessary for accuracy and durability, but this is not only untrue and absurd, but is positively an imposition, because it is absolutely impossible to make a large, heavy machine do as accurate work as a smaller one. Then, too, owing to the rapid, intermittent motion the wear and tear is greater on the heavy machine. If this is not a fact, why is it that a watchmaker does not use a machinists' engine lathe for making parts of watches? And why have bicycle makers discontinued the 60 pound wheels and are making 20 to 23 pound wheels instead? There is but one foot of film between the reel and the intermittent sprocket wheel; the width of the film is but 1⅜ inches, the thickness about $\frac{1}{100}$ of an inch and the weight per foot is less than $\frac{1}{16}$ of an ounce and that is all that the machine has to propel except to revolve the reels. Ordinary cast iron and other low grade materials that are not so strong and will not wear so well, are used liberally on the heavier machines. The experienced exhibitor wants a machine no heavier than is necessary for accuracy, rigidity and durability and that is the Optigraph No. 4. It is neither the heaviest nor the lightest machine, but is just right.

No. 34 Capacity There is no class of motion picture work that is too difficult for the Optigraph. In many instances, on very difficult work, it has been placed in competition with other machines and has been given the preference, owing to the fact that it was the only one that was equal to the requirements.

No. 35 Economy may be installed in several ways by the purchase of an Optigraph motion picture machine, viz: 1st. The first cost of the machine is from one-half to two-thirds the prices asked for other machines of anywhere near equal quality. 2nd. The saving on films in a single year may amount to two or three times the price of the machine. 3rd. The saving on excessive baggage and cartage may be fully equal to the preceding item. 4th. Probably nothing will be required for repairs, but if any, the vital parts may be had at much less than the prices charged by others for similar parts.

No. 36 The Best Material is none too good for the construction of a machine from which so much is expected, and in the Optigraph none but the best is used. Where others use cast iron, similar parts in the Optigraph are made of steel or brass; where others use the cheapest grade of steel, but little above the quality of iron, the best of tool steel at fifteen times the cost is used in the Optigraph, and we trust the prospective purchaser will take due account of these important matters, before placing his order.

No. 37 Workmanship is only one of the many points that are prominently conspicuous to one who knows, and on this point we invite the most careful comparison with other machines. The Optigraph is made in a shop that is thoroughly equipped, not with the ordinary machine shop machinery, but with the best class of machinery that is designed only for fine work. The many special tools and machines are made and the manufacturing is done, by men who have had a life-long training on the finer class of work.

No 38 Durability is a vital point on which the Optigraph holds first place. If the parts are to retain their delicate adjustments which are absolutely essential to the projection of steady pictures, they must be accurately made and of the best material, which means durability.

No. 39 The Artistic Design and Finish of the Optigraph has always distinguished it from other machines and the new 1907 model, No. 4, has taken a long step in advance of any of the other Optigraph productions. The frame and Sliding Base are finished in black enamel with gold striping and ornaments, while the reel heads, arms, roller frames, gears, balance wheel and other small parts are nickel plated and polished and the reels are white nickeled. The lens mounts are finished in polished nickel, yellow Egyptian lacquer, and black enamel.

No. 40 The Number of Optigraphs Sold has probably been greater than of all other motion picture machines combined, which we believe is the best of evidence that the buyers and users of motion picture machines agree with us as to the Merit of the "40 Reasons" WHY YOU SHOULD BUY THE OPTIGRAPH No. 4 MOTION PICTURE MACHINE in preference to any other.

Remember that the "Basic Principles" that form the foundation of the Optigraph were fully covered many years ago by United States patents, and that many patents covering important Optigraph improvements have been added since that time. Thus it can be seen that the later day inventor is very much handicapped, and must sacrifice vital requirements in his effort to avoid the prior patents which belong to the Optigraph, or, he must lay both himself and the user liable to prosecution for infringement.

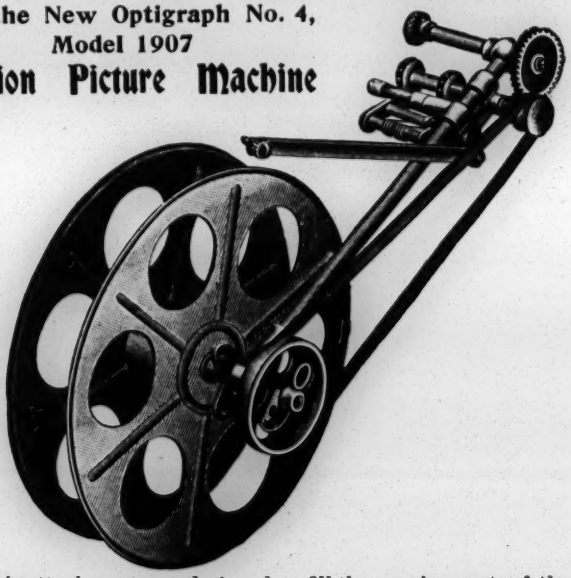
.... No. 4 Take Up Attachment ....

For the New Optigraph No. 4, Model 1907

Motion Picture Machine



This attachment was designed to fill the requirements of those who prefer to have their films rolled up on a reel as they pass through the machine instead of runnning them into a bag, box or other receptacle. It is constructed on the same plan as the upper reel, except that it has the feed sprocket on the reel arm instead of being on the body of the machine.

The No. 4 Take Up Attachment has a geared connection with the main part of the machine and is held in place by a bolt and thumb nut which form a part of the device. The geared connection is positive in its action and will not catch or bind as in chain-driven mechanisms. A metal strap attached by a thumb screw to the upper part of the main frame of the Optigraph serves as a rigid support and relieves the bolt of any unnecessary strain.

The attachment may be instantly attached or detached by the manipulation of two thumb screws.

This attachment is intended for use only with the No. 4 Optigraph and cannot be used with the No. 3¼ Optigraph.

.. PRICE ..

The No. 4 Take Up Attachment, with belt and 8 inch reel....$ 8.00

The reels used on the Take Up are the same as for the body of the machine.

The No. 4 Take Up Attachment, with Compound Rewind Reel Head instead of plain Reel Head..... 11.50

Note: The compound rewind is intended to be used on the upper reel arm, but where the Optigraph has been ordered with plain reel head and it is desired to add both "Take Up" and the "Compound Rewind" they may be ordered in combination, then the two reel heads may be interchanged, placing the Compound Rewind on the top arm.

The Compound Rewind Reel Head

The object of this attachment is to furnish a convenient means of rewinding the films after they have been run through the machine. This attachment is patented and possesses two very great advantages over anything ever devised for a similar purpose. First, it has two speeds, one which gives three revolutions of the reel to one of the handle and is used for winding short films and for the first half of long films of 800 to 1,000 feet or more. The other speed gives one revolution of the reel to one of the handle and is used for the last half of the long films.

The second improvement is, that instead of using a short handle as is customary on other rewinds that form a part of a motion picture machine, the main crank handle from the body of the machine is used which prevents fatigue even where the machine is in constant use as in "continuous show" motion picture work.

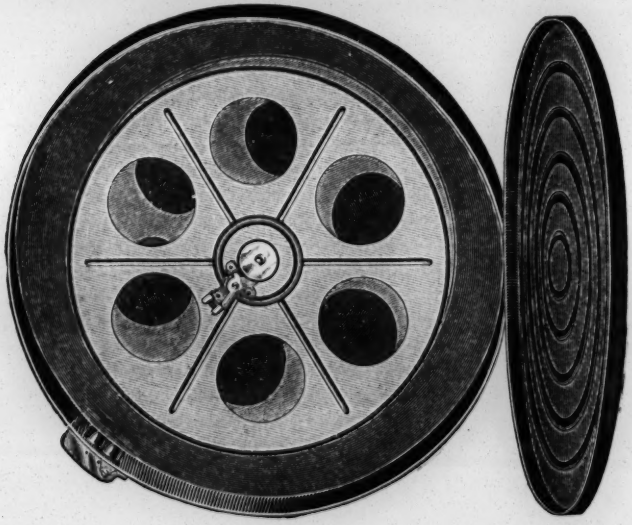
The handle may be quickly attached and detached by pressing a catch bolt.

....PRICE....

Compound Rewind Reel Head, without arm, or handle.....$7.50

Fireproof Magazines.

Another Important Optigraph Improvement for 1907



The object of these magazines is to provide protection to the film while in use in case, through carlessness of the operator. the film should become ignited. The magazines are made of strong sheet metal, are spun to shape, corrugated to give strength, are neat and artistic in both finish and design. Being circular in form, they conform to the shape of the reels, hence there is no waste space, or superfluous weight, and they are much more artistic, also more convenient than if made square.

Each magazine is equipped with a "Trap" consisting of a pair of rollers through which the film passes to and from the machine. As these rollers are held in contact by spring tension, the film cannot burn beyond the point where it passes between them. The cover of the magazine is provided with spring catches to hold it in place.

The magazine is mounted on a metal spider which fits on to the reel head and is held in position by screws. But a few moments are required to attach or detach the magazines from the reel heads. The magazines are interchangeable with both the upper and lower reel heads.

Especially adapted to any class of work where the use of Lantern Views is of secondary consideration. The Lamp House is large and roomy, is supported on sliding ways by a backward and forward adjustment of 4½ inches, and together with the Optigraph and sliding base, is mounted on a separable oak base board. The base may be easily divided for convenience in transportation, but while in use is held together by ingenious screw clamps, which makes it as rigid as a solid board.

CHICAGO PROJECTING CO.,

Motion Picture Objective Lenses.

The Motion Picture Objective serves the same purpose for the motion picture machine as the stereopticon lens does for the stereopticon, and is constructed after the same general plan, but owing to the fact that the enlargement for motion pictures must be many times greater than for stereopticon pictures, the requirements are proportionately more exacting. The picture of a motion picture film measuresa little less than ¾ of an inch by 1 inch, while the picture portion of a lantern slide view is a little less than 2¾ by 3 inches. From this it will be seen that the magnifying power of the motion picture lens must be three times greater to produce the same size picture on the screen, and it naturally follows that in order to secure satisfactory results the lens must be made with the greatest possible degree of accuracy, in order to secure sharp detail, and depth of focus, both of which are absolutely necessary to the production of good pictures.

In our "Roco Special" Motion Picture Lens we have endeavored to leave nothing undone that would contribute to the best results. The lens has been designed by an expert in this line; one who has devoted himself to this line of work ever since the introduction of motion pictures. Every stage of the manufacture is conducted by the most thorough mechanics who have had long experience in this line of work, and from the lens glasses to the mountings every piece and part represents the best in both material and workmanship.

In the planning of this new line of Motion Picture lenses, our action has been the same as on our new line of stereopticon lenses; viz., a radical departure from the old system of measurements, and the adoption of a new system that is suited to the requirements and in keeping with the rapid progress in this line of work. Instead of giving them numbers, or names which means nothing, we have designated each lens by its equivalent focus in inches, which means the distance between the motion picture film and a point between the two sets of lens glasses at which the light rays cross, this point being usually a little in front of the dividing line between the two lens cells. The following table gives the approximate size of picture projected by the different lenses at varying distances from the screen. The upper figures represent the height of the picture on the screen, while the lower figures represent the width. The figures in the left hand column represent the focal length of the Motion Picture lenses, while the figures in the right hand column represent the focal length of the stereopticon lens best adapted to match the motion picture lenses in the respective horizontal columns:

E. F.	20 feet	30 feet	40 feet	50 feet	60 feet	70 feet	80 feet	90 feet	100 feet	110 feet	120 feet	E. F.

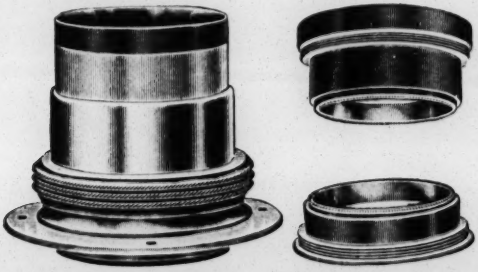
Our Way of matching Motion Pictures with Stereopticon views is shown in the diagram herewith. The solid line represenss the margin of the Motion Picture view, while the dotted line represents the margin of the Stereopticon view. These proportions result in a harmonious and pleasing effect that is entirely absent in any other arrangement. Some dealers and exhibitors match to the sides and disregard the top and bottom. Our table of comparative sizes have been calculated on the proportions shown in the diagram and unless otherwise instructed we will fill orders accordingly.

The focus of both Stereopticon and motion picture lenses vary sometimes over 10 per cent, hence the size of picture will vary accordingly. For more accurate matching, we make an extra charge of $3.00.

A Special Feature of the "Roco Special" motion picture lens, and one of very great convenience and economy, is the interchangeable lens cells, by the use of which it is unnecessary to have anything more than one mount. By purchasing additional pairs of lens cells for the various foci, they may be interchanged in the lens mount to produce the sized picture desired. When using lenses of longer focus it is necessary to extend the lens mount further from the body of the machine, and for this purpose we provide what we call extension collars, each of which is designated by the length of focus of the lens.



For the new 'Roco Special" Motion Picture lens we have designed an entirely new mount in which a knurled ring that encircles the mount, working in spiral grooves, is used for focusing instead of the old-fashioned rack and pinion, which is not only cumbersome and awkward, but constantly exposed to accidents in transportation. The spiral focusing device is in keeping with the progress demanded in this line. It is artistic in design, and provided with the finest adjustment for focusing. The lens barrel and focusing ring are nickle-plated; the lens cells are enameled in black; the lens body is finished in Egyptian bronze lacquer. The combination makes a very pretty and harmonious contrast.

The Adjustable Motion Picture Lens, suitable for any make or style of motion picture machine. The object of this lens is to enable the operator to project any size picture he desires, within certain limits, without changing the distance between the instrument and the screen. The focus is obtained by turning the milled thumb nut, the same as with any other lens, while the size of the picture is increased or decreased by turning the front flange of the objective, as indicated by the hand. It is not necessary to re-focus after changing the size of the picture

The Stereopticon.

The origin of the Stereopticon dates back to the time of the Pyramids, at which time it was called a "magic lantern" on account of the mysterious results produced by it. At that time, however, it was nothing more than a toy. The Stereopticon of to-day is an optical instrument used in connection with a powerful light for the purpose of illuminating transparent photographic views and projecting large images of themton a white surface at a considerable distance from the instrument, making them visible to large audiences. The essential parts are, a pair of condensing lenses, "B B", an objective lens, "E F", frame for supporting same, and a suitable casing to prevent the illumination from escaping except through the lenses.

The two condensing lenses "B B" are usually 4¼ inches in diameter with a flat surface on one side and a convex surface on the other, the convex surfaces being placed towards each other as indicated by "B B" in the above diagram. The Objective lens consists of a suitable cylindrical mounting, containing two lens cells or combinations, "E F", each of which is composed of two glasses of varying refractive power, one called "flint" and the other called "crown." The function of the condensing lenses is to collect and condense the illumination and direct it through the glass slide or stereopticon view, the position of which is indicated by the smaller arrow, into the objective lens, the office of which is to magnify the picture and form an image of it on the screen, the position of which is indicated by "G." In passing through the objective lens the light rays cross at a point "D" which is almost midway between the two combinations "E and "F." The distance between this crossing point and the position of the stereopticon view as indicated by the small arrow, is called the focal length or equivalent focus of the objective lens. On the equivalent focus of the lens depends the distance between the stereopticon and the screen upon which the pictures are to be projected, when a certain size picture is desired. In other words, when it is desired to project a picture ten feet in diameter, if you are using an objective lens of 6 inches equivalent focus, the distance between the stereopticon view and the crossing point of the light rays "D" would be 6 inches, while the distance between the crossing point and the screen "G" would be 20 feet, as shown in Fig. 1. If the construction of the hall in which the exhibition is given is such that it would be more convenient to operate it at a distance of 40 feet from the screen, and it is desired to project a 10 foot picture an objective lens of 12 inches equivalent focus, would be required as shown in Fig. 2 The only reason for having objective lenses of different focal lengths, is for the accommodation of the operator in allowing him to place his instruments at the most convenient point in the exhibition hall. With a lens of any length of focus any size picture can be made by varying the distance between the location of the stereopticon and the screen on which the picture is to be projected. By placing the instrument farther away, a larger picture will be made, and by placing it nearer, a smaller picture. As a rule, however, stereopticon lenses of 10 or 12 inch focus will fill the requirements, and unless otherwise specified, we usually furnish the 10 inch.

Owing to the crossing of the light rays, the position of objects is always reversed, for which reason it is necessary to place the stereopticon view upside down so that it may be projected on the screen right side up.

With weaker forms of illumination, it is best to work close to the screen, using a lens of not over 10 inch focus as the light becomes weaker in transmission over longer distances. For further particulars on lenses, see introductions to stereopticon lenses and condensing lenses.

Dissolving Views constitutes the highest art in the projection of stereopticon or magic lantern views, and is accomplished by the use of two lanterns or stereopticons, the lenses of which are exact duplicates of each other. Usually they are placed one on top of the other, and so located that views projected by both instruments will occupy the exact same spot on the screen. To accomplish this adjustment, called the register, the top instrument is provided with adjustable supports by which either a horizontal or vertical adjustment may be secured. To produce the dissolving effect, a slide is placed in the carrier of each stereopticon and by mechanical means the illumination in one instrument is gradually reduced, while in the other it is gradually developed to full brilliancy, with the result that one of the views gradually fades away, while the other grows to full brilliancy, the change from one to the other producing a most pleasing and mystifying effect. After changing the views in the stereopticon, in which the illumination has been reduced, the dissolver is reversed, with the same results as before, and so continued throughout the entertainment.

When Using Calcium or Acetylene Light, the dissolving is accomplished with what is called a dissolving key, which turns the gas from one stereopticon to the other. When using electricity, the Sun Rival Vapor, the Vapo Search Light, or similar lights the dissolving is accomplished by a cut-off used on the front of the objective lenses, called a mechanical dissolver. This will be found illustrated on another page. In using the mechanical dissolver, both illuminants are allowed to remain full on, while the dissolving is accomplished by covering one lens at a time with the dissolver, and gradually shifting the dissolver to the other lens. The dissolving effects in stereopticon work is without exception used by the best known operators and lecturers, who have made fortunes in this line of work. Perfect dissolving view work is however accomplished only by the use of calcium light as an illuminant.

A triple stereopticon and tinter slides are used by some for the purpose of accomplishing certain fancy results in the way of changing day scenes to evening or night, and for the showing of certain movable effects. The showing of evening, moonlight or night effects is usually accomplished by having the picture slides made in various tints, and using them in the double stereopticon.

The Value of a Stereopticon depends upon the quality of its lenses and upon its arrangement for convenience in accomplishing the various adjustments with ease and speed, and retaining them after they are secured. Our stereopticons are built with a view of affording every modern convenience and of securing every adjustment desired with the greatest possible speed and ease, and of contributing in every possible way to the comfort and convenience of the operator.

The Peerless Stereopticon

THE BEST, MOST CONVENIENT and EFFICIENT MAGIC LANTERN MADE FOR THE MONEY

This instrument has been designed to meet the demand for a low-priced, portable, light and convenient Magic Lantern for illustrating songs and for Church, School, Lodge, Scientific, Home and other work, where the purchaser feels that the purpose will not justify the purchase of a higher priced instrument.

The Peerless Stereopticon Is strong and well made, has fine quality Condensing and Projection Lenses, rack and pinion for focusing, uses either short, medium, or long focus lenses, has nickel-plated slide rods and tubes, and black bellows, and while it is not so well finished as our Enterprise Lantern, it is well-proportioned, artistic in appearance, does good work, and is much better value than can be had elsewhere for the same or more money.

THE LAMP HOUSE Is made of planished steel, and is of good size, which permits the use of either the Sun Rival, Acetylene Gas, Calcium or Electric Light. This universal feature is very desirable, as no change is necessary other than a burner if a change of light is desired.

THE PEERLESS STEREOPTICON is so arranged that two or more of them may be used in series, one on top of the other, for dissolving work, and as they are all of the same construction, any one of them may be used for either top or bottom.

When two or more Peerless Stereopticons are ordered at the same time the attachments for connecting them are included without cost, but when ordered one at a time the connections are not included, and cost extra.

A DOUBLE SLIDE CARRIER, Made of polished hard wood, and so arranged as to enable the operator to instantly change and center the views, will be included with each lantern without charge

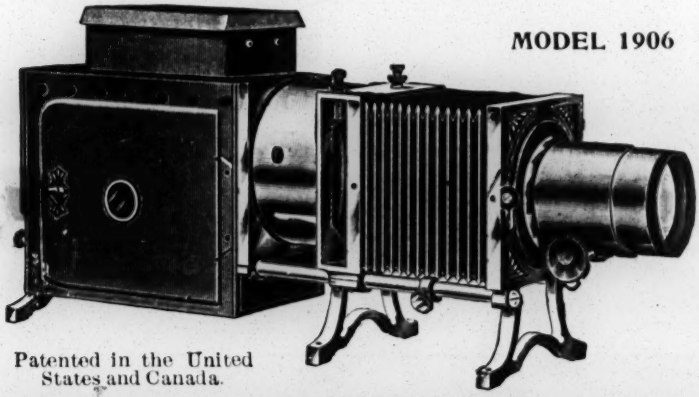
Is Used in our Special Exhibition Outfits and is the ACKNOWLEDGED LEADER IN OPTICAL LANTERNS.

MODEL 1906

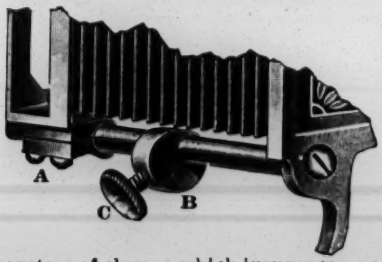


Patented in the United States and Canada.

The above view shows the Objective Lens Door closed and in position to show Stereopticon Views.

THE "ENTERPRISE" has all the adjustments required for high class stereopticon work, is equipped with the latest improvements, possesses many important advantages over others, is the most artistic in design, the best finished and absolutely the best Stereopticon on the market, a fact that is amply evidenced by the sales, which we believe are greater than of all other stereopticons combined, and it is sold for less money than other instruments of far less value.

Foremost Among the Advantages to be found in this instrument and in no other, is the "Patented Objective Lens Door," which especially adapts the "Enterprise" lantern to use in combination with a Motion Picture Machine, and is of great additional advantage in that it affords a quick means of attaching or detaching the lens, and for examination of or cleaning the lenses.



The New Vise Grip Clamps for the telescope tubes and rods are infallible in firmly securing the fixed and movable parts and constitute a valuable and important improvement for 1906. Operators who have experienced the perplexing difficulty of having the fixed parts slip out of place, or the adjustments stick fast when attempting to set up their instruments will appreciate the merit of our new system of clamps which insures the perfect working and adjustment of all the parts.

Both of these valuable features are illustrated in the cut on the preceding page which shows a partial view of the side of the Stereopticon. The clamp "A" shown in the rear of the cut shows the method of securing the main frame in place on the telescope tubes. The casting is slitted with a saw and drawn together round the tube by two screws which hold it as firmly as if in a vise and yet it does not in any way cramp or interfere with the easy and perfect working of the rods in the tubes which is the case with lanterns so constructed that the clamping screws press directly against the tubes.

The New Pin Button lens door latch illustrated herewith marks another important 1906 improvement. The new latch is attached to the frame of the Stereopticon instead of to the door as in the last years model and is the means of furnishing a perfectly rigid and always dependable means of holding the door in a closed position.

When Motion Pictures are to be combined with Stereopticon views, the "Enterprise" will be found invaluable owing to its special adaptation to this class of work. The "Sliding Attachment" or "Sliding Base" for the Motion Picture Machine may be attached at any time by means of screws. By the addition of the Motion Picture Machine in this manner, the change from stereopticon views to motion pictures and vice versa may be made almost instantly.

The Universal Lamp House affords a great advantage to the traveling exhibitor in that it is large and roomy, and any form of illumination may be used by simply changing the burner. It is made of the best grade of planished steel and is well ventilated.

Dissolving Views, which constitute the highest art in Stereopticon Projection work, may be produced with the most perfect results by adding at any time the upper "Enterprise" Stereopticon as listed and further described on the following page.

Objective Lenses of any kind may be used on the "Enterprise" Stereopticon and the bellows are of sufficiently long draw to accomodate them. Unless otherwise instructed we will furnish lens door with opening to accommodate the largest size lens ordered, in which case adapting or reducing rings as listed on another page will be required for the use of lenses of smaller barrel.

The Eccentric Collar at "B" is attached to the front end of the telescopic tubes and with the thumb screw "C" affords a rigid and dependable means of clamping the telescopic rods in the tubes to maintain the proper bellows extension.

The Condensing Lenses are of the best quality, are 4½ inches in diameter and are mounted in nickel plated telescopic mounts of such construction as insures the maximum of utility and convenience.

Adjustments and Finish. The rough adjustment for focus is accomplished by the extension of the flexible bellows and the telescopic rods sliding within the frame tubes. The slide changer is held in place by two springs and two top adjusting screws which are secured in adjustment by check nuts. All parts are made interchangeable and duplicates may be had at any time. All metal parts except the lamp house are polished and nickel plated and the combination with the dark red bellows and the dark lamp house makes a pretty and harmonious contrast.

Finds it a Very Profitable Business.

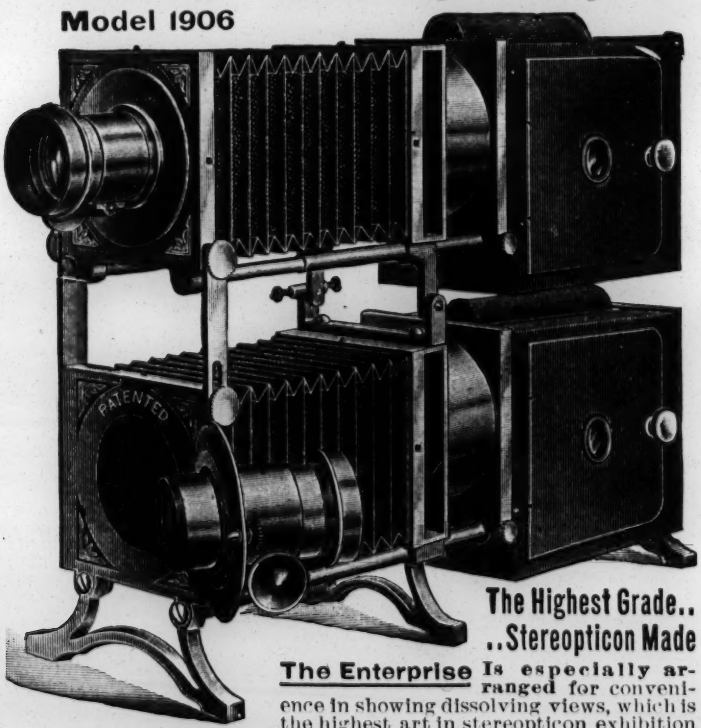
CHICAGO PROJECTING CO., Chicago, Ill.

GENTLEMEN—Have been using your combination moving picture and calcium gas machine for the past year and must say that I am meeting with grand success. By adding to my outfit now and then I am now in a position to give a high class entertainment and find the secret of my success in using my advertising matter liberally. I know of no business where the profits are so large and the returns so quick, as this. Yours for success, W. W. B.

THE ENTERPRISE... ....DOUBLE Dissolving Stereopticon

Model 1906



The Highest Grade.. ..Stereopticon Made

The Enterprise Is especially arranged for convenience in showing dissolving views, which is the highest art in stereopticon exhibition work. For the benefit of those who are not familiar with stereopticon work we will explain that dissolving effects are produced by having two different views, one in each stereopticon, and gradually turn the illumination from one stereopticon to the other, so that while one view gradually fades away, the other grows brighter, until the one picture is not visible on the screen, and the other has developed to full brilliancy. In this manner the screen on which the pictures are shown is never blank, but shows a picture throughout the entire exhibition. For Carrying Cases, see the Index.

The Enterprise Double Stereopticon is composed of two single stereopticons, the same as described on the preceding page, except that the upper one is made somewhat different so as to be attached to the lower one and is not provided with a swinging objective lens door. The lower stereopticon is adapted for the attachment of the Optigraph Motion Picture Machine which may be added at any time.

Objective Lenses for the Stereopticon.

The Stereopticon Objective is composed of a series of glasses of proper refractive power and curvature, set in a brass tube mounting, and is located on the front of the Lantern or Stereopticon, for the purpose of projecting the picture to the screen by means of the light rays, which have been gathered and concentrated by the condensing lenses.

In principle the Stereopticon Objective is the same as the photographic lens, and the work it does is the same, only that in projection work, the conditions are reversed, the image originating in the stereopticon, and being projected out of it to the screen. The name Objective, is derived from "Object Glass," a name applied to photographic lenses many years ago.

In a good stereopticon objective there are several indispensable requirements, namely, sharply defined detail in the pictures, called definition, and depth of focus, the result of which is sometimes called flatness of field. The definition depends,

First, on the correctness of the scientific formula (or plan) of the lenses, that is the relationship of the curves of the several elements of glass one to the other.

Second, The selection of glasses of the proper refractive power.

Third, on the degree of perfection to which the workmen have followed the formula. Fourth, on the perfection of the polishing, and fifth, on the care used in mounting them.

By depth of focus, is meant the arrangement necessary to overcome the tendency on the part of a lens to focus sharply at a given point, which does not allow sufficient latitude to overcome the spherical plane of focus. A lense which has insufficient depth of focus, will project a picture which may possess sharp detail in the middle, while around the edges it will be indistinct, or vice versa, depending upon the adjustment. A lens with sufficient depth of focus, will project a picture possessing equally good detail both at the edges and the center. To have sufficient depth of focus, a lens must be made after the proper formula, and be well finished.

Stereopticon Objective lenses have always been styled as ¼, ⅜, ½ and 4-4 sizes, and so listed in the catalogues, a practice which has been handed down from an old English application to the focus of photographic lenses, as related to the size of plate they were intended to cover. This application has, however, been very unsatisfactory, owing first, to the fact that they are terms which mean nothing definite as applied to Stereopticon work, and second, to the fact that the various dealers have adopted standards of their own, each of which, even though styled the same, is slightly different from the other, and most of which lack uniformity, even though of the same make.

As a remedy for this unsatisfactory condition, and for the convenience of those who are experienced, as well as those who are inexperienced, we have taken a radical departure from the old methods, and have arranged a series of lenses of uniform length of focus, designated in inches and known as equivalent focus. By equivalent focus is meant, the distance between the point within the lenses at which the light rays cross, and the point at which the stereopticon slide would be located when the lens is in focus. (The point at which the light rays cross is usually a little in front of a dividing line between the front and rear glasses).

We have also arranged for a regular ratio of increase in the length of focus from the short to the long. This feature is of inestimable advantage in matching the relative size of pictures for the Stereopticon and Motion Picture Machine, in which combination they are more generally used in public amusement work.

The object of having lenses of different length of focus, is to enable the operator to locate his instrument at the most convenient part of the hall, and yet project a picture, the size of which is best adapted to his requirements. For example, a 6-inch focus lens will project a 10 foot picture when located at a distance of 20 feet from the screen on which the pictures are to be projected, and a proportionately larger picture at a greater distance from the screen, while a 12 inch focus lens will project a 5-foot picture at 20 feet from the screen or a 10 foot picture at 40 feet from the screen. The size of picture in any case depends upon the relative distance from the instrument to the screen. (See diagrams under stereopticons introduction.)

Usually the diameter of the glasses, and both the diameter and length of the mountings increase in proportion to the length of the focus, the 6-inch focus lenses (called ¼ size) being furnished in mounts of 1⅛ inches in diameter by 3⅜ inches long (without hood); the 10 inch focus (called ⅓ size) in mountings 2¾ inches in diameter by 5¼ inches in length: the 12 inch focus (called ⅖ size) in mountings 3 inches in diameter by 5¼ inches long) and the 15 inch focus lens (called 4-4 size) in mounts 3⅜ inches in diameter by 7⅛ inches in length. While this ratio is theoretically correct there has been a growing tendency the past few years to modify the diameter of the glass together with the diameter and length of the mounts for greater convenience in interchangeability, portability, economy, and because of the fact that the old practice, while correct from a photographic standpoint, has been found to be more theoretical than practical when applied to projection work. For example, many exhibitors use nothing but the smaller mount 1⅛ inches in diameter (¼ size), for all foci ranging from 4 inches to 12 inches inclusive. While we furnish them in that way, we are inclined to advise against the use of the smaller mounts for anything beyond the 8 or 10 inch focus. While it is our custom to furnish whatever the individual exhibitor prefers, we recommend the use of the 4, 6 and 8 inch focus lenses in ¼ size mounts, and everything above that may be used with entirely satisfactory results and much greater convenience in the ⅓ size glasses and mounts. The results are not so satisfactory when using lenses above 8 inch focus in the small glasses and mountings, owing to loss of light, which is caused both through crowding, and transmission through greater space. This will be especially noticeable when using the weaker forms of illumination. We have made a special endeavor to eradicate all of the unnecessary complications, and to make the selection of lenses as simple and as easy to understand as possible, instead of following the usual practice and custom of enveloping and shrouding the business in mystery, as some do in the belief that there are mercenary advantages to be gained thereby.

The following table shows approximate sizes of pictures projected by each size of Stereopticon Lens at different distances from the screen, and will serve as a guide in the selection of lenses to meet any requirements. The figures in the first column indicate length of focus of Stereopticon Lenses in inches, while the figures in the last column indicate the focus of Motion Picture lenses to match.

The "Roc Special Sr." Stereopticon Objectives, in half size mounts. This series of lenses has been designed with a view to meeting any and all requirements. The formulæ have been designed by experts of long experience in the designing of Optical Projection Lenses. Both the glasses and the mounts are made by the most skilled workmen and no expense has been spared to make them everything that could be wished for. They are furnished in all lengths of foci from 10 to 21 inches inclusive, and are similar to the "Roco Special Jr." with the exception that they are finished in the best possible manner. The mountings measure 2¾ inches in diameter by 5¼ inches in length, have nickel plated barrels, black enameled lens cells and fine rack and pinion movement for focusing, concaved thumb nut, and the bodies are finished in Egyptian bronze lacquer. They are up-to-date in that the old-fashioned type of shade has been omitted. This series of lenses gives greater illuminiation, will be found equal to all requirements, and afford a great convenience in the matter of interchangeability and portability, features which will be specially appreciated by the traveling exhibitor. We take great pleasure in recommending this series of lenses as being first-class in every respect and every one of them is guaranteed to give entire satisfaction.

Condensing Lenses form an indispensable feature of every Stereopticon and Motion Picture Machine. They serve to gather and cencentrate the rays of light for passage through the objective lens. Modern instruments made by the best makers use the standard size condensing lenses which is 4⅛ inches in diameter. We carry in stock the following foci: 5½ 6½ and 7½ inch. To obtain the best results the focus of the condensers should be suited to the objective lens. We advise the use of the following combinations in the same mount depending on the focus of the objective.

Two 5½ inch focus; one 5 and one 6½ inch focus: two 6½ inch focus; one 6½ and one 7½ inch focus; two 7½ inch focus.

In ordering condensers separately, the focus of the objective lens with which they are to be used should be specified, otherwise we will ship 6½ inch focus. We list two different grades, the difference being in the finish and annealing.

.....DESCRIPTION OF THE.....

Victor Acetylene Gas Apparatus

WHAT ACETYLENE IS.—Acetylene Gas is made from Calcic Carbide, a dark crystalline, semi-metallic substance, which is made from pure unslacked lime and high-grade coke, fused together by being submitted to the intense heat of an electric furnace.

The carbide is made to give off Acetylene Gas by simply immersing the material in water, and each pound of carbide will yield about five cubic feet of gas.

POWER OF ACETYLENE.—Acetylene burns with a small, pure white flame, and Photometric tests show that a given area of Acetylene flame has about twelve and one-half times the brilliancy of ordinary gas, and five times the strength of the ordinary incandescent electric lamp, and will illuminate a view, giving good detail up to 12 feet in diameter, and will give a fair picture up to 16 feet.

SAFETY.—Acetylene is as safe to use as ordinary city gas, and is not dangerous except when stored in tanks under high pressure.

SIMPLICITY.—Acetylene is the most simple form of illumination for Stereopticon work, and the Outfit is so easy to operate that a child can handle it successfully and with perfect safety.

Will give fair results on Motion Pictures up to 6 and 8 feet in diam'ter

A 4-JET BURNER will be furnished instead of the 3 Jet Burner WHEN DESIRED without extra charge.

OUR BURNER.—We have arranged a special new form of three jet burner, which has been found to give the best possible results for Stereopticon Projection work. It gives approximately 250 available candle power with complete combustion, is noiseless, and without odor or smoke.

Our New Improved Three-Jet Burner is a great improvement over the old style four-jet burner, owing to the improved form and efficiency of the tips, and their arrangement in steps, which gives a much stronger, and perfectly even illumination.

A special advantage of Acetylene is that it produces less heat than ordinary gas, for which reason the lamp house is not heated to excess and the condensing lenses are better preserved. We furnish four-jet burners when desired without extra charge.

Other advantages. Our outfit is small and compact, makes cooler gas, consequently purer and dryer, burns steady, without noise, has the best form of burner, and is in every way far superior to other apparatus now on the market

GUARANTEE.—We guarantee our Acetylene Outfit to be made of the best material, after the latest approved plans, and to give entire satisfaction and better results than any other Acetylene Apparatus.

FOR CHURCH AND SCHOOL WORK Acetylene is the most convenient and simple method of illuminating Stereopticon Views, and fills a much felt want.

Here's What You Want!

Just What Every Stereopticon and Motion Picture Exhibitor Has

LONGED AND WISHED FOR

SEEMS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE,

BUT IT'S A FACT

That THE ILLUSTATOR'S IDEAL Has Been Produced.

The "Model B" Enterprise

Calcium Light Outfit

THE LATEST VICTORY OF SCIENCE

Makes Its Own Gas, but Requires No Forced Pressure, No Hot Retort, No Furnace, No Hot Water, No Heat of Any Kind. No Gases in Wrong Place. Causes No Disappointments, No Failures, No Delays, No Accidents. No Freight, Express, Cartage, or Excess Baggage Bills. No Disappointments Owing to Delays in Transit, or Illuminating Apparatus Going Astray as when Using Cylinders or Old Style Outfits.

A CHILD CAN USE IT WITH PERFECT SAFETY, AND ITS WEIGHT IS BUT 35 POUNDS (Including the Case)

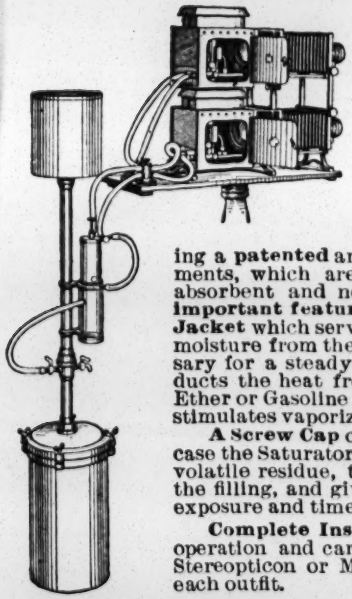
It Makes PURE Oxygen Gas (Others only 85 Per Cent). It is Positive. It is Automatic. It Makes Gas as Used. You may Charge it Five Minutes or Twenty Four Hours in Advance. Stop Using Gas, it Stops Making. No Waste of Chemicals, as it May be Charged for any Length of Entertainment Desired.

Gives Over 700 Candle Power. Light as strong as from Compressed Gases in Cylinders, and Stronger than Produced by Other Portable Gas Making Outfits.

Calcium Light is produced by burning in combination, the proper proportion of Oxygen and Hydrogen gases, both of which are generated in the Enterprise outfit. The Oxygen Gas is generated from either one of the New Oxygen Chemical Compounds, called "Oxylithe" and "Oxone" which are made by recently patented processes, and are put up in sealed tin boxes, weighing about 2¾ pounds. These chemicals generate Oxygen Gas when brought into contact with water with which the tanks are partly filled. The Hydrogen Gas is produced by the vaporizing of Sulphuric Ether, or 88 grade refined Gasoline. Calcium Light, (sometimes called Oxy-Hydrogen) is the only all-around satisfactory light for high-class Stereopticon and Motion Picture exhibitions, and no traveling exhibitor who desires to give a first-class show to large audiences, at good prices, can afford to be without it.

All who have examined the Enterprise agree that it is the only satisfactory outfit for producing Calcium Light, and that its use adds much to both the pleasure and the profit.

.....DIRECTIONS.....



Remove the cover from the Oxygen Tank, put a number of cakes of the Oxygen Compound in the holder, replace the cover, attach the stand pipe and upper tank, pour in water, charge the Saturator with a quantity of Ether or 88° grade Gasoline, connect the rubber tubes to the Calcium Jet (burner) and all is ready.

THE SATURATOR for generating hydrogen gas is of a new and improved design having a patented arrangement of saturating compartments, which are filled with a specially prepared absorbent and non-deterioating material. A very important feature of this Saturator is a Condensing Jacket which serves a double purpose. It takes the moisture from the Oxygen Gas—dry gas being necessary for a steady light—and at the same time conducts the heat from the warm Oxygen Gas to the Ether or Gasoline contained in the Saturator, which stimulates vaporization.

A Screw Cap on the bottom makes it possible, in case the Saturator should become clogged with non-volatile residue, to very quickly and easily change the filling, and give the one that was in use ample exposure and time to dry.

Complete Instructions, that tell all about the operation and care of the outfit, attaching it to the Stereopticon or Magic Lantern, etc., accompanies each outfit.

Dissolving Views, which represent the highest attainment in the art of Stereopticon Projection, as further referred to on another page under the title of Single and Double Enterprise Stereopticons, may be shown with the most perfect results with the Model B Calcium Gas Outfit in combination with a Double Stereopticon, and the regular Low Pressure Dissolving Key as shown in the illustration herewith. When ordering for dissolving work two extra pieces of tubing should be ordered with the dissolving key, to make the additional connections required.

THE TANKS of the Model B Outfit are each drawn from a single piece of the very best sheet steel and are without seams, rivets or solder, which are frequently the causes of leakage. Both tanks are coated, inside and out, with porcelain, which renders them positively proof against the action of chemicals, easy to keep clean, free from rust or corrosion, and practically indestructible.

The entire outfit is constructed on scientific principles, is made of the very best materials, and by the most skilled workmen. The top of the oxygen tank is ornamented by a neat design of relief scroll work. The fittings including the Saturator, Stand Pipe, Oxygen Tank Top, Band, Clamp Screws, Cocks, etc., ARE HEAVILY NICKEL PLATED, and the whole presents an unusually Rich and Artistic Appearance.

The Oxygen Tank is 6x15 inches, and the height of outfit complete, set up for use, is 45 inches. The dimensions of the carrying case is 10x10x24 inches, and the weight of the complete outfit in case is about 85 pounds.

The Model B Calcium Gas Outfit possesses the very great advantage of being always at hand, and that the exhibitor can always depend on having a supply of pure gases on a few minutes' notice which cannot be said of the compressed gases in steel tanks, owing to the unreliability of the railroads and other transportation companies who often fail to get goods to destination on time, or through mistake ship them to the wrong place, to say nothing of occasional disappointments from breakage or mistake in estimating quantity on hand. While an Electric Arc Lamp is a good thing to have, electric connections cannot always be had, because very often the hall or church in which the exhibition is to be given may not have been wired for electricity.

If you wish to know more about this outfit, or there's anything you don't understand, write us for further particulars, specify what you wish to know, and we'll be pleased to give the information desired.

WE POSITIVELY GUARANTEE every outfit to be exactly as represented, and should any outfit be found otherwise we will cheerfully refund the money.

WE CANNOT SAY ENOUGH

For the merits of this Outfit, as all who have used it say that it will revolutionize the business, and is everything that could be wished for.

"Oxylithe" Oxygen Compound, per box 1.35

"Oxone" Oxygen Compound per box 1.35

Sulphuric Ether, of best quality for Calcium Light, in sealed cans, per pound. 1.00

One box of oxygen compound and about ½ of a pound of Ether or Gasoline is sufficient for an entertainment of over one and one-half hours, with a jet of medium bore.

IMPORTANT—Our Improved Perfect Combustion "Non-Pop" Calcium Jets will be found a great advantage and should be used with this outfit.

Ether is a little more expensive, but we recommend its use in preference to the gasoline, as the additional expense is a very small consideration. It gives better results, may be carried in small quantity, and it can be had of almost any druggist, while gasoline of the 88 refined grade can be had only from the large cities, and must be shipped by freight. STOVE GASOLINE MUST NOT BE USED. See 88 test gasoline listed on another page.

Oxone — TWO VICTORIES OF SCIENCE — Oxylithe

That are of inestimable value and furnish a much needed and long sought convenience to The Optical Projectionist.

By Simply Bringing Either one of these new chemicals into contact with water in the same manner as when producing acetylene gas from calcic carbide, they will generate almost which, when burned against the surface of a piece of lime in combination with the vapor of Ether or Gasoline will produce the most brilliant form of

. . PURE OXYGEN GAS . .

Calcium or Lime Light

CALCIUM LIGHT has always been the favorite and main dependence of the optical projectionist even in the bygone days when it has been necessary to procure the gases ready made in high pressure steel tanks, or to make it with the old-fashioned, portable outfit in which chemicals, consisting of black oxide of manganese and potash, were converted to gas by placing the heavy iron retort into a stove or furnace and heating it red hot.

But How Different Now!

All that is required is to place Oxylithe or Oxone in the basket of the Enterprise Model B Calcium Gas Outfit, pour in water, put a few ounces of ether or 88° test gasoline into the saturator and

YOUR GASES ARE READY

OXYLITHE AND OXONE are both made from practically the same combination of chemicals, but Oxylithe is made in France and the chemicals are compressed into cakes, while Oxone is made in the United States and the chemicals are fused into cakes by the electrolytic process.

The Oxone cakes differ from the Oxylithe in that they are much harder, a little lighter and do not break or crumble in shipment. The Oxylithe cakes are completely consumed in the making of the gas while the Oxone leaves some residue. Both chemicals are put up in sealed tin boxes, the Oxylithe weighing about 2¾ pounds and the Oxone about 2¼ pounds per box. Either chemical will produce approximately six cubic feet of 99 per cent Pure Oxygen Gas which is equal in illuminating power to between seven and eight feet of tank or chlorate gas owing to the 15 per cent of impurities in the latter which are non-combustible, and reduce the intensity of the illumination in greater proportion.

One Box of either Oxylithe or Oxone will produce gas enough for an exhibition of over one and one-half hours when using a jet of medium bore.

NOTHING IS GAINED as some suppose by high pressure on the gases. While the maximum pressure of gases stored in steel tanks is 250 pounds, it is well known that the gas may be used to the last pound with equal results, as the pressure actually required at the tip of the jet does not exceed one pound. The Enterprise Model B Calcium Gas Outfit gives a uniform pressure of about 6 pounds to the square inch.

As to the Relative Merits of Oxylithe and Oxone, We Recommend Both

You Try Both and be Your Own Judge

Oxylithe, per box. $1.35
Oxone, per box 1.35

We recommend our New Improved Perfect Combustion Non-Pop Calcium Jet for the best results with the Calcium Light.

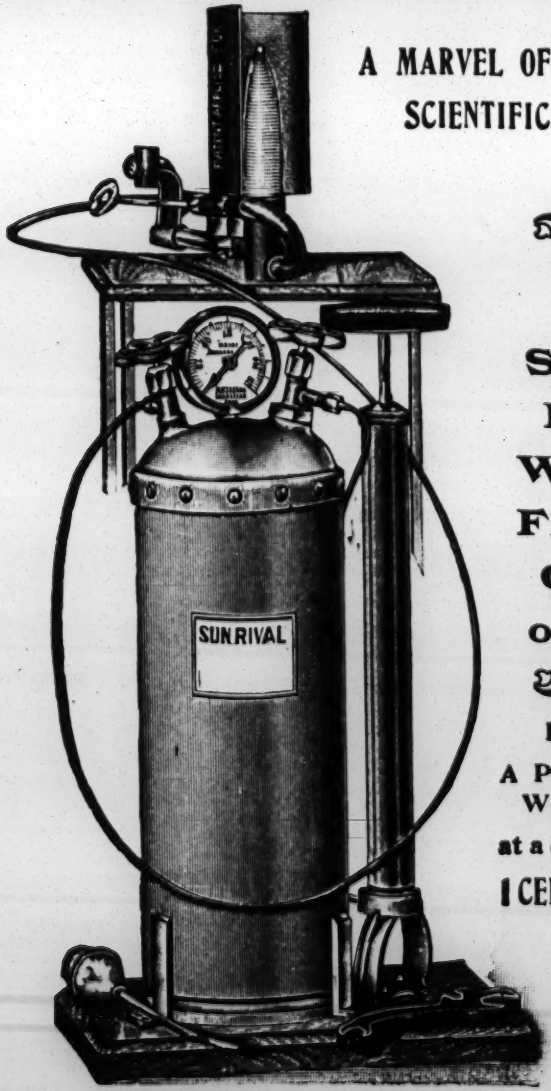
THE "ECLIPSE"

Sun Rival Hydro-Carbon Vapor Gas Outfit.



Patent applied for.

A MARVEL OF SCIENTIFIC INGENUITY.

A Steady Light Without Flicker, Odor, or Dirt.

Produces A POWERFUL WHITE LIGHT at a cost of about 1 CENT PER HOUR

See Description and Price on Following Pages.

Hydro Carbon Vapor Gas Outfit

The Sun Rival, Hydro Carbon Vapor Gas Outfit consists of a strong steel tank for containing gasoline and air, a gauge for indicating the air pressure, a powerful foot pump for supplying the air to the tank, a generator for converting the gasoline into vapor gas, a burner adapted to receive a mantle, a specially-prepared mantle and a long flexible metal tube for connecting the burner with the tank. For operation the tank is supplied with about two quarts of ordinary stove gasoline and the balance of the space is reserved for air pressure which should be pumped up to about 40 pounds pressure. With the filler bulb about a spoonful of gasoline is placed in the generator cup and lighted to start the generator. When the generator is sufficiently heated the burner is lighted by opening the generator needle valve. One pumping of air is usually sufficient for an entire exhibition.

The Generator of the Sun Rival Outfit is of special construction, the result of much investigation and experimental work and has been so perfected that it insures perfect vaporization of the gasoline, which in the form of vapor gas passes through the mixing chamber where it combines with the necessary quantity of air to insure perfect combination when burned on the mantle.

The Mantles are specially prepared for this class of work, being charged with several times the usual amount of the "Oxide of Thorium" which together with the forced pressure gives an illumination about three times the power of the ordinary incandescent Welsbach gas light, a little stronger than acetylene and about one-third the strength of Calcium light.

Ordinary mantles that may be purchased in almost any town, will serve the purpose in case of an emergency, but will not be found satisfactory for regular work as they will not give any where near so much illumination as the special-prepared mantles. The mantles may be transported with perfect safety before being burned, and will last for some time if carefully used, but after having been once used they are fragile.

The Sun Rival Outfit furnishes a steady and brilliant white light of about 300 candle power at a cost of about one cent per hour and will illuminate a stereopticon picture up to 12 feet in diameter or Motion Pictures up to 6 or 7 feet in diameter, but is not recommended for motion pictures.

Convenience. The tank measures but 5x13 inches and the entire outfit weighs only nine pounds. It is so simple that a child can operate it and is free from danger of any kind. The tank is tested to three times the amount of pressure that is required for use. Owing to the compactness and portabilility this outfit is especially adapted to the requirements of certain classes of public exhibitors, secret societies, churches, Sunday schools, day school teachers etc.

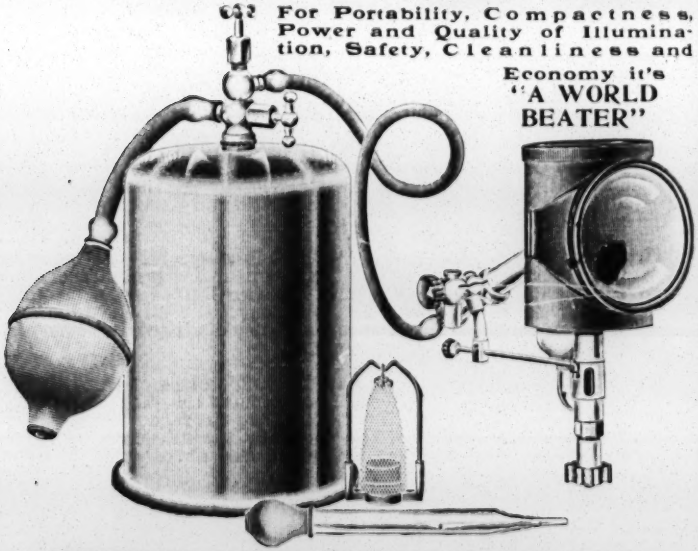
CHICAGO PROJECTING CO.,

The Vapo Search Light Gas Outfit

For Portability, Compactness, Power and Quality of Illumination, Safety, Cleanliness and Economy it's "A WORLD BEATER"



OUTSHINES ALL OTHERS OF ITS CLASS IN Economy, Power and Quality of Illumination, Safety, Cleanliness and Portability.

AT A COST OF ABOUT EIGHT CENTS per hour the Vapo Search Light produces a beautiful white light, and in every way equals anything else that has ever been produced in this line.

The tank is filled about two-fifths full of wood alcohol and the balance of the space is reserved for air pressure, which is supplied by the rubber bulb air pump. The air pressure forces the alcohol through a generator which is located just back of and close to the mantle, where it is heated and converted to vapor gas. From the generator it escapes to the mixing chamber where it is mixed with air and is burned on the surface of the specially prepared and highly Thoriumized mantle. The generator is started by burning a little alcohol in the generator cup which is placed just below the generator. But little pumping is required to supply the necessary pressure and as there is ample space in the reservoir it needs but little attention after being started. No other illuminating outfit of any kind approaches this one for cleanliness. There is absolutely nothing to soil hands or clothing.

The Weak Features of other Hydrocarbon outfits have been taken full account of, and in the "VAPO SEARCH LIGHT" the inventor has succeeded in producing an improvement that insures perfect vaporizing, an adjustment for securing the proper proportion of gas and air, hence perfect combustion with an unbroken incandescent surface all over the mantle, and a steady and intensely brilliant white light which is indispensible to good results in Optical Projection Work.

A Screw Adjustment for the air mixer, and a quick screw feed Cleaning Needle for the vapor outlet orifice, are improvements that are entirely new with the appearance of this outfit and constitute a very great convenience to the operator.

A Special "Vapo Search Light" Mantle

marked the "VAPO SEARCH LIGHT" and very rich in Mineral Salts, is responsible to a considerable degree for the intense and even illumination. From the results thus obtained, we make A GREAT IMPROVEMENT by the use of a Plano Convex Lens of good quality and finish, which is set into the burner hood, where it does much in collecting the rays of light and distributing them evenly on the surface of the condensers.

up to ten feet, with good detail, may be projected with the "VAPO SEARCH LIGHT" and while not recommended for such it may be used for motion pictures in small halls, or for home amusement. THE EFFICIENCY of the illumination is considered equal to Acetylene or any of the other Hydro carbon illuminants and it has more than three times the power of the best multiple wick kerosene lamp.

In Every Way

the "VAPO SEARCH LIGHT" stands unapproached by any other alcohol light. It weighs only 32 ounces, and is so small that it may be packed in the lamphouse of an ordinary Optical Lantern, or in a box 5x8x8½ inches. This, together with the fact that it can be charged and started in about five minutes, commends it to the use of all who do not find it necessary to use calcium or electric light.

In Simplicity the "Vapo Search Light" is a novel and ingenious arrangement, it having no delicate valves or other complicated parts to clog up and get out of order, and being made of the best of material throughout, it will, with proper care last a lifetime.

Economy

is an important consideration to many, and in this respect the "VAPO SEARCH LIGHT" is in the front rank. By using wood alcohol, it may be operated at a cost of about eight cents per hour for fuel; mantles extra.

A mantle may be used for a considerable time if handled carefully. Before the protecting coating is burned off they may be handled with perfect safety. After being burned they are fragile.

It Meets the Requirements of Traveling Lantern Exhibitors, Ministers, Sunday Schools, Missionaries, Secret Societies, Educational Workers and for home amusement, THE VAPO SEARCH LIGHT is guaranteed to be exactly as represented, and we agree to make good any instrument that should fail through defective material or workmanship, to properly perform its duty, or to refund the purchase price.

Automatic Pressure Regulators. These regulators automatically control the pressure of calcium light gases from cylinders, and maintain a uniform pressure, whether the cylinders are full or nearly empty. When using gases from cylinders, by using the automatic pressure regulator with low pressure key, results like those produced by a high pressure key are obtained. These regulators are not necessary when using low pressure outfits such as the Oxylithe or Oxone gas making outfits. Carefully finished, polished and nickel plated. Price per pr. $15.00

Patent Valve for high pressure calcium light cylinders. Having two needles, the equilibrium of the gases is easily accomplished. The side spindle is for fine adjustment, and the flow from the cylinder is controlled by the main or top needle. This enables the operator to make his adjustments before the entertainment begins, thus avoiding all annoyance in this direction after the audience is seated. Price..... $5.00

Regulating Needle Valve

Regulating Needle Valves. A desirable attachment for those using calcium gases from cylinders. The regulating needle has fine threads which enables the operator to secure a speedy and perfect adjustment of the gases. This valve is finished throughout in the best possible manner and nickel plated.

One Way Regulating Needle Valve

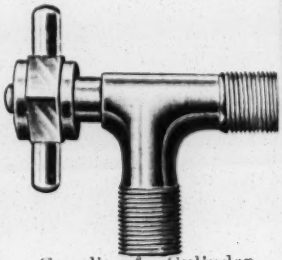
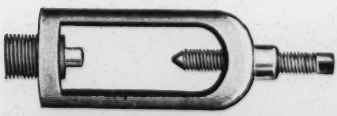
Coupling for Gas Cylinder. Used for connecting high pressure key and gauge to tanks while using all the gas out of one of them, etc. Full nickel plated. Price, each.....$2.00

Rubber Hose, Best High Pressure with coupling. Per section.....$2.00

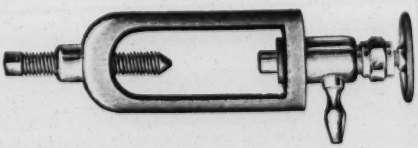


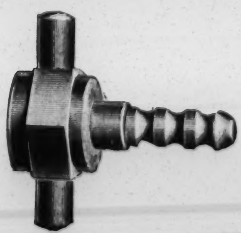
Coupling for Cylinder.



Cylinder Clamp with Connection. Polished and nickel plated. Price, each.....$1.25

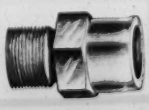
Cylinder Clamp and Hand Regulator, combined This Regulator is of the same quality as the one way value. Finished in the best manner throughout and nickel plated. Price, each.....$5.50





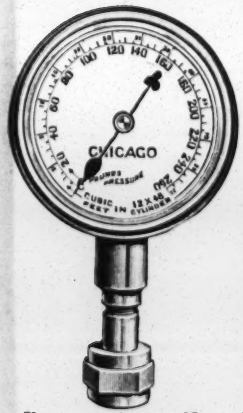
Coupling, used to connect rubber hose to gas cylinder. Price, each.....$0.50

Bushings, for use on calcium light cylinders when the threads become so much worn that they are unreliable. Nickel plated. Price ea.$0.50



Outfit all Right. GENTLEMEN:—I received the outfit and it is all right. You may look for my future orders. J. H. M., Silver Creek, N. Y.

Pressure Gauge.



Pressure Gauge No. 2

To those who use gases from cylinders, a Pressure Gauge is a very necessary instrument. The operator should always know before beginning an entertainment, that his cylinders contain sufficient gas to see him safely through, otherwise he might be subjected to the humility of having to dismiss his audience abruptly, owing to a deficiency of gas. The pressure gauge is also valuable for measuring the amount of gas received from the calcium light companies, to see that full measure is received.

Pressure Gauge No. 3

Pressure Gauge No. 2, for indicating both the pounds pressure and cubic feet in 12 x 48 cylinders.....$5.00

Pressure Gauge No. 3, for indicating the pounds pressure and cubic feet in cylinders 12 x 36, 12 x 42 and 12 x 48. Price.....$6.00

Improved Calcium Light Jets.

While calcium light, by reason of its great efficiency, reliability, portability, and convenience, has in the past, been the leader in illuminants and a most faithful servant to the optical projectionist, recent developments in the line of patented improved calcium jets promise to expand its field of usefulness to a wonderful and unexpected degree.

In this catalogue is listed, for the first time in the history of the optical projection business, a line of improved calcium light jets, which for efficiency, reliability, convenience and artistic merit, is nothing short of a revelation in several ways. There is probably not another instrument in the optical projection line where it has been possible to bring about greater results in the way of better pictures than by improvements in the calcium jets. The opportunity for improvement has been taken full advantage of, and radical departures have been made from the stereotyped, awkward jets to which the public have been accustomed in the past, and our new line is equipped with improvements that are absolutely original and new, as must be plainly recognized by any one who will take the pains to compare our line with the jets of other makers.

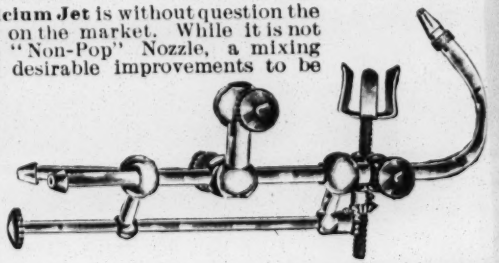
Foremost among the improvements embodied in our new line of calcium jets, is the patented "Non-Pop" nozzle, which is furnished in two forms, either of which, besides securing better combustion, hence greater efficiency, positively prevents popping at the jet, which is especially annoying and happens more frequently when using gas making outfits. With the "Non-Pop" nozzle large quantities of gas may be used, thus obtaining the maximum illumination without the possibility of popping or other unsatisfactory results. While either of our "Non-Pop" nozzles is a phenominal improvement over the other types of jets, the Cone type of "Non-Pop" nozzle is to be preferred, by reason of the advantages gained in its form of construction. Both of these "Non-Pop" nozzles are fully protected by U. S. patents applied for, and infringers on these rights will be vigorously prosecuted.

Another radical departure in our line of jets is the "turned ball" type of mountings, in which form they take a better finish, are easier to keep clean and with their well proportioned and symmetrical arrangement are neat and artistic beyond description.

Prominent among the new features is that every one of our new jets is made with the assistance of very expensive specially made jigs and tools, that are true to the thousandth part of an inch, and by the use of these invaluable accessories, instead of depending on ordinary machinery, the jets are perfect in construction and can be depended upon to be uniform, to work smoothly, easy and with certainty.

Other important improvements are the screw adjustment, the perfect mixing chamber for mixing the gases, needle valves instead of stop cocks, tubular bearings on the cross heads and the off-set nipples none of which improvements are to be found in any other line of jets

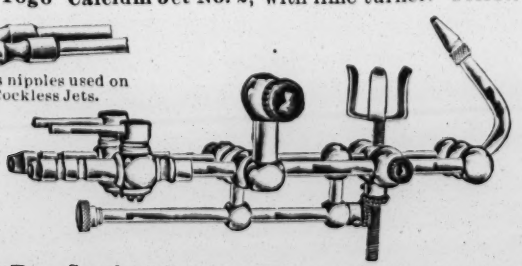
The "Togo" Calcium Jet is without question the best low-priced jet on the market. While it is not equipped with the "Non-Pop" Nozzle, a mixing chamber and other desirable improvements to be found in the "Roco Special" and "Roco Premier" it is well made, has the ball type of mountings and is nickel plated.



The "Togo" Calcium Jet No. 1, without lime turner. Price.....$4.00

The "Togo" Calcium Jet No. 2, with lime turner. Price....$5.00

Shows nipples used on Cockless Jets.



The "Roc Special" Calcium Jets, are intended to take the place of and are a very great improvement over the Perfection jet formerly listed by us. It has two tubes running its entire length, has the ball type of mountings, a modified form of mixer, for mixing the gases, is strong and rigid, and is full nickel plated. Nos. 2 and 3 are provided with the patent "Multi Non Pop" Nozzle, which has a series of small holes for the escape of the gas, that absolutely prevents the flame from snapping back into the jet, as it will do under certain conditions when using a jet with a single hole of larger bore.

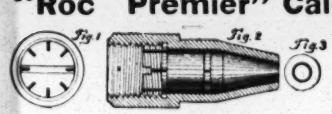
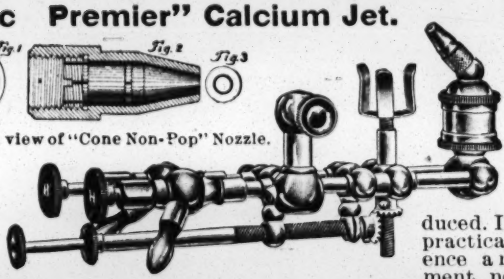
"Roc Premier" Calcium Jet.



Sectional view of "Cone Non-Pop" Nozzle.



No. D

The "Roc Premier" represents the highest degree of development and the most perfect calcium jet ever produced. It has every practical convenience and adjustment necessary to the greatest possible efficiency. The most prominent feature in this new jet is the "Cone Non-Pop" nozzle which absolutely prevents popping, and at the same time affords better combustion, hence greater illumination. Both of these advantages are hailed with delight by experienced exhibitors. Different sizes of cones makes it possible to regulate the quantity of gas to suit individual requirements. The consumption of gas per hour with Cone No. 1 is about three feet, No. 2 about four feet, and No. 3 about six feet. Larger sizes made to order.

Unless otherwise ordered we will furnish the No. 2 cone.

A feature of great value in this jet is the Perfection Mixing Chamber, an arrangement which insures the perfect mixing of the two gases, hence, perfect combustion, and the greatest possible intensity of illumination. A screw adjustment for adjusting the distance between the lime and the point of the jet is another special feature of the "Roco Premier" and is alone the means of placing this jet a long way ahead of anything else on the market. The screw adjustment, which is mounted on the lime turner shaft, insures a steady and positive movement of the lime, and it is sure to remain where it is placed. By the use of this handy device, it is possible to secure a perfect and positive adjustment of the lime without the necessity of exposing the hand to the heat of the inside of the lamphouse.

Needle Valves is another excellent feature to be found in no jet other than the "Roc Premier" No. D. By their use a finer adjustment of the gases may be secured with the greatest ease and certainty, and after the adjustments are secured there is no danger of their being changed by an accidental knock, as with stop cocks.

Long Tubular Bearings to the cross head and other mountings, are a great improvement, which insures the smooth and easy working of all parts without chafing or cramping.

Take it all in all, this jet possesses so many points of merit, that those who are interested in securing the best results with the greatest comfort in operating, cannot afford to consider any other.

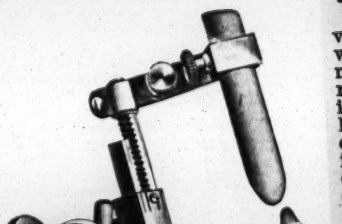
The "Togo" Electric Arc Lamp.



This Electric Arc Lamp is similar in form to the "Roco Premier", but has square rack rods instead of round, and the frame, carbon holders, arms, etc. are made with the square, instead of the round finish, and it is not quite so heavy. The carbon holders are held in line by friction plates instead of guide forks as in the Roco Premier. The small illustration shows position for alternating current. It is a well finished lamp, and the best on the market for the money.

Price.....$4.00

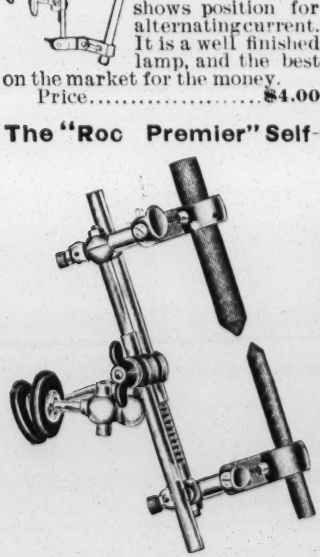
The "Roc Premier" Self-Centering Electric Arc Lamp



This lamp is a great improvement over other lamps of this type, both in utility and beauty of design. It is provided with a perfect double rack and pinion movement, which moves both carbons in unison, and keeps the light centered. The rack rods are round and operate in long cylindrical bearings, which makes them work much more smooth and regular than those of the square type. The guide forks, having a bearing well away from the center of the rod furnishes the maximum of rigidity, and serve to hold the carbons accurately in line. The parts are made strong and durable, and being furnished in the round, are easy to keep clean, and present a most artistic appearance. The carbon holders are adjustable, making them equally adapted to both alternating and direct currents. The adjustment wheel is well back away from the heat, is easy to get at, rapid, and certain in its action. The small illustration shows position for alternating current.

In our "Roc Premier" Improved Self Centering Arc Lamp, as in our new line of Calcium Jets, we have introduced the new turned ball finish. In fact, on every part where it is possible round parts have been used, which, together with the excellent form and proportions of the different parts, contributes to the artistic merit more than can be expressed in words or picture.

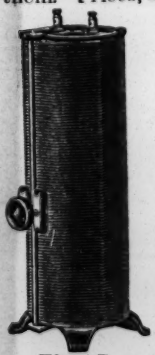
This is without question the most artistic, and in every way the best Electric Arc Lamp ever placed on the market, and yet is sold for no more money than others ask for inferior goods. Full polish finish and nickel-plated, price.....$8.00

The "Roc 90°" or Right Angle Arc Lamp.

The Right Angle Arc Lamp possesses both advantages and disadvantages. The advantage is that the horizontal carbon is in line with and fed directly toward the optical axis of the lenses, which make it easier to keep it centered. The disadvantage is, that it requires more careful and more frequent adjustment than the forms in which the carbons are fed directly toward each other. We offer, however, the best form of right angled arc lamp that has ever been constructed. It is very compact. The frame measuring about 5 inches long by 5 inches high. It has a feed of about 2¾ inches to each carbon, and the carbons can be fed separately or together, depending on whether one or both feeding wheels are turned. For direct current ⅜ inch solid vertical and a ⅛ inch cored horizontal carbon should be used. For alternating currents both carbons should be ⅛ inch cored.

To admit this form of arc lamp the distance between the center of the condensing lenses and the bottom of the lamp house should be at least 5½ inches. If the space is less than this, an opening should be made in the bottom of the lamphouse. Price.....8.00

Automatic Electric Arc Lamps are little used. They are not only very expensive, but have proven unsatisfactory for projection work; are hard to control; very bulky, and we neither list nor recommend them. Prices, however, will be quoted on application.



Rheostats.

Used to Reduce the Current For Electric Arc Lamps

"Excelsior" Rheostat. No. 1 This Rheostat is light and strong, is adjustable and is adapted to direct current of 55 to 110 volts, and alternating 52 to 104 volts. It has iron frames top and bottom, separated by a sheet metal form, is well insulated, and is especially adapted to the use of the traveling exhibitor. Height 16 inches. Weight, 5¾ pounds. Price.....$4.00

"Excelsior" Rheostat No. 2, same as the No. 1, except that it is covered with a heavy wire screen. Price $7.50

The "Excelsior" Rheostat No. 3 This Rheostat is the same as "Excelsior," No.1 except that it is wound with finer wire for use with ordinary lamps using ¼ inch carbons and socket attachment. Price.....$4.00

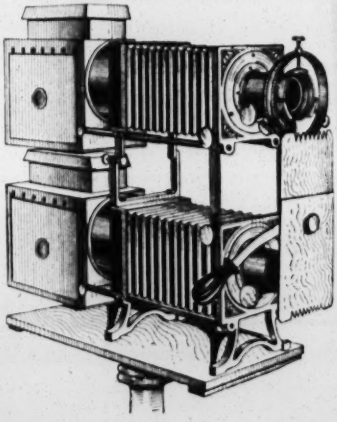
Roco

The "Roc" Rheostat. This Rheostat is a very popular form where heavy resistance is required. It is provided with a number of resistance coils, which are protected from contact by a heavy wire netting, and is adjustable by turning the handle on the top. The resistance coils may be replaced at small cost in case of accident. This Rheostat is intended for either direct or alternating current, and is calculated to carry from 15 to 50 amperes on a current of 110 volts. Price.....$10 00

Double Plug Electric Connection. A convenient way of making quick connection for either the traveling exhibitor or for societies, schools, churches and home use. The larger block with the holes in should be attached to the supply wire, and the smaller part with the plugs, to the wires leading to the machine. Should the polarity of the lamp be wrong, it can be instantly corrected by removing the plug block, and turning half round. Will carry 45 amperes. Price.....$1.00

The Mechanical Dissolver.

For the production of Dissolving Views with arc or incandescent electric light, the Sun Rival Gasoline Vapor or Alcohol Vapo Search Light, Welsbach gas or Kerosene oil illumination it is necessary to use the Mechanical Dissolver which consists of a cut-off with ragged or saw tooth edges and so mounted on one of the objective lenses that it may be gradually shifted so as to cover first one lens and then the other while the illumination is allowed to remain full on in both stereopticons. The result is that one view will gradually fade away while the other will be developed from nothing to full brilliancy.



The Mechanical Dissolver is attached to the upper lens by means of screw clamps that are cushioned to prevent scratching the lens mounts as shown by the two illustrations. The shutter is made of thin planished sheet steel, and the mountings are polished and nickel plated.

What Our Customers Say

SEDALIA, MO.

CHICAGO PROJECTING CO., Chicago, Ill.

GENTLEMEN—If you remember I started out a short time ago with one of your combination outfits and am now successfully working the street fairs, and opera house circuit. At first I was a bit skeptical as to the success of my venture but am now thoroughly convinced there is no other business I know of that pays such quick and large returns as this. Wishing you the success that I am now enjoying, I remain,

E. S.

KANSAS CITY, MO.

CHICAGO PROJECTING CO., Chicago, Ill.

GENTLEMEN—I have used one of your combination stereopticon and moving picture machines for the past two years and have succeeded beyond my fondest hopes. I have confined my work to the school houses and churches and have averaged from $20 to $100 per night. To anyone wishing to enter a nice clean and easy business, on a small investment I would certainly advise them to get a combination outfit at once. Yours for business, T. F. N.

Electric Switches.

Exhibitors using Electric Arc Lamps should provide themselves with a Knife Switch. A fuse block is also desirable, for if in any way a short circuit is formed, no damage would be done other than to melt the fuse on your block, which could be instantly replaced. We recommend the Nos. 5 or 6 Combined Switch and Fuse Block to use enclosed fuses. In many cities the insurance companies prohibit the use of any but enclosed, or cartridge fuses. We also advise the use of a 50 ampere switch and fuse block, because when using alternating current it is necessary to use 30 to 40 amperes of current to get good results on motion pictures.

Flexible Electric Light Wire, Double, called lamp cord, with heavy cotton insulation for connecting electric arc or incandescent lamps to the main line.

Length of 30 feet. Price (without tips)..$1.20
Shorter lengths, per foot..... 0.06

Note: The flexible electric lamp cord should not be used where more than 15 amperes of current is being consumed, as the insulation would be liable to burn off.

Electric Wire Tips will be found a great convenience for the terminals of flexible electric light wire; will insure perfect contact and full strength of the current will be obtained. (The insulation must be removed at the point where the terminals are attached to the wire.) Price each.....$0.10

Asbestos Stage Cable for making connections between main lines and electric arc lamps, specially adapted to conducting heavy currents. Each of the two conductors of this cable is composed of a large number of fine copper wires and is heavily insulated with asbestos. See cuts of Jute Stage Cable.

Length of 50 feet or more. Prices quoted on application.
Lengths of less than 50 feet. Prices quoted on application.

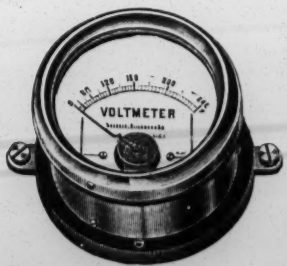
Jute Stage Cable. Each of the conductors of this cable is composed of a large number of fine copper wires, which makes the cable very flexible. Each conductor is insulated with rubber and braided coating, then twisted, filled with jute to make round, and both are covered with a heavy cotton braid well saturated so as not to be affected by moisture.

Jute Stage Cable No. 10, length of 50 feet or more. Per foot.....$0.14
Jute Stage Cable No. 6, length of 50 feet or more, per foot ..... .25

No. 10 will carry up to 20 amperes.
No. 6 will carry up to 50 amperes.



Voltmeter. For measuring the voltage of electric lines. This little instrument will be found a very great convenience by the traveling exhibitor for measuring the voltage of electric lines, to determine with certainty what resistance should be used, and the adjustment of the rheostat required to adapt the current to his purpose. It is especially adapted to the requirements, in that it measures but 4 inches in diameter by 2¼ inches in height, and will indicate the voltage of lines up to 250, which is above the voltage generally used for lighting purposes.

Price.....$15.00

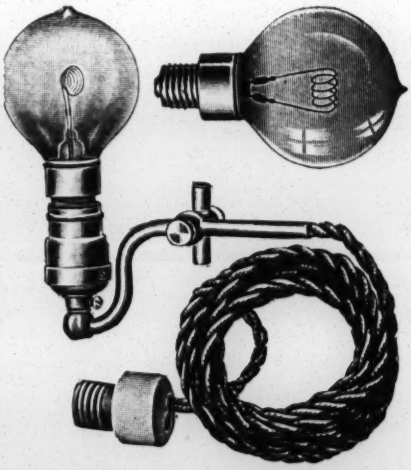
Ampere Meter. For measuring the amperage of electric lines. This instrument is the same size and form as the Voltmeter listed above, and makes an excellent companion to that instrument, although not so necessary. It measures to 75 amperes. Price.....$15.00

The "Roc " Incandescent Electric Lamp.



The Incandescent Electric Lamp will be found a very great convenience where electric connections can be had, for such as lodge, school and church work and may be used to advantage by certain classes of traveling exhibitors. It may be used on either the alternating or direct current. When using the 50 candle power lamp the connection may be made direct with the lamp socket without the use of a rheostat, but when using the 100 candle power lamp, a small switch should be used for turning the current on and off, instead of making and breaking the connection at the lamp socket. This form of illumination is a little stronger than the Welsbach gas burner, but has not the efficiency of an Acetylene or Vapor gas light.

The design of the "Roc " Incandescent Electric Lamp is highly artistic and for general merit is far superior to anything heretofore introduced. It is beautifully polished, and with the exception of the lamp socket, is nickel plated.

Price, complete with 50 c. p. lamp, 20 feet of insulated wire and attachment plug	$4.50
Same as above, but with 100 c. p. lamp instead of 50 c. p.	5.50
50 candle power Incandescent lamp, bulb only	1.50
100 candle power Incandescent lamp, bulb only	2.50

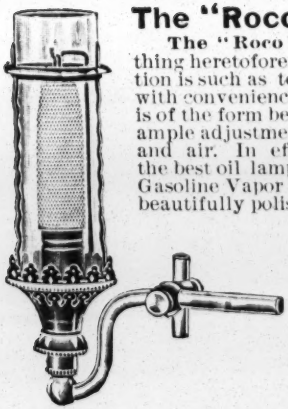
Note: We cannot be responsible for breakage of electric lamp bulbs in transit.

Stand or Burner Support.

This stand is intended for use in old style lanterns, which have not been fitted for the use of modern burners. It has a round base with screw holes for securing to the bottom of the lantern, standard upright burner spindle and is fully nickel plated. Price..... $1.00



The "Roco" Welsbach Gas Burner.

The "Roco" Burner is an improvement over anything heretofore made in this line. Its form of construction is such as to afford the greatest efficiency together with convenience and artistic design. The Bunson part is of the form best adapted to the requirements, and has ample adjustments for the perfect balancing of the gas and air. In efficiency it is considered better than the best oil lamps, but it is not equal to the Alcohol or Gasoline Vapor Burners. It is made of brass throughout, beautifully polished, nickel plated, and from an artistic standpoint as well as efficiency, it is far ahead of anything in its class.

With Stop Cock, extra..... .50
Extra Mantles with support, best quality, each..... .20
Extra Chimneys, 5 inches, each.. .15

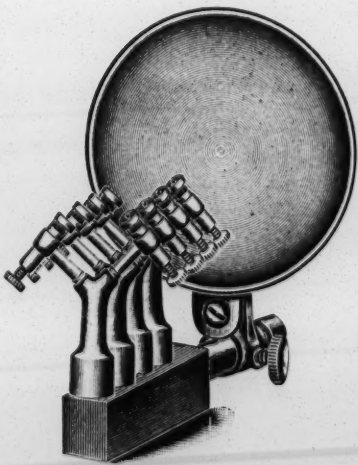
NOTE—When ordering, do not fail to state whether for the 52 or 104 volts alternating, or 110 or 220 volts direct current, and also whether for Edison, or Thompson-Houston socket.



The "Orton" Four-Jet Self-Cleaning Burner is much appreciated by those who have used it.

The jets are so placed that the centers of the flames all come in a line with the axis of the lenses and being placed nearer together than in the old type of burners, they all come more nearly within the focus point of the condensers, hence greater efficiency.

Each tip is provided with a coarse-threaded screw, the point of which passes through the orifice of the tip and cleanses it of any soot or carbon deposit with which it may have become choked. Each jet is provided with a nickel-plated and polished reflector. Full polished finish, nickel-plated.

Price, each..... $5.50

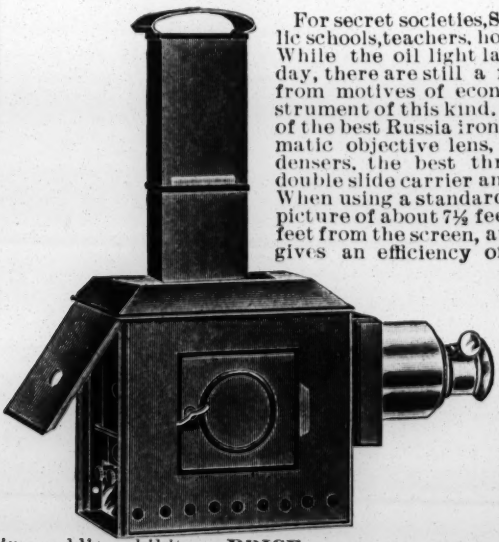
Condensing Chamber or Drip Cup, for Acetylene Outfits. Owing to the presence of a considerable amount of heat in the generation of acetylene, steam is formed, a certain amount of which is carried to the jet with the gas, especially with some forms of generators that are different from our own. To remedy this condition which is detrimental to good results we have devised this little attachment which is placed in the path of the gas from the generator to the jet. As the gas gets away from the heated generator it cools and the vapor condenses to water which lodges in the condenser. It is about 5¾ inches long, is made of brass and nickel plated. Price..... $0.75

The "No. 50" Magic Lantern with Oil Light,



For secret societies, Sunday schools, public schools, teachers, home amusement, etc. While the oil light lantern has seen its day, there are still a few, who probably from motives of economy desire an instrument of this kind. The body is made of the best Russia iron, has a good achromatic objective lens, two 4½ inch condensers, the best three wick oil lamp, double slide carrier and a carrying case. When using a standard slide, it projects a picture of about 7½ feet in diameter at 15 feet from the screen, and the illumination gives an efficiency of about 100 candle power, which is a little more than one-third the power of acetylene, gasoline, or alcohol vapor light. While this instrument is not a toy, and is designed for professional use only, and is as good as any kerosene oil lantern made but cannot be expected to give satisfactory results for a traveling public exhibitor. PRICE, complete with lenses, carrying case, etc.....$12.00

Oil Lamp for Stereopticon.

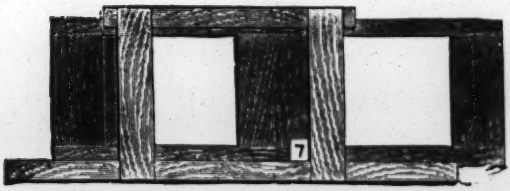
While Oil lamps are now but little used for stereopticon work, there are still a few people, who, from motives of economy, are prompted to buy them. While the lamp we list is the best that can be had for the purpose, having three wicks, we do not recommend them. They are rated at about 100 candle power and give about one-third the efficiency of Acetylene, Gasoline or the Alcohol Vapor Light. This lamp may be used in our $15.00 Magic Lantern or Stereopticon.

Price, complete with wicks and telescope chimney.....$4.00

Motion Pictures are Taking Top Money is the almost universal report that comes from amusement places such as Summer Carnivals, Street Fairs, County Fairs and Amusement Parks.

People do not Tire of Motion Pictures. On the contrary they "get into the habit" when near enough, of going once a week or more.

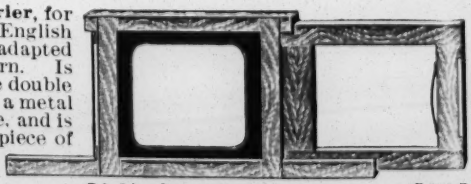
Slide Carriers.



Double Slide Carrier No. 1 For single stereopticon, adapted for American Slides only. Price.....$0.50

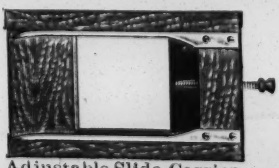
Double Slide Carrier No. 2, with brackets and cushions. This carrier is the same as the No. 1, with the exception that it has brackets for locating it in the lantern, and cushions which make it possible to change views instantly without noise, thus making a substitute for a dissolving lantern. Price.....$0.80

Double Slide Carrier No. 3, for Single Stereoptican. Instead of having one groove as in the No. 1, it has two grooves side by side, one for the English and the other for American slides. Is convenient when exhibiting a mixed lot of slides. Price.....$0.75



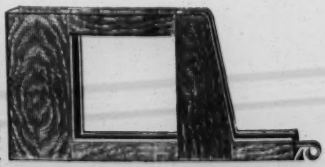
Shutter Slide Carrier, for both American and English slides. Is especially adapted for the double lantern. Is similar in form to the double slide carrier, but has a metal diaphragm in one side, and is intended to carry a piece of opaque material or a ground glass in the other. Price each.....$1.25 Per pair.....$2.25

"Panorama" or "Push Through" Slide Carrier, for Single Stereopticon. Suitable for both English and American slides. This carrrier can be used for showing Panoramic effects. Price.....$0.50



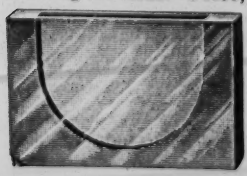
Adjustable Slide Carrier.

Adjustable Slide Carrier, for Dissolving Stereopticon. Adapted for both English and American slides. Adjustment is secured with a screw. Price.....$0.50



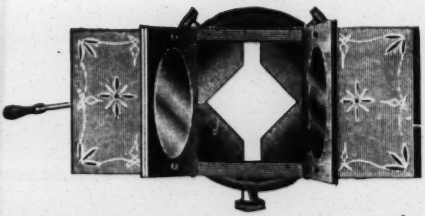
Self Centering Slide Carrier.

Self Centering Slide Carrier, for Dissolving Stereopticon. Adapted for both English and American slides. This is the most convenient and popular form of slide carrier for use with a dissolving lantern. Has a metal pull for withdrawing the slide. Price, each.$2.00



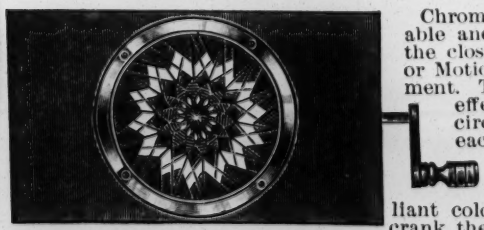
Glass Cell. Measures 4x7 inches, and fits into the slide stage of any lantern using standard slides. It can be used dry to hold views, or may be filled with water to show live specimens of insects, fishes, worms, etc., enlarged views of which may be projected on the screen with the Stereopticon or Magic Lantern. Price.....$3.00

Eureka Dissolver.



The Eureka Dissolver is intended as a substitute for a double dissolving lantern. Its mechanical arrangement is such that in changing from one slide to another it is possible to produce effects somewhat resembling those of a double lantern. It is attached by thumb clamps to the front of the objective lenses and is operated by a lever at the side. The shutters contain tinters by the use of which, scenes may be changed to produce sunset or night effects. Price.....$10.00

Chromatropes, Geometrical.



Chromatrope slides are suitable and very desirable for the closing of a Stereopticon or Motion Picture Entertainment. The Chromatrope effect is produced by two circular discs of glass, each one having painted upon them curious geometrical designs in a variety of brilliant colors. By turning the crank the two wheels are rotated in opposite directions and by turning sometimes slowly, then quickly, backwards and forwards, a great variety of beautiful changes may be produced. These effects must be seen to be appreciated.
Geometrical.....$3.00

Design Chromatropes.

These Chromatropes consist of three glasses instead of two. They contain a central portrait, encircled by Chromatrope design as follows:

Washington Chromatrope	$3.50
Lincoln Chromatrope	3.50
McKinley Chromatrope	3.50
American Flag Chromatrope	3.50
Welcome Chromatrope	3.50
Intermission Chromatrope	3.50
Good-Night Chromatrope	3.50

Interchangeable Chromatropes.

This Chromatrope consists of a frame so arranged that the following changes can be very quickly made.

a A pretty woodland spot, a beehive in foreground, myriads of bees swarming around.
b On a table an aquarium globe rests, in which fish are seen swimming.
c A fountain playing.
d Windmill, arms moving, border of weaving colors.
e Acrobat performing on a trapeze.
f Good-Night, with border of weaving colors.

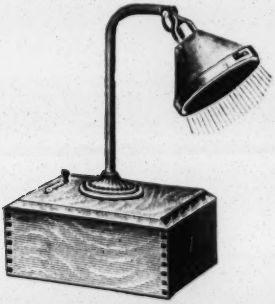
Lecturers' Reading Lamps.

In delivering a "Lecture" or "Reading" where it has not been previously memorized, it is necessary to have a lamp that will concentrate the light on the book and not illuminate the room to interfere with the illumination of the stereopticon or motion pictures.



Electric Battery Reading Lamp, No. 4, clean and always ready for use. Battery is enclosed in the oak case. Has adjustable reflector to throw the light where wanted. Is lighted by turning the switch. Bulb is frosted to give even light. Battery will last on continuous run about five hours, but by using for short periods will last a long time. Metal parts are nickel plated. Price each $3.50

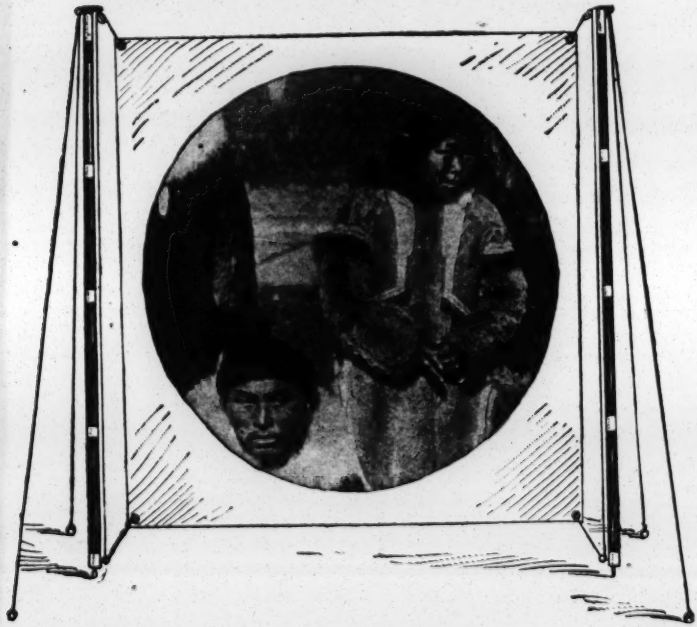
Adjustable Extension Screen Frame.



Price with Poles 1¼ inches in diameter, per section..... ....$0.50
Price with Poles 2 inches in diameter, per section..... .75

The Portable Extension Screen Frame can be adapted to all sizes of screens and will be found a great convenience to the traveling exhibitor. It is composed of the required number of sections depending on size of screen, each section being three feet in length. made of tough, thoroughly seasoned white wood and jointed together with metal ferrules. Two of the end sections have a sharp pointed brad that sticks into the floor so that it cannot slip or get out of position. The other two end sections have a pulley let into the body of the section through which is carried the screen rope which is to be attached to a small screw-eye in the floor in the line with the face of the screen and at the proper distance from the screen. Then two guy ropes at each side of the screen, one extending forward and one backward, serve to hold the screen immovably in place. This arrangement answers admirably for screens up to 20 feet square. Larger screens than this require a heavier frame. We recommend 1½ inch poles for screens 12 feet square and under, and 2 inch poles for screens over 12 feet square. The frame for a screen 12 feet square or 10x12 consists of six sections, three for each side.

Price of Frame for 12 foot screen, complete, without ropes....$4.00
The ropes are extra.

Carbons for Electric Arc Light.

Soft Cored Carbon

To secure good results from electric light, the use of the best carbons made specially for this work, is absolutely essential. Ordinary carbons, such as are used for street lighting, are not suitable for Stereopticon and Motion Picture work. They give off a dust when burning, have hard spots that cause the light to grow dim at times, and make a hissing noise. Our carbons are made expressly for optical projection work, the combustion is even and perfect, they give a brilliant uniform light, and produce the highest candle power obtainable in proportion to the current consumed. For direct current, when using 15 to 20 amperes we advise the use of the ⅛ inch soft cored carbon above and $\frac{7}{32}$ inch solid carbon below. When using 25 to 30 Amperes we advise a $\frac{9}{32}$ soft cored upper and ¼ inch solid lower carbon.

For alternating current use $\frac{7}{32}$ or ⅛ soft cored carbons both top and bottom, depending upon the number of amperes used.

We carry in stock the following sizes:

Soft Cored Carbons.

$\frac{7}{32}$ inch.	Per doz	$0.50
⅛ inch.	Per doz	0.53
$\frac{9}{32}$ inch.	Per doz	0.55

In lots of 100 we allow a discount of 10%.

Flattened Carbons for Alternating Current. Illumination from alternating currents has a tendency to be noisy and unsteady, particularly when using low amperage, The advantages claimed for this carbon is that it reduces the noise. and on account of one side being flattened has a tendency to hold the "crater" more to the front side of the carbon. When using these carbons, the flat side of both should be toward the condensing lenses. These carbons are made in one size only, which is $\frac{9}{32}$ x 10 inches.

Price each $0 10
Per dozen 1.00

Solid Carbons, ⅜ inch. Per doz $0.25

"Special Sun Rival" Mantles, for use with the "Sun Rival" gasoline vapor light and the "Roco" Welsbach gas burners. These mantles are made special for stereopticon work and have more than twice the mineral strength (Oxide of Thorium) hence their greater power of illumination. The mantles used for house lighting are not satisfactory for stereopticon illumination. Price, each $0 15
Per dozen 1.75

"Vapo Searchlight" Mantles, for use with the Alcohol Vapo Search Light. These mantles are very heavily charged with the mineral (Oxide of Thorium) and give the maximum of illumination. They are smaller than the "Special Sun Rival" mantles. Price, each $0.20
Per dozen 2.25

Typewriter Bulletins. For this purpose we furnish a very thin, transparent, flexible imported material cut into sheets of the standard size, 3¼x4 inches. The announcement is written on this sheet with the typewriter, and afterwards sprinkled with a prepared powder to intensify the letters. This is then placed between two pieces of cover glass, bound with binding paper, and used in a lantern same as an ordinary slide. This method has been used with great success by Chicago newspapers for showing election returns, etc. Price per dozen $0.50 Per 100..... .....$2.50

Intensifying Powder, for intensifying typewriter bulletins. Per oz.....$0.20

Tinters, for throwing colored lights on tableaux, changing views to sunsets or moonlight scenes, etc. Of this we furnish two kinds. One is made of a sheet of colored gelatine between two cover glasses, and bound with binding paper, while the other is made from a lantern slide plate that has the sensitive silver salts removed, color applied to the emulsion, covered with glass and bound. The gelatine is affected by the heat and is not so durable as the colored glass.

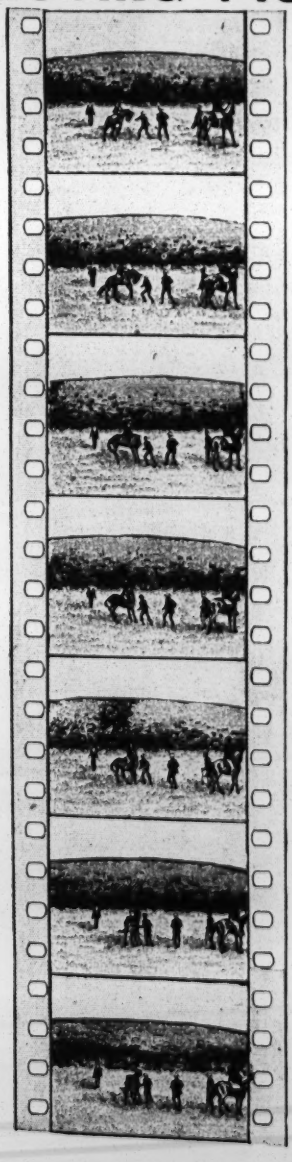
MOVING PICTURE FILMS.



We are greatly pleased to be able to furnish a complete list of moving pictures, and in this list can be found films to illustrate almost any subject. Moving pictures, being the most important part of an entertainment, and knowing it is rather difficult for the exhibitor to choose films by the name only, we have endeavored to select what we consider the best subjects, giving the description of each, covering films of different classifications from both Foreign and Domestic film makers, so as to fulfill the requirements of the different classes of exhibitors.

You will find that each film maker issues his own lists of films and furnishes them to the trade, but from this complete general film list, the purchaser may receive every satisfaction in making his selection.

Exhibitors know from experience that it is the audience who are to be suited, and his taste must be governed by what they like. This must be remembered in order to give a successful entertainment.

We are always willing to suggest, and help the purchasers to select their films and will give them the benefit of our many years experience, if they state what class of entertainment they are giving. Such films should be chosen as would be suited to the rest of the programme.

Where you find films under the same or similar name, they are generally made by different manufacturers, and in such cases, we are in a position to suggest which we consider the best suited for your particular entertainment.

Inasmuch as the copying of films makes the selection uncertain, it is important that the moving pictures should be purchased of a reliable dealer.

Every exhibitor, both professional and beginners, should read and become familiar with the subject "Moving picture machine and its application," which will be found in the front part of our catalogue.

225 DEARBORN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

The length of each film and the subjects required, depends largely upon your entertainment. The travelling exhibitor who entertains in small churches, halls, schools, etc., as a rule has one set of stereopticon views interspersed with from five to one dozen short films. If the exhibitor can afford it, more can be used to advantage.

The standard moving picture film is 1⅜ inches wide, and about four minutes is required to run 100 feet, but even though the picture is 1⅜ inches wide, they can be reproduced on the curtain to any size up to 30 feet, and larger, according to the strength of the light, and the lens used. Short films can be cemented together using a small piece of blank film between each subject. This does away with the delay in framing each separate picture, for when cemented together, they are only threaded once.

For five cent theatres, summer parks, etc., 500 to 1,000 feet of film is required.

Some films can be produced with but little cost, while others require more expense, therefore the price of films ranges from eleven to fifteen cents per foot. The lengths of films as given are not intended to be exact, and the price quoted is for the subject, but the variations do not amount to much. In buying films, as with everything else, quality is more important than economy.

We carry in stock at all times, some of the best selling subjects, but as a rule we require from two to three days to make the films to order.

Color, is seldom used, but it adds much to the value of the moving pictures and in as much as each picture must be done by hand and by the same artist, it requires from two to four days' time for 100 feet of film.

In compiling a catalogue of this kind, it is unreasonable to expect errors to be entirely eliminated, and in case of errors, we reserve the right to correct them.

TERMS—Upon receipt of a deposit of 20 per cent of the amount of order, we will ship films C. O. D. when desired, but it must be remembered that with few exceptions, films have to be made to order which requires from two to three days.

If the full amount is sent with order, we will send films by mail, the postage being one cent per ounce, and registry eight cents extra, and unless the package is registered, all goods are sent at owner's risk. One hundred feet of film would weigh about thirteen ounces.

Remember that we are reliable, and can furnish any films desired even though they are not listed in our catalogue. Write for further information.

Yours very truly,

CHICAGO PROJECTING COMPANY.

Animals—(See also Circus.)

AN INTELLIGENT ELEPHANT. (M) Elephants are, as a rule, intelligent animals, but this one is particularly so. He picks up huge logs of wood, and carries them to a certain spot, where he deposits them at the dictation of his master, seated on his back. Exceedingly good. Code word. INTELLIGENTE. Length, 150 feet. Price.....$16.50

TRAINED ELEPHANTS AND DOGS. (CU,L-C) Code, BOEE. 123 feet. Price.....$14.76

TRAINED BABY ELEPHANT. (CU,L-C) Code, BOEI. 175 feet. Price.....$21.00

ELEPHANT'S BATH. (GBC,h-D) Code, BIYA. 35 feet. Price 4.20

BATH OF ELEPHANTS. (Q) Length 98 feet. Price.....$11.76

ELEPHANTS SHOOTING THE CHUTES AT LUNA PARK. (F) One of the greatest attractions at the famous summer resort, Coney Island, N. Y. A huge elephant stands at the top of the chutes while at his back is another elephant whose duty is to start his companion. The huge animal assumes a sitting position as he leaves the top and like a flash slides down the steep incline into the water. As he strikes the water it throws high in the air and for a short time the animal remains under water, evidently enjoying his cool bath. It takes considerable coaxing on the part of his Arabian keeper to get him out of the water for his next trip. Code word, VALIMENTO. Length, 80 feet. Class A. Price.....$12.00

CAPT. PAUL BOYTON FEEDING HIS PETS—Coney Island, N. Y. (C) The Captain walks out on a plank over the water with a basket of fish. The sea-lions clamber about him struggling for their food. One of them becomes very insistent, and succeeds in pushing Captain Boyton into the water. Code. GALERUCA. 70 feet. Price.....$8.40

"KING" AND "QUEEN", THE GREAT HIGH DIVING HORSES—Coney Island. (D) It is one of the popular "hits." Taken at Paul Boynton's chutes at Coney Island, and shows Prof. G. H. Holloway's trained horses diving into the water from a platform 35 feet high. Their action is purely voluntary. Code, FUTTERBANK. 53 feet. Price.....$6.36

WRESTLING DONKEY. (R) Length, 114 feet. Price.....$13.68

TRICK DONKEY. (N) No.2 A clown brings on his donkey, an apparently docile animal. A fresh coon tries to mount him when he is thrown in the air as if by electricity. Several other "smokes" jump on the donkey's back, but are flung in the air in a similar manner. Three darkies clamber on the back of our docile friend and at the command of his master he remains perfectly quiet until they are firmly seated, when he throws the bunch of "dark clouds" in all directions. One little coon persists in riding the donkey, and jumping on his back, he wraps his legs and arms around him but is finally thrown. The donkey is victorious and appears to smile at his crestfallen colored friends. Rich and exciting. Code, CAPON. Length, 75 feet. Price.....$8.25

EDUCATED CHIMPANZEE. (G) This Chimpanzee was brought here from Western Africa, and is the most manlike animal of the ape family. In disposition it is lively and intelligent, and has been considered as the missing link. The picture starts in with the Chimpanzee ringing a call bell for something to eat, and then in the act of eating, next changing to an Irishman smoking a pipe, then taking a drink from a bottle, after which Carrie Nation and her little hatchet is portrayed to perfection; he then represents an Irish sport, and is without doubt one of the most expert typewriters in the country. He then takes a turn at reading, and takes the part of a judge, with a wise look that would do credit to a person who has held that position for a quarter of a century, and ends his little exhibition by representing Paderewski to perfection. A gem of photography and action. Code word, UNGUINAL. Length, 115 feet. Price $13.80

THE EDUCATED CHIMPANZEE. (M) Use this picture, together with that of the old darkey, described, and call it "The Evolution of Man." The monk smokes a pipe, reads a newspaper, eats his lunch like an old man, and does other funny tricks, all of which appear to prove the great Darwin theory, that man sprang from the monkey. Join the chimpanzee picture to that of the old darkey, and you have a decided novelty. Rich. Code, CALUMNY Length 50 feet. Price..... $5.50

FEEDING THE SEA LIONS. (N) A decided novelty. Sea lions are not to be seen every day, and it is your privilege to show about 12 in number, being fed by their trainer, Capt. Paul Boynton. After feeding them on shore, they follow him about, and crowd him so that he steps in the water and continues to feed them. One more venturesome than the rest steals some of the food out of the basket. Their backs sparkle and shine like glass. Code, KEYSTONE. Length 75 feet. Price. $8.25

BOXING DOGS. (D) An act by Prof. Leonidas' troupe. Two little dogs sit in their chairs having boxing gloves fastened to their forepaws. They rise on their hind legs, and box, while the professor urges them on. Code, FUSIVILITE. 25 feet. Price..... $3.00

ORLA AND HIS DOGS. (R) Length, 147 feet. Price..... $17.64

A DOG FIGHT. (C) An impromptu, but exciting scrap between two prize-winning Dachshunds from the Venlo Farm Kennels. Code, GALEOLUM. 45 feet. Price..... $5.40

"SPIKE," THE BAG-PUNCHING DOG. (C) A large bag is suspended by a cord, so that it is just out of reach of his nose. Circus—(See also Animals.)

RINGLING BROS. CIRCUS PARADE. (U) The parade is seen coming down a broad avenue with crowds of people on both sides of the avenue. Even the windows of the buildings are crowded, showing how popular this great circus has become. The parade is headed by Mr. Ringling followed by the finest band wagon in the world drawn by 12 magnificent horses. Following in rapid succession are open cages of Lions, Tigers, Hyenas, Bears, etc., so plainly that you can see them walking to and fro in their cages (something that is very hard to obtain in a moving picture). This is followed by the grand tableaux wagons representing the different nations of the world; the riders on their prancing steeds are followed by the clowns, tableaux wagons representing Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderilla, riders representing the different nations of the world, the mounted band and last but not least the Arabs, the camels and the great herd of performing elephants making in all probably the greatest circus parade ever seen on a motion picture film. We make this film in three lengths.

DAY AT THE CIRCUS. (F) We present here a series of interesting pictures and show a number of scenes just as witnessed by a visitor to the Great Forepaugh and Sells Bros' combined four-ring circus. We begin by showing the complete circus parade as it takes place in the street. The first scene shows the parade coming down a broad asphalt avenue with park in background. Entire parade shows elephants, camels, band wagons, chariots, cages of animals, and full circus paraphernalia, making a most interesting subject. The next picture shows the assembly or grand entry, and includes the entrance into the arena of the elephants, chariots, wild animals, horses, camels, etc. We next show an exciting horse race, consisting of eight horses, on which are mounted an Indian, a squaw, a Filipino girl, an Arab woman, an Arab, a cowboy and on English jockey and and an American jockey. The picture concludes with a bareback team race. In this race two horses are abreast, the driver standing up, with one foot resting on one horse and one upon the other. They make two circuits of the ring and furnish a very exciting climax to the picture. Code word, UNGIFTED. Length, 325 feet. Price..$39.00

LIFE OF A FIREMAN. (TU) In placing this wonderful picture s series of pictures before the public it was our aim to illustrate th entire workings of a model fire department. This picture, in its com plete form, shows the fireman sitting in front of a fire house, whe suddenly an alarm is sounded. You see the rush and break for th inside of the fire house, to get to their respective places on the ap paratus before going to the fire. The next picture shows them leav ing the engine house; the mad dash out of doors, and the most realisti fire run ever shown on canvas. Twenty-eight pieces of fire fighting machines madly rushing and plunging down a thoroughfare on th way to the fire; exciting races between rival companies; the men putting on their coats and fire hats; the drivers lashing their horses. It is indeed a great and inspiring scene. Code word, FIRE. Entire series complete, Length, 450 feet. Price..... $54.00

THE WHOLE DAMM FAMILY AND THE DAMM DOG. (F) The Whole Damm Family and The Damm Dog is a popular fad which has been widely advertised by lithographs and souvenir mailing cards, and has recently been made the subject of a sketch in a New York Vaudeville Theatre and now it is illustrated in a most novel and original way in Moving Pictures. Mr. I. B. Damm is seized with a severe fit of sneezing. Herself relieves her mind through woman's sole weapon. Jimmy Damm shows how a cigarette should be smoked. Miss U. B. Damm is very proud of the marcel wave in her hair. Annie Damm, in a large picture hat, tries to look very shy and demure. Lizzie Damm chews gum in a most artistic manner. Baby Damm gives a sample of his ability at crying. A family group is followed by the family seated at dinner, with the Damm Dog seated at the head of the table. Mr. I. B. Damm enters and kicks the Damm Dog out of the chair. The Damm Dog waits until the soup has been served, and then returns and drags the table cloth and all the dishes on to the floor. The final scene is most amusing. Different portions of the Damm Dog's body appear from all directions. They finally arrange themselves in shape, showing a dilapidated looking cur sitting up on his haunches. Presently his tail joins his body by piecemeal, the end having two tin cans tied to it. The tail and tin cans begin to wag in a most comical way. Code VASADURA. Length, 300 feet. Class A. Price.....$45.00

STOLEN PIG. (G) Picture opens with a butcher shop in front of which is hanging a dressed pig. A woman comes along and after looking around to see that no one is looking puts the pig in a bag and makes off with it. The butcher then comes out to take the pig in the shop and finds it gone. He is joined by a small boy and they start down the street in search of the thief. They finally come upon her seated by the roadside asleep while the pig in the bag is leaning against a bush beside her. The butcher then quietly carries off the pig, removes it from the bag and puts the boy in its place. After cutting off the pig's feet and giving them to the boy he carries him in a bag and puts him down by the woman's side. She then awakes and starts to pick up her pig, but is evidently alarmed to find it is alive. She makes another effort when the supposed "pig" begins to jump around in a lively manner. She runs down the road and is pursued by the "pig." Then she is shown retreating into a pool of water while the "pig" is still pursuing her waving his feet in the air. Length, 190 feet. Class B. ELECTRIC DOORBELL. (G) Willie and Freddie think they will try a little bell-pulling for fun. They spy a bell-handle at the door of Smith & Sons, the electricians, and forthwith Willie goes up and tugs hard, and then is round the corner. Smith comes out, and looks annoyed. He returns inside, when those wicked urchins again appear and with grins on their faces again ring the bell and rush off. Smith again comes out, and gets savage. He sees them, shakes his fist at them. Suddenly an idea strikes him, he rushes off to his workshop, and comes back bringing a powerful electric battery and some wire. He connects the battery to the bell chain and then, laughing heartily, goes off. The postman approaches the door and catches hold of the bell-handle. With a yell, he drops his letters, ties himself into a knot, unties himself, folds himself up, wriggles and squirms as never man did before. A young lady passing attempts to rescue him, but she too, is caught. They both twist and turn in a most extraordinary fashion, and as a gentleman comes along beckon to him to help them. He goes to their rescue, but only becomes another victim. More yells, shrieks, and squirming. A tramp comes up and gets caught like the rest. Things are beginning to look serious, when a jolly Jack Tar appears puts his arms around the whole crew and hauls in with might and main the bell-pull gives away, and with a crash the wayfarers fall to the ground. The picture finishes showing Smith bolting for the door, while a passing messenger boy stands grinning at the wriggling mass on the ground. Code word, VARIABLES. Length, 120 feet. Class B. HIS MASTER'S VOICE. (M) It is hardly necessary to describe this film, as the subject is known all over the world. Our picture shows a Talking Machine, through which the Master's voice calls a little dog. We see the dog puzzled, jumping up to the machine and running around the room until he gets angry, takes hold of the horn and breaks up the whole machine. Length 80 feet. Price.....$8.80

HIS MASTER'S BREATH. (N) This film is the counterpart of the film "His Master's Voice." We first see the master indulging in a few glasses of whiskey, and he puts a funnel upon the bottle to inhale the fumes of the drink. He then leaves the room while the dog enters. The dog, jumping upon the table, smells what he thinks is his master's breath, coming out of the whiskey bottle. He tries to jump in the bottle. The breath, however, is too strong, and we see the dog laying dead upon the table. A very funny film, which in connection with the film "His Masters Voice" will make a big hit wherever exhibited. Length 80 feet. Price.....$8.80

EVERYBODY WORKS BUT FATHER. (F) The picture opens with a laughable "Jumble" announcement. Mother and all of the children hurriedly eating breakfast and rushing off to work. Mother calls Father repeatedly, but gets no reply. The next scene shows Father in bed. His slumbers are disturbed by a horrible dream. In his dream, which appears as a vision, he is seen carrying the hod up a ladder. He gets into an argument with a bricklayer, who throws him off the scaffold and pelts him with bricks, which he tries to dodge. Suddenly he wakes and finds his wife standing beside his bed with a cup of coffee. The next scene shows Mother and Daughter working in the kitchen. Father enters with his shoes in his hand and sits down by the fire to smoke. Mother sends him out for wood. Father is next seen by the wood-pile, hiring a man to chop the wood, while he sits down and puts on a pair of blinders, so he cannot see the man work. Mother comes along and the man shows her the big pile of wood he has chopped. Mother gives the man a drink and carries the wood into the house. The next scene shows a carpet on the line. Father instead of beating it, crawls into it. Mother and daughter now start in to beat the carpet, and Father gets covered with dust and a good beating before they discover him. The final scene shows Father seated in a chair in the kitchen. Mother and Daughter are washing. Father's chair gets caught in some clothes in the wringer, and he is thrown to the floor and the entire contents of the wash tub pours over him, and he is almost smothered in the suds. Code, VATERLOS. Length 350 feet. Class A. Price.....$52.50

THE SERENADE. (T) In twelve scenes of cyclonic activity and bewilderment. The picture is as full of action as a Japanese torpedo boat. It is not a case of one or two laughs, but a roar at the start with spasms at the finish. Read the synopsis, and then place your order at once, and be the first in the field with the most excruciating subject ever accomplished in animated photography. SCENES:

1—Freddie "Romeo" serenades his Fannie "Juliet" in balcony. "Old Man" turns loose deluge of water—and the dog. Chase begins.

2—Freddie, with dog hanging to his basement terrace, takes to the "tall timber." Old man and Fannie roll down hill in attempting to follow.

3—Freddie with Nellie as a half-Nelson attachment, gains street, and eludes old man by doubling tracks around telegraph pole.

4—In a mad scramble through the bushes 'Dad" and Fannie fall into a deep hole.

5—Freddie attempts to scale 12-foot stone wall, but Miss Bull-Terrier is a heavy weight. An amusing struggle

6—The modern Romeo manages to elude canine leech long enough to get ladder and climb wall.

7— Foxy Nellie" skirts the wall and Freddie drops into her waiting jaws 'Dad" and Fannie scale the wall and "hit the trail."

8—With every ray of hope and 67 per cent of his trousers gone, Freddie makes for the lake. A high parapet halts him long enough for the old man and the girl to catch up and the whole bunch roll down the sandy hill.

9—Excitement increases. Freddie hurdles parapet and takes a flying leap into the waters that brought Capt. Streeter to Chicago.

10—Dad neck and neck in race. Leaps into lake and fierce struggle takes place.

11—Witn the dog still clinging to him, Freddie escapes the old man and a watery grave, with Fannie's aid and a fish pole, and the chase is resumed up the street. Hatch arrives in the scene in an "auto" and picks up Fannie.

12—Final scene shows the tenacious old man pursuing his would-be son-in-law up the middle of the street. Hatch and Fannie race by him Freddie is lifted into the "auto." THE ESCAPED LUNATIC. (CD) This is one of the most excitin and at the same time one of the most laughable subjects ever made A lunatic confined in a barred cell, labors under the delusion that h is the Emperor Napoleon. In the first scene we see him in an alter cation with his keepers over the quality of food furnished him. Th keepers set upon him and beat him unmercifully and leave him un conscious. He comes to and determines to escape. Wrenching a leg from a table he bursts the bar of a window, smashes the glass and crawls out. The next scene shows him dropping a distance of 30 feet to the ground below. He picks himself up and starts off at a run. The faces of the keepers appear at the cell window for an instant, but quickly they come running out of the main entrance to the asylum and start in pursuit of the escaped lunatic. Then follows a series of thrilling and ludicrous chases, through the most picturesque scenery. The lunatic is cornered on a bridge over a waterfall, but manages to overcome the keeper and hurls him into the rapids below. In another scene he crosses a torrent on a slender wire cable swinging loose above it. Time after time the lunatic succeeds in circumventing his keepers. Finally, however, he tires of the chase and is seen running back to the asylum. He leaps the 30 feet back to the window and when the keepers, all blown and covered with mud, rush into the cell, Napoleon I is calmly reading a newspaper. Code, GAUNACA. Length 617 feet. THE FOUR TROUBLESOME HEADS. (U) This film introduces some very ingenious tricks. The magician approaches, and after the usual bow, proceeds with the trick of taking off his own head, placing same on a table at his side. He is immediately supplied with another head, and in order to show the audience that there is no illusion about the trick, he crawls under the table upon which is supported his first head. A second head is also removed from his shoulders, and finally a third, all being exact likenesses of the first. He is supplied with a fourth head, and converses with the three severed heads on the table. Being musically inclined, he takes up a banjo and commences to play. The three severed heads are seen to sing, much to the discomfort of the magician, who smashes the banjo over two of them, causing them to disappear. The third head is treated likewise, whereupon he throws his fourth head into the air, which again descendes onto his shoulders. The magician then makes his bow and retreats from the scene. A surprising and marvelous illusion. Code word, BELT. Length, 75 feet. Price.....$9.00

WHENCE DOES HE COME? (Q) We see a man jump out of the water. His trousers, hat, coat, shoes follow him. At last his umbrella appears; the burning pipe is seen, and when he is ready to leave his little dog jumps out of the water. It is nothing left to us but to ask: Whence does he come? LOVE WILL FIND A WAY. (G) A young man calls on his best girl. In response to his call at the door his sweatheart's mother appears and upon seeing the young man tells him not to show his face again. Here the girl appears, and exchanges glances with her lover. The mother commands her daughter to go to her room. Upon hearing this the lover decides to wait awhile outside. Soon his girl appears at a window on the top floor of the house, and they arrange a method of meeting. A telegraph pole which is located in front of the house is used as a means of gaining this point. The scene now changes to a view of the top of the house, and the girl is seen at her window. Soon the young man is seen climbing the pole. As he reaches the top and is directly opposite the window, the girl secures a broom and endeavors to help him reach her. Without thinking about the girl's strength, the lover, in his anxiety to reach her, catches hold of the broom and swings free of the pole. His weight is too much for his sweetheart, and she lets go of the broom, precipitating the young man to the sidewalk, many feet below. As he strikes the ground his body is knocked to pieces. The ambulance is called and the remains carefully laid on a stretcher, but as the orderlies are about to place them in a wagon, they suddenly become jointed together and the young man sits up. This frightens the ambulance attendants, police, and the girl's mother, and they run off in all directions. Upon looking around the lover sees his sweetheart and hastily jumps to her side, embracing and kissing her rapturously. Code word, VARGUIJAR. Length, 140 feet. Class B. Price..$16.80

He takes off his coat and vest and as he starts to unbotton his collar he finds another vest on him, which he proceeds to remove. Before he gets it off, he finds two more on him. This enrages him but finally he succeeds in getting down to his bathing suit, walks toward the water and is about to dive in, when he finds he is fully dressed again. He again removes his clothes and jumps hastily into the water, but things are hastily reversed, and he jumps backwards out of the water with another suit on him. This discourages him, and he leaves the place. Code wore, VARELLA. Length, 125 feet. Class B. Price..... .....$15.00

ASTRONOMER'S DREAM. (T) Here is shown an observatory, with telescope, star charts and all accessories. The old Astronomer is at work over his calculations. Through the aperture in the dome the full moon is visible. First there appears a beautiful vision of a lovely lady, who disappears again. Then follow a number of startling events in rapid succession. The moon comes down from the sky, right into the observatory. She has eyes that move and a mouth that opens and shuts. All sorts of strange things comes out of the Moon's mouth, and the old Astronomer is so frightened that he throws chairs and books and instruments into the big slit. Suddenly the moon disappears into the middle distance and takes the shape of a crescent. Perched upon one of the horns of the moon is a lady in scanty attire. Then the old Astronomer awakes—alas! it is all a dream. Code word, BEAR. Length, 200 feet. Price....$24.00

DOG FACTORY. (F) On the walls of the factory different varieties of frankfurters are hung. Each is marked with the breed of dog it is made from. A combined dog and bologna making machine is seen in the foreground of the picture, and two Germans are working industriously over it. A tramp enters with about a dozen dogs of various types, and sells them to the Germans. They are soon transformed into sausage and the tramp departs with the cash. Next one to enter is a customer, a dude, and he wants a spaniel. The dog is made and sold, and chappie disappears. A number of customers follow and are supplied with dogs that suit their fancies. Finally a tough enters and wants a bull dog. A Boston Bull is produced, but this does not suit him. He wants a fighting bull. The fighting bull is made, and as it jumps from the machine, it grabs the tough by the pants, and dog and man mix up in a rolling match all over the floor. The tough finally releases himself and disappears, leaving the fighting bull dog to be again turned into bologna. Code word, VALETANT. Length, 240 feet. Class A. Price..... .....$36.00

LA CHIMERA. (U) Our friend, the magician, first steps forward and produces an ivory billiard ball from space. With the wave of his hand he changes it into a full sized bowling ball, and in order to show that there is no limit to his ability makes one more change and holds in his hand a large cloth, known in magician circles as a "foulard." From this he produces a sleek and prosperous-looking rabbit, and then, apparently from nowhere, the stage is graced by the appearance of a charming lady in fancy costume; holding the foulard in front of the lady, but allowing her head and shoulders to appear, he gradually raises the lower part of the cloth, when it is seen that her "visible means of support" have entirely disappeared, leaving only the head and shoulders pendant in the atmosphere. These in turn disappear and the stage is empty until a large hoop covered with paper is swung from side to side and, upon a pistol being fired, the lady makes her final appearance by jumping through the hoop as it swings and the film closes with her final bow to the audience. WEARY HUNTERS AND THE MAGICIAN. (G) Two hunters who have procured no game are seen to be lamenting their misfortune in a forest. A magician appears and advises them that for a remunerative consideration he will produce a quantity of game for them. They immediately accept his proposition and hand him the money. The magician then takes off his silk hat and produces a large number of rabbits therefrom, and as they scamper through the forest, the hunters bring them down with their shotguns. They are profuse in their thanks to the magician, and stringing their rabbits on a pole, start for home in a victorious manner. Code word, UNINJURED. Length, 60 feet. Price..... $7.20

"THE PRINCE OF DARKNESS" OR THE DRUNKARD'S DELUSION. (D) Some very remarkable effects are obtained by the reversal of the motion of the negative. METAMORPHOSIS OF THE KING OF SPADES. (Q) The conjurer appears and produces a pack of cards. After performing various sleight-of-hand tricks, he picks up the king of spades, and by a few passes, enlarges it until the body of the picture is full life size. He places the card end up on a chair. Next he commands the picture to come to life. A game of cards is introduced, but from the king's gesticulations it is evident that the conjurer is trying to cheat. Before the king has a chance to rise from his seat to remonstrate, however, the magician commands him to return to his inanimate form. This done, the card is gradually reduced to its original size. After shuffling the pack of cards, the conjurer tosses them on the table, where they are mysteriously built up in the form of a house. Length, 98 feet. Price..... .....$11.76

ANIMATED CARTOON. (M) An artist appears and proceeds to draw the face of a boy on the canvas. He no sooner draws the outline, than the face assumes life and makes grimaces to everybody. Our artist proceeds to draw a bottle of wine, a glass and a cigar, which he takes from the canvas and makes use of in the "good old way." The face on the canvas takes exception to the treatment received at the hands of the artist and shows his displeasure by performing somersaults on the canvas; each time he turnes he presents a different face. THE BEGGAR'S DREAM. (T) A poor ragged beggar is seen stretched upon his straw bed in a dilapidated attic. The scene which follows illustrates the dream of a poor hungry man. A fairy suddenly makes her appearance, and with her magic wand causes the attic to change into the interior of a palatial drawing room, in the center of which she introduces a table laden with a sumptuous dinner. The beggar still in his rags, is transformed into a club swell. He is visited by a charming young lady, attired in the height of fashion, whom he greets and invites to partake of the dinner before him. As they seat themselves the chairs disappears from under them, and the entire scene changes to that of the original scene—the attic—with the poor beggar kicking and rolling on the straw mattress, evidently disturbed by the thoughts of the dinner, and so forth, which was only a dream. DOWN IN THE COAL MINES. (N) SCENE 1—The picture opens showing the coal miner's family at home. Father and son leave for their work. They kiss their dear ones good-bye, not knowing if they ever may return. SCENE 2—Men and horses are carried down to the mines, and we see them all at their dangerous and hard work. The little coal cars are seen bringing the coal to the air-shafts, from where they are hoisted to the surface. SCENE 3—A terrible explosion is heard. The lights are extinguished. Darkness is throughout. Water rushes into the mines before the workmen have time to save themselves. Soldiers, firemen and other willing hands come to the rescue, risking their own lives. SCENE 4—Among the victims of the mine explosion is the son whom we have seen parting in the morning. The mother rushes frantically to the side of her dead son, and the most dramatic incident closes this beautiful film. Code, DOWCOMINE. 650 feet. Price.....$71.50

VICTIMS OF THE STORM. (Q) A long standing feud between two neighboring families makes the association of the respective son and daughter objectionable. The scene opens showing the gardens of the two families divided by a wall. The parents are seen scolding their children. The young lovers, seeing that they cannot meet undisturbed in their paternal homes, go walking in the woods, and are surprised by a terrible thunderstorm. Seeking refuge under a huge tree the young man is struck by lightning, and the unhappy girl has to run for help, and with the aid of some friends she carries him to her father's home. A KENTUCKY FEUD. (D) The great Hatfield-McCoy duels shown in moving pictures. The story is based on the historic feud of the Hatfield-McCoy clans, both of which are now about exterminated by years of duels and assassinations. Nowhere in the world, except possibly in Corsica, has warfare between two families been carried to such bitter extremes. Throughout our production runs the romantic love story of Jim Hatfield and Sally McCoy, and the culminating scene of the tragedy is a duel to the death with bowie knives between the girl's brother and her lover, witnessed by the girl herself. In this case a small boy of the McCoy clan is caught by Jim Hatfield stealing apples, and Jim gives him a thrashing. At an auction sale the youngster shoots at Jim, but kills the elder Mrs. Hatfield instead. The Hatfields take their mother home, and threaten vengeance. The carriage arrives at the Hatfield home. Sally McCoy comes to warn her lover and beg him to take no part. The elder McCoy comes and orders her home; a bullet from a Hatfield rifle strikes him, and he rolls off his horse. The Hatfields, not satisfied, start out to storm the McCoy house. Jim Hatfield coaxes Sally McCoy, his sweetheart, to go with him. The flight is discovered, and another McCoy is killed. The McCoys start in pursuit. They meet on a mountain road, and a Hatfield is killed. Sally McCoy deserts Jim, and returns to her own kin. The Hatfields pursue. The fight continues until only Sally McCoy survives. The last three scenes will be furnished in moonlight effect if desired. Length, 675 feet, Price $81.00

THE TRAIN WRECKERS. (G) The opening picture shows a neat little cottage, where an elderly man, who is switchman in a nearby railroad tower house, lives with his pretty daughter. The girl appears on the porch. Her lover, a locomotive engineer approaches, and she runs to meet him. He walks with her to the house, then continues on his way to work. The next view shows the switch tower. The girl has arrived with her father's dinner. He is setting the switches for a train approaching in the distance. When he has finished his dinner she takes the pail, and starts for home, but on entering some woods, suddenly comes upon a gang of roughly dressed men sitting on the ground and talking with great earnestness. Quickly stepping behind a nearby tree, she learns they are planning to wreck the next express train. One of the gang, coming up from behind, discovers the girl, rushes up and seizes her. The men then all gather around, gag her, and bind her to a tree. They then hurry away to a wild spot in a bend of the road. Cross ties are placed on the track and the gang hide among the trees close by and wait for the train. The scene changes to the woods where the girl was left. She is vainly struggling to free herself, when her pet dog appears. He succeeds in partly tearing away the ropes, and after a hard tussle she unties herself, and sends the dog off to warn her father. He soon returns, closely followed by the girl's father. In the meantime the girl has picked up her dinner pail, and reached the track before the arrival of the train. She quickly removes her red petticoat and hurries up the track to flag the express, and the engineer brings the train to a stop within a few feet of the cross ties. The crew remove the ties from the track, and with the passengers gather round the girl, and shower thanks and congratulations upon her. Everybody then boards the train, which starts off with all the passengers waving their hands and shouting farewells to the little heroine. She starts for home, and one of the train wreckers sneaks up behind and knocks her senseless. The whole gang appear, and maddened by their fruitless attempt to wreck the train, place her body across the track with her head over the rail. The next scene shows the gang arriving at a railroad tool house. With a heavy timber they batter in the door, steal the hand car, place it on the track, and make their escape. We now return to where the wreckers left the girl on the track. A train is rapidly approaching, but the engineer, who is the girl's lover, hurries along the running board and climbs down on the pilot, and just as she appears doomed, he reaches down and lifts the unconscious girl from the track, while the train rushes on. The train is brought to a stop and the passengers rush out pell mell, and aid in restoring the girl to consciousness. Her father now appears, and she gives him and the train crew the details. Uncoupling the engine, the train crew, with a number of volunteers, start off in pursuit of the desperadoes, while some of the passengers carry the girl into the car. The engine is fast gaining on them. One of the crew is in a crouching position on the locomotive pilot, keeping up a steady rain of shots at the fleeing men. One by one the desperadoes fall, either killed or mortally wounded, until only one is left on the hand car. Jumping from the car he is brought down by a shot from one of the crew, but raising himself on his elbow, his last shot kills the man who bravely stuck to his post on the engine pilot, while a volley from the remnant of the train crew ends his life. LIFE OF AN AMERICAN POLICEMAN. (F) Copyrighted Dec. 1905. These pictures were taken with the sanction and co-operation of the Police Commissioners of New York City, and all the policemen who took part in the pictures were members of the Metropolitan Police Department. The pictures are perfect as to detail, action and surroundings, and depict in the most realistic manner actual daily life and happenings. The pictures were first shown at the benefit entertainment for the Police Relief Fund, at the Grand Central Palace, New York City, December 5, 1905, and at a similar entertainment at Schwaben Hall, Brooklyn, N. Y., December 12, 1905, and subsequently at Proctor's Twenty-third Street, New York City, and they caused a tremendous sensation everywhere. The "River Tragedy" and the "Desperate Encounter Between Burglar and Police" are undoubtedly the most thrilling and realistic scenes. In order to give a selection between these two scenes, as well as to keep the production within a reasonable length, we will furnish this picture complete with either of the above scenes, as the customer may select, the length in each case for the entire production being 1,000 feet. SCENE 1—At home. SCENE 2—Going on duty. SCENE 3—Lost child. SCENE 4—Street crossing. SCENE 5—River tragedy. A young woman falls off the pier into the river and is rescued. OUT IN THE STREET. (D) The opening picture shows the home of a poor woman, who is left with no means of support for her two small children, one of them a baby in arms. To save the baby's life, she places her baby in a basket, goes out into the winter night, and leaves her baby at a millionaire's door. The subsequent scene shows how gladly it is received by the childless wife of the rich man. While she has been away, all of her goods are thrown into the street, her two-year-old child placed on top of the heap, and left at the mercy of the storm. A policeman takes the child to a place of safety, but when the mother comes back, she finds her second child gone and her little home in ruins. In desperation she rushes back to the home of the rich man where she has left the baby, and, exhausted with cold and hunger, she faints on the doorstep. She is there discovered by the benevolent millionaire, and is taken into the house, revived and her baby restored to her. The millionaire and his wife accompany her back to her home, and there the picture comes to a happy ending when the second child is restored to her by the policeman, and her rent is paid and she is left with sufficient means to take care of her two youngsters. This picture has made a hit wherever it has been shown. It has excellent photographic quality. Code, RESUMERONT. 640 feet. Price.....$76.80

THE "WHITE CAPS." (F) During the Westward March of civilization in America during the past fifty years, certain social conditions developed which had to be regulated and controlled by unusual methods. A lawless and criminal element almost invariably accompanied the advance guard of civilization, and to keep this element in check, the law-abiding citizens were compelled to organize for their own self protection. The "Vigilantes" during the gold excitement of '49 in California, and the "White Caps" of more recent years in Ohio, Indiana and other Western States, are well known organizations which dealt summarily with outlaws and the criminal classes in general. In a most realistic manner, the methods employed by the "White Caps" to rid the community of undesirable citizens is shown in a case where a drunkard and wife beater is given a good coat of tar and feathers. THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY. (G) This sensational and highly tragic subject has made a decided "hit" wherever shown. It was posed and acted in faithful duplication of the genuine "holdups" made famous by various outlaw bands in the far west. While this film has probably been by far the greatest selling film ever made, and was when taken perfect from a photographic standpoint, and is true to life, the negative has done such heavy service that it is no longer possible to make films from it that are satisfactory, hence we would recommend in its place "THE TRAIN WRECKERS." Code, VACUN. Length, about 740 feet. Price.....$111.00

"RAFFLES"—THE DOG. (G) This picture illustrates how "Raffles" the dog, was first educated at home in the art of stealing and how he afterwards, through the guidance of his master and mistress, was able to put his education to practical use. The first victim is an old gentleman napping in the park, who is relieved of his watch and chain. In the next scene "Raffles" is seen jumping into an express wagon, and taking out one of the packages. Next, while the back of the butcher boy is turned, "Raffles" steals a string of sausage from the butcher boy's basket. "Raffles" jumps into the carriage of some fashionable ladies and takes a package, which is lying on the seat. He next takes a dress suit case, which a lady sets down on a crossing, while waiting for a car. Lady discovers her loss and a lively chase follows after "Raffles" and his pals. Policemen and numerous bystanders join in the chase, which soon becomes very exciting, up and down several streets, down a steep bluff, over a wire fence, down a flight of stone steps and down another steep bluff they all go, when finally by the aid of two policeman the master and mistress are caught and the stolen articles all recovered. Code, VASCULADO. Length 635 feet. Price..... $95.25

THE BURGLAR'S SLIDE FOR LIFE. (G) The interior of a room in an apartment house. A burglar enters and seeing a portable vapor bath in the corner of a room gets into it to hide. Two ladies enter. One lights the lamp and explains how it is operated. Steam begins to come out of the top of the bath. Out jumps the burglar carrying the cloth sides with him, and makes his escape out of the window. The dog rushes and follows the burglar. The burglar grabs a clothes line stretched from the house to a pole in the back yard and endeavors to reach the ground by a succession of slides. The dog overtakes the burglar in mid-air and securely fastens his teeth in the burglar's trousers. They both drop to the ground and after a struggle the burglar manages to free himself and climbs to the top of a ten foot fence. The excitement has now aroused the whole neighborhood and in every back yard window a man or woman is leaning out cheering and yelling to the dog. The dog leaps to the top of the fence and pulls him back into the yard. While the dog keeps his hold the women beat the burglar with brooms, to the delight of all. Code VARTABED. Length, 265 feet. WHO SAID CHICKEN? (M) All coons like chicken. This fellow is no exception to the rule, and to see the expression on his face when somebody mentioned the toothsome bird to him proves the fact conclusively. The subject is that of a darkey of immense proportions talking to the audience. The head occupies the entire screen. Incidentally the subject was that of a southern darkey, said to be 98 years of age. He has about three teeth left and they look like old fashioned tombstones. A perfect picture of facial expression. Code, CALOMEL. Length 50 feet. Price..... $5.50

THE CHICKEN THIEF. (D) Copyrighted 1904 as a Dramatic Production. A rollicking comedy of the Sunny South; full of laughter from start to finish. A typical Southern darkey is devouring a section of fried chicken. The play opens with an interior view of a genuine chicken coop in which over a hundred chickens are seen on their roosts at night. Two chicken thieves creep into the coop and gather in a bagful of the plumpest fowls. When the theft is discovered, the farmer and his son set an immense bear trap outside of the coop, preparatory to another visit by the thieves. Next scene is shown a chicken dinner in a typical darkey cabin, faithful in every detail to Southern mannerism. The chicken thieves go back after another load, and the bear trap gets in its work. The succeeding scenes are tinted to give the effect of moonlight. There is a wild pursuit through the woods and country roads by a posse of farmers, and one of the chicken thieves is brought down by a charge of bird shot. The other with the bear trap still on his leg, arrives at his cabin while a dance is in progress and is concealed in the attic. The farmers burst in and search the place, and are about to leave when there is a terrific crash, and the chicken thief comes down through the ceiling amidst a shower of lath and plaster head first, hanging by one leg fastened in the bear trap which is caught to the rafters. It is magnificent in photography throughout. Code, RETEJIA. 758 feet. Price..... $90.96

THE GREAT JEWEL MYSTERY. (C) A Pinkerton Detective story in motion pictures—Sherlock Holmes Outdone—One of the greatest detective mysteries in the annals of the Pinkerton service relates to the disappearance of a jewel casket containing over $100,000 worth of gems—necklaces, tiaras, bracelets, brooches rings, etc.,—belonging to a prominent New York society woman. This casket was shipped by one the great express companies from New York to Newport at the opening of the society season, and although every precaution was taken to guard the treasure, it vanished from the sealed express car enroute, and no trace of it has ever been found. Many theories have been advanced as to the probable manner of the theft, and in this remarkable moving picture production we illustrate the most plausable of these theories. This explanation of the mystery has it that the thieves shipped one of their number by express in a coffin box arranged so that the occupant could get the necessary supply of air, and also be enabled to raise the lid, let himself out, gain possession of the casket and get back into his box unobserved. The series of scenes are as follows: 1—A close view of the jewel casket with its glittering ornaments. 2—The hangout of the thieves, three men and one woman. 3—Delivery of the coffin box and imitation of grief. 4—A messenger from Tiffany's delivers the jewel casket to the express car. 5—Undertaker places coffin box containing thief in the car. 6—Thief gets out of coffin box, shoots express messenger, hides his body, gets jewel casket and returns to coffin box. 7—The murder is discovered and railroad detectives arrive. 8—Undertaker and fake mourners taking coffin box from car. 9—At the police station a number of detectives are assigned to the case. 10—The thieves rendezvous dividing the spoils; arrival of police who break the windows and capture the thieves. THE HOLD-UP OF THE LEADVILLE STAGE, (U) A wonderfully realistic series of scenes and incidents made in Colorado and following with exceedingly fine accuracy the event that made Colorado famous in the early days. "The Hold Up of the Leadville Stage" is a motion picture with the most exciting and rapidly varying situations. The negatives were made in Colorado, on the old Leadville stage road through the Garden of the Gods and Ute Pass. The scene of the attack and holdup, as well as the actual stage coach and driver, were the identical ones where twenty-five years ago robberies of gold dust from the stage were of almost daily occurrence. General Dave Cook, still alive and living in Denver, was the head of the so-called "Rocky Mountain Detective Agency," and also the leading spirit in the vigilantes who gave chase to the robbers on many occasions. Colonel William F. Cody—Buffalo Bill—was also one of the leading spirits in these chases that usually ended in the death of several persons. The old stage coach, its life ebbed away with the last negative made for this picture and its history, if written, would be a tale almost beyond belief, originally cost $2,500 was fitted inside with silk and brocaded velvet, its heavy leather seats and straps were ornamented with the finest carving and stamping, in fact it was a palace of luxury on wheels. A fine sheet of chilled steel was concealed between the outer findings and many arrows of Indians as well as bullets were turned and the lives of the occupants saved. With all these appurtenances of historical interest and accuracy, the sunny crags and gloomy canons of Colorado for the setting and the actual characters who took part in the early day affairs of blood. this picture will be one to live long and to interest millions. Briefly stated the titles of the series of pictures are as follows: 1—The plot. 2—On the road. 3—Sighted by the enemy. 4—The chase for life. 5—The capture. 6—The pursuit. 7—Lassoing a robber. 8—Desperate struggles. 9—Meeting in the cabin. 10—Duel to the death. 11—The avenging hand. THE RIVER PIRATES. (D) In "The River Pirates" most of the scenes are on the water, the action being based on the recent raid of sound pirates on the summer residence of Mrs. Bonner, at Stamford, Conn., where they secured a safe containing over $12,000 worth of valuables, carrying it bodily to their sloop, and getting away with it in safety. The villain of our plot being jilted by the daughter of a wealthy landowner, he departs vowing vengeance on the entire household. In the rendezvous of the pirates beneath an abandoned pier, the villain puts up a scheme to loot the residence, and when a spy threatens to peach he is promptly seized by the rest of the gang, secured to a pile by ropes, and left to the mercy of the incoming tide. The gang of cut-throats depart, and the spy only releases himself after desperate efforts. The second scene shows the gang in a large rowboat approaching the shore and disembarking. The robbery in the house occurs, the owner is murdered, and the thieves make way with an eight hundred pound safe. This they carry down to the shore, as shown in the succeeding scene, and with difficulty load it into their boat and row out to a sloop, which they capture after a sharp fight with the owner and some of his friends aboard. The safe is then hoisted upon the deck of the sloop, and the pirates are about to make good their escape when the police come into view, guided by the spy of the story. The pirates, in their haste to escape, drop the safe overboard, and it goes down with a tremendous splash. They have just time enough to get into their boats and get away when the police are close after them. A running fight between the boats then ensues, with an exchange of shots and a general uproar. The final scene is back under the pier, where the police close in on the thieves. There is a desperate gun battle and, as a climax, the spy and the gentleman villain have a hand-to-hand fight with knives, resulting in the death of both. The action throughout is exceedingly exciting, and the work in arrangement and composition considerably above the average. Length 837 feet. Price..... $100.44

THE BOLD BANK ROBBERY. (M) SCENE I—The opening of the picture shows the robbers in gentlemen attire. They are short of money and decide to rob a bank.

SCENE II—The robbers are seated in a fashinable cafe where they lay out the plan for the Bank Robbery.

SCENE III—After the plans have been fully talked over, the robbers depart to carry out their bold undertaking.

SCENE IV—The exterior of the hotel, and we see the three robbers leaving the cafe in a carriage for their own apartments, to prepare for the coup.

SCENE V—The carriage has arrived at an apartment house in one of the finest resident sections of the city where the robbers live. They enter while the carriage departs.

SCENE VI—The robbers don long coats and masks and are seen leaving their room.

SCENE VII—A fine automobile has been ordered to bring the robbers to their destination. They take their seats and the automobile starts on its trip.

SCENE VIII—With most beautiful scenery in the background. The automobile with its five occupants comes down the park road at a speed of thirty miles an hour.

SCENE IX—A lonely spot on the road is reached, and the robbers make the unsuspecting chauffeur stop, take him from the automobile bind and gag him and throw him into a ditch beside the road. They enter the automobile and drive away leaving their victim beside the lonely road.

SCENE X—The robbers have reached their destination. They quietly break in the building and enter the interior of the bank when the night watchman discovers them, takes his six-shooter and fires. The robbers return the fire, killing the watchman on the spot.

SCENE XI—The interior of the Bank. The robbers search for the vault. The light effect of this scene is fine.

SCENE XII—The robbers come to the vault and prepare to dynamite the doors. After drilling holes, they fill them with dynamite, light the fuses and the next moment the doors are seen flying open.

SCENE XIII—Two of the robbers enter the vault while two others keep watch on the outside. They take as much money as they can carry and prepare to leave.

SCENE XIV—We see the robbers loaded with sacks of gold making their escape through a window, past where the dead watchman lies.

SCENE XV—The robbers bring t e stolen treasure in the automobile which is seen standing outside the ank.

SCENE XVI—They quickly enter the automobile and make good their escape. We see the automobile flying down the road through beautiful scenery.

SCENE XVII—Two young lovers strolling through the park, discover the senseless form of the chauffeur an while th young lady tries to revive the unfortunate chauffeur, he young man runs away to call the police patrol.

SCENE XVIII—The young man has arrived at the police station. The next moment a squad of policemen headed by a sergeant enter the patrol wagon which immediately dashes down the street to bring help to the unfortunate vi and to pursue the robbers.

SCENE XIX—The robbers have reached their home. They are just going to divide the spoil when they are surprised by the police. After a fierce struggle, three of the robber are overpowered while the fourth one makes good his escape through the window, quickly followed by two of the policemen.

SCENE XX—Now begins a lively chase. The robber jumps from roof to roof, from buildihg to building, closely followed by the two policemen.

SCENE XXI—The next moment he is seen jumping down to the street from the roof of a four story building. Still the two policemen are in hot pursuit.

SCENE XXII—While the policemen come nearer and nearer, the fleeing robber tries an old trick on his pursuers which helps him to once more make his escape.

SCENE XXIII—In his anxiety to get away from the two brave policemen the robber runs through the fields and tries to wade through a river thinking that he might escape his followers, but the two policemen without hesitancy go in the deep water where a fierce struggle encounters between the robber and the two policemen and again the robber escapes,

SCENE XXIV—The robber now jumps on a quickly passing street car and as the pblicemen are on his heels, he leaves from the other side, runs down the street up to the Railroad station still closely followed by his pursuers.

SCENE XXV—He boards an outgoing train and succeeds in getting away from the two gallant policemen who came too late to be able to board the train.

SCENE XXVI—Thus outwitted by the robber, the policemen do not give up the chase. They enter the train dispatcher's office and send a telegram to the next station to capture the robber there when the train arrives.

SCENE XXVII—At the next station, the robber not suspecting that his pursuers are there, makes a dash from the train but jumps directly into the arms of the two waiting policemen. He struggles fiercely to get away but is at last clubbed and led away.

SCENE XXVIII—The three robbers are sentenced to 40 years imprisonment. We see them among the so-called "chain-gang" just as they are led to work.

SCENE XXIX—The three convicts who are sentenced to hard labor are seen working in the stone quarries of the Southern Penitentiary.

SCENE XXX—In the final scene, the three convicts are seen discussing the failure of their Bold Bank Robbery and putting the blame one to another. Length 600 feet. Price..... $66.00

Travel—United States—Colorado.

THE ROYAL GORGE (PANORAMIC.) (U) Everybody who has read or heard of Colorado knows about this wonderful piece of railroad. Many years ago there was a fight between roads for possession of this narrow canon at that time believed to be the only way through the front range of mountains toward Leadville and the golden west. The Arkansas river rushes like a mill race between two walls of rock 2,000 feet high. Nearly or quite four miles of track are displayed in this picture and that includes not only the best portion of the Royal Gorge but the wonderful hanging bridge as well. Code word GRIFFIN. Length, 150 feet. Price.....$18.00

PIKE'S PEAK TOBOGGAN SLIDE. (T) One of the sights of the Cog Road is the little toboggan the workmen use for coming down the road after the trains have all departed for the day. This toboggan is simply a board with a fin that runs between the two rack rails. A piece of pipe extending across the outer rails act as a sort of guide or outrigger. A friction brake rubs between the racks. When a man is seated on the this flimsy affair he can drop down the slide three miles a minute if he so desires. A trail of fire shoots out behind him, and instant death with horrible mangling would follow a single hitch. The run was made by the general manager of the road in person. A fine film photographically and artistically. Code word, TOBOGGAN. Length, 100 feet. Price.....$12.00

ARRIVAL ON SUMMIT OF PIKE'S PEAK. (U) No more wonderful road exists in the world. The engines push the cars up the mountain and preceed them coming down. The rails serve only as a guide. Two rack bars into which cogs fit give a grasp for applying the power. The camera was placed on the summit, and shows the train slowly climbing over the edge of the mountain. When the train stops the people rush out and walk toward the camera. Very interesting. Code word, ARRIVAL. Length, 50 ft. Price.....$6.00

PANORAMA OF COG RAILWAY. (T) A very clever picture made from the front end of a cog train and showing the remarkable scenery between the half-way house and Hell Gate. One of the best of the Cog Road series and a good picture to have if you can't afford to get the set. Code word, UPWARD. Length, 100 feet. Price $12.00

Code word, RED. Length, 200 feet. Price.....$24.00
Code word, ROCK. Length, 140 feet. Price.....$16.80
Code word, LAWN Length, 70 feet. Price.....$8.40

FUN IN THE GLENWOOD SPRINGS. The largest hot water pool in the world. Men and women are swimming, jumping, diving and walking on the banks. A toboggan slide and spring board furnished quite lively bits of stirring motion. Some of the girls slide down the chute and cut up queer antics as they strike the water. Nothing objectonal to any audience. Code word, GLENWOOD. Length, 100 feet. Price.....$12.00

PANORAMA OF UTE PASS. (T) Five miles of the most sublime of Rocky Mountain scenery taken under exceptionally favorable circumstances. Ute Pass extends from Manitou through the mountains at the base of Pike's Peak. The narrow gorge was the pathway down which the Indians brought their sick and infirm out to the healing springs at the base of the peak and legend declares that no matter how fiercely the tribes fought and struggled elsewhere there was never any trouble while the pilgrims were in the pass. This picture was taken from the pilot of a special train running nearly fifty miles an hour down a grade of 225 feet to the mile around sharp curves of sixteen degrees curvature and through nine tunnels. The track winds around the precipitous sides of the gulch over a roadbed blasted out of solid rock. Below, hundreds of feet are the little stream and the wagon road over which millions of dollars of treasure were brought from Leadville in the early days. This was the famous resort of stage robbers. Code word, DOLOMITE. Length, 185 feet. Price..... $22.20

HYDRAULIC GIANTS AT WORK. (U) Hydraulic placer mining is an attractive subject for people who have read of the early days of California. At Telluride Colo., in the heart of the Rockies, are shown two giant nozzles at labor ripping down the side of a mountain and our picture shows the enormous streams of water in very realistic manner. Code word, PLACER. Length, 85 feet. Price..... $10.20

FELLING AND SHIPPING HUGE TREES. (G) It shows the wood choppers felling enormous trees. As each tree falls, it is seen to carry with it all the small trees and many branches of the taller ones. After the trees are cut down they are hauled to the river by dummy engines. A chute of heavy logs is built from a point high up on the banks of the river to a distance of about thirty feet out in the water, and the trees after being trimmed are cut into great logs, are shot down the chutes into the water, where they are coupled together and floated down stream to a landing place near the saw mills. As the logs strike the water when leaving the chutes, they throw the spray high in the air, presenting a beautiful effect in the picture. The landing place above referred to is next shown. Here is another chute up which the logs are hauled and loaded on cars specially constructed for this work. The next and last scene shows a train load of logs being hauled to the saw mil. An excellent piece of photography. Code UPCLIMBING. Length, 375 feet. Class B. Price..... $45.00

BURNING WASTE TIMBER AT PORT BLAKLEY. (D) Largest lumber mill in the world. Shows the disposition that is made of the slabs and waste at this plant. The fire is fed by overhead pulley trams, and is never allowed to die out. Code, GARRIERUNT. 32 feet. Price..... $3.84

THE ADVENTURE OF SANDY McGREGOR. (C.L.-C.) We can recommend this as very funny. A seashore scene, with a large rock in the foreground. A young Scotchman in kilts strolls up the beach, and finding a convenient place where he can bathe, proceeds to disrobe behind the rock and throws his garments to the front. A couple of young ladies come up, and finding the clothes proceed to look for the man. Sandy dodges them around the rock, and some genuinely amusing incidents ensue. Sandy finally escapes from his dilemma by some clever reversed printing. Code, SANGREGOR. 280 feet. Price..... $34.80

Bathing—(see also Seaside.

BATHERS WITH HIGH DIVING. (U) Full of life and action and shows expert diving and swimming. It was taken in the bright sunlight and is an excellent picture. Code word, DIVERS. Length, 50 feet. Price..... $6.00

FANTASTIC DIVER. (R) A gentleman jumps, completely dressed into the water. To our great surprise he jumps back to his place, but being dressed in a fine bathing suit. He gives us a performance of jumping which is specially interesting, as we cannot understand how he can jump out of the water. The last time he reappears from the water he is dressed again in his best suit. Length, 114 feet. Price..... $13.68

A HOT TIME ON THE BATHING BEACH. (T) Showing the famous bathing beach near Chicago (known as Alaska Beach); for a bathing and swimming picture this is the real thing; lots of ladies and gentlemen in swimming with real bathing suits on. Code word, BACON. Length, 40 feet. Price..... $4.80

REVERSING BATHERS. (G) Two swimmers appear on the edge of a beautiful river, evidently having come prepared for a swim as, upon removing their clothing, they are seen to be attired in bathing suits. They dive head first into the water. From this point on the action of the film is reversed, producing very comical effects. The bathers spring backwards out of the water, feet first, and each article of clothing jumps up from the ground and flies into its place, causing shrieks of laughter. Code word UNBREAKING. Length, 100 feet. Price..... $12.50

MIDWINTER BATHING. (C) This astonishing picture was made at the "L" Street baths, Boston, in mid-winter, the temperature being only a few degrees above zero. A number of sturdy men in bathing trunks are first shown playing on the ice, some of them having skates attached to their bare feet and others playing hand-ball. After their exercise they run along the shore, upon which the ice hummocks are piled high and plunge from the end of the ice-covered pier into the freezing waters of the bay. During the entire picture the frosty breath of the men is plainly discernible. The film is of the very best photographic value, and the subject in every way one of the most remarkable ever made. Code, RETENIDAS. 386 feet. Price..... $16.32

DIVING THROUGH PAPER SCREENS—Bath Beach, L. I. (D) A novel form of aquatic sports at Bath Beach. This has a very humorous effect in reversed motion. Code, FUTTERGRAS. 54 feet. Price..... $6.48

DOWN THE SLIDE. (U) A number of young ladies and gentlemen are at the swiming school, when they propose the game of "Follow the Leader," and such sights and scenes will hardly be repeated again in that swimming school. They slide down the toboggan, jump, play leap-frog and do various other things they would little dream of doing had they known the motion picture-machine was in action. This picture is suitable for any class of audience. Code word, SLIDE. Length, 50 feet, Price $6.00

FANCY DIVING—Bath Beach, L. I. (C) A large company of expert swimmers diving from a high platform at Bath Beach, and swimming toward the camera. Code, FUTTERGELD. 54 feet. Price..... $6.48

STEEPLECHASE. (Q) We are at the famous race track of Auteuil, near Paris, France. It is a beautiful spring day, and a large crowd has assembled to witness the event of the season, the great steeplechase. A jolly party of four, two ladies and two gentleman, are watching through their field glasses the most interesting parts of the track, and we follow them from the grand stand, crowded with spectators of both sexes to the large row of vehicles, most of which are coaches. From the busy betting ring we arrive at the paddock, just in time to see twelve spirited horses canter up to the start. The starting machine works splendidly and off they are, to take in their course, hurdles and fences, ditches and walls. But a creek proves fatal to four of the contestants, and only one rider is able to remount his horse. Two men are carried from the place, the riderless horses following the leaders. The pace gets sharper and sharper but the favorite, through badly handicapped by his fall, creeps up to the other horse and under great enthusiasm of the excited crowd, he gains at every jump. The signs at the judge's stand shows us that "Gagnant" has won the trophy. Length 475 feet. Price..... $57.00

SHOOTING RAPIDS, KILLARNEY, IRELAND. (F) Taken after a series of heavy showers, this picture shows the world-famed Rapids at a moment when they are really dangerous. After seeing the interesting and arduous operation of getting a boat up the rapids against the stream and under the picturesque old ruined bridge, we take our stand at one side of the Rapids, looking towards the bridge, and see boat after boat come rushing and twisting under the bridge and whirling past the camera upon the tumbling, eddying waters. Then we have the actual Shooting of the Rapids as seen from the boat. A complete illusion, which for the audience has the same effect as if they were actually undergoing the risk of being in the boat. In the foreground are the anxious faces of the boatmen, straining every nerve to keep the boat straight and steady, and prevent her being tossed against the bridge or boulders of rock on either side. Code word, VARIABLY. Length, 155 feet. Class B. Price $18.60

CEREMONIAL PROCESSION AND FOOD OFFERING. (T) Ceremonial procession attending a "food offering" at Mulinuu, near Apia, Samoa. A Talolo, or food offering, is one of the most interesting of native customs, and is given only when high honor is to be shown some distinguished guest. The procession is headed by four young men, bearing on their sholders the roast pig, which is the joint gift of the men following, who also bear individual gifts of food. Following the roast pig, the chief's daughter and son dance forward and backward in the front of the approaching procession, swinging battle clubs and indulging in movements and war whoops which are most barbarous. Finally, at the feet of the guest of honor, each individual deposits his gifts of food, consisting largely of cocoanuts, bananas and breadfruit. The roadway along which the procession passes is arched with cocoanuts palms, and is most beautiful. Code. ABERRANT. Length, 115 feet. Price. $13.80

MOTION PICTURE FILMS.

FIJIAN WAR DANCE OR MEKE. (U) About two hundred warriors, armed with ponderous war clubs and dressed in the traditional costumes of their forefathers, go through a swift drill or dance, executing some intricate and elaborate foot movements and bringing fans and war clubs into surprising climaxes. Such functions as this always accompanied the cannibal feasts of the old days, when humans were roasted and eaten. Many of these dancers are sons of men who have eaten human flesh many times. Code, ABLAZE. Length 55 feet. Price..... $6.60

SOLOMON ISLAND DANCE. (T) In the Solomon Islands, which lie off the north coast of Australia, is a race of one-time cannibals, who were as depraved as the Fijians. Only eight or ten years ago a party of missionaries were murdered and eaten by them. This shows about fifty men carring idols and crude ornaments, as they execute a wild and jerky dance which has the camibalistic touch in every step. Code, ABLOCATE. Length, 40 feet. Price..... $4.80

DIVING SCENE BY 35 SAMOAN BOYS AT APIA. (T) The Samoan is very fond of the water, and he is a bold and expert swimmer and diver. From a high spring-board the leader dives into the pool, and then the air is filled with a steady line of his fellows, who dive, leap or turn somersaults as they go down; and once in the water they splash and churn the water, while their bright faces express the fun they are having. Code, ABLOC. Length, 55 feet. Price..... $6.60

SURF SCENE, FIJI. (U) This picture opens with the great waves dashing against the huge black rocks, beating itself into a white foam at the bottom, producing a soul-inspiring effect, and also giving a grand idea of the rocky coast of these islands. Code, ABLING. Length, 50 feet. Price..... $6.00

WATERFALL, SAMOA. (U) The scene shows one of the many pretty falls in the small streams of Samoa, giving a fair idea of the scenery in that country. Code, ABORDER. Length, 35 feet. Price... $4.20

FOX HUNT. (F) As they start forth from the kennels, expectation is apparent in every motion. The vaulting of the steeds over bars and the loping of the hounds as they start tend at once to interest all in the exciting chase for the brush that must occur later on. Next comes the triumphal return, where the horses leisurely trot along and the hunters discuss the mishaps and incidents of the day's sport, while the brush at the saddle bow is the trophy in evidence of the enjoyment that they have experienced. Code word, UNCOVER. Length, 125 feet. Price..... $15.00

GOING TO THE HUNT—Hempstead, L. I. (C) This is a companion picture to Meadowbrook Hunt. It shows the members of the hunt galloping on their way to the meet, headed by the pack of hounds, with the master of the hunt and the whippers in. BUCKING BRONCHO CONTEST. (U) Nobody who has not actually seen a real bucking broncho on the western plains can have any idea of what it means to undertake to ride one of them. The bucking broncho has no eastern cousins. The mankiller and terror of eastern farms is a toy and household pet compared with the real article and woe be unto the tenderfoot who tries to get astride this bunch of terror from Sheol. The cowboy maintains a supreme contempt for a man who can't ride anything that moves on four legs. Periodically at Sheridan, Wyo., Cheyenne, Wyo., and Denver, Colo., the cow-boys get together the worst examples of vicious horseflesh holds tournaments,—and then the champion of the world is selected. The picture shows every buck and twist of a fierce beast who tried to throw his rider and kick him to death in an instant. Once he almost succeeded—but the plucky rider finally wore the the horse into submission and won the day. Code word BRENNAN. Length, 125 feet. Price..... $15.00

DOWN THE SLIDE. (U) A number of young ladies and gentlemen are at the swimming school, when they propose the game of "Follow the Leader," and such sights and scenes will hardly be repeated again in that swimming school. SPEARING SALMON. (F) Picture taken on a rapidly flowing shallow river of Canada, and shows a number of salmon fishermen coming down the stream to a fishing spot. They stand in a row about twenty feet apart, and as the salmon come down the stream, spear them. If the first man in the row misses a fish, the second makes an attempt to catch it. Very often the entire row of men try to catch the same fish and miss it. A very lively sport. At the end of the picture one of the fishermen is seen to spear the same fish several times, lifting it out of the water each time, and finally it gets away from him. His antics while trying to catch this particular fish are very funny. Code UPFILLED. Length, 175 feet. Class B. Price..... $21.00

Automobiles.

THE GREAT INTERNATIONAL AUTOMOBILE RACE FOR THE VANDERBILT CUP. (D) A most exciting picture throughout, showing the most dramatic features of the event. As a picture it is much more interesting than any automobile race that has ever been made, as apparently no effort was made to keep the great crowds off the road, and as each car comes along the spectators press back on either side, forming a narrow lane through which the machines race at a speed of seventy miles an hour. In looking at these pictures it seems a miracle that more people were not injured. The photographic quality of the film is all that could be desired, and even when close to the camera the race was clear and sharp. Code, RETEINDRE. 192 feet. Price.....$23.04

Automobile Parade, very fine. (T) 90 feet. Price.....$10.80

A SATURDAY AFTERNOON WITH THE NEW YORK ATHLETIC CLUB AT TRAVER'S ISLAND. (D) The opening scene shows the arrival of the New York trains at the suburban station near the grounds and the departure of the busses and private rigs. Next the crowd of city folks are shown pouring in the main gates of the attractive grounds on Traver's Island. A panoramic view of the water front and the athletic field is given, showing interesting events such as one hundred yard dash, hurdle jumping, hammer throwing, high jumping, pole vault, swimming, etc. After the races another view is given of the crowd, showing various parties having luncheon on the lawn. Is of extraordinary photographic value, and the whole production good. Code, RETIENS. 489 feet. Price.....$58.68

THE YALE CREW—New Haven, Conn. (D) Showing the 'varsity crew of 1899 in a practice spin. The camera was placed on the bow of the Yale launch and followed the crew at close range so that a very good idea of the famous Yale stroke is given. Code, FURNACIBUS. Length 28 feet. Price.....$3.36

YALE-PRINCETON FOOTBALL GAME. (G) First is shown a fine panoramic view of the grandstand at the Yale field, showing the enormous gathering of football enthusiasts who have come from far and near to witness the giants struggle for the college championship. The Tigers are next seen entering the field on a run, closely followed by the Yale men. The principal plays of the game are next seen. Some of the good work of Captain DeWitt of Princeton, and Hogan, of Yale, is also shown. Code word, VACUIST. Length, 230 feet. Class B. Price.....$27.60

POLE VAULTING AT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY—New York City. (D) A remarkably fine picture photographically, showing a group of trained athletes pole vaulting at the Columbia Athletic Field. Five ten-foot vaults are included in the negative. Has been used with great success in reverse motion, the effect of the men leaping backward over the bar, and catching the pole in mid-air being extremely ludicrous. Code, FURFASSINO. Length 50 feet. Price.....$6.00

THROWING THE SIXTEEN-POUND HAMMER. (G) This interesting picture was taken at the Caledonian games, and shows a hammer-throwing contest between some of the leading athletes in the United States. As each man steps forward, grasps the hammer and whirls it around his head for the throw, his muscles stand out in bold relief. Code word, UVOSO. Length, 100 feet. Price ...$12.00

FRENCH BOXERS—Paris, France. (C) Two French experts in the art of Savate, in an interesting exhibition of their system of self-defence which employs both the hands and the feet. Code, FRIVOLE. Length, 30 feet. Price.....$3.60

SANDOW. (C) Showing the great athlete in full length figure occupying the entire size of the film, in a display of his enormous muscular development. Code, MISPREGIO. 19 feet. Price.....$2.28

JEFFRIES EXERCISING IN HIS GYMNASIUM. (G) This is considered the best picture of the world's heavy weight champion James J. Jeffries, ever exhibited. Jeffries walks into the gymnasium at his quarters in Oakland, Cal., accompanied by Billy Delaney, and stepping to the wall begins exercising with the heavy weights. He begins the weight lifting, facing the camera, and during the exercises his back is turned to the audience, when his great muscles stand out in bold relief, and as he strains and tugs at the weights, they give one the impression of huge bands of knotted cords. Code word, UNENTOMBED. Length, 70 feet. Price.....$10.50

FIRST ROUND; GLOVE CONTEST BETWEEN THE LEONARDS. (C) An exciting boxing bout between a man and a woman. Code, MUJERONA. 26 feet. Price.....$3.12

GANS-McGOVERN FIGHT. (U) With the exception of this film there are absolutely no genuine moving picture films representing genuine prize fights on the market. The prize fight films, so called, are either taken by the fight promoters and retained by them for exhibition, not for sale and cannot be procured, or else they are fake reproductions made up the day following the fight by imitators, who endeavor, to the best of their ability, to reproduce that which occurred the evening before between the genuine principals. This is a genuine picture taken while the fight was in actual progress, and represents the Brooklyn Terror, Terrence McGovern, actually engaged in one of his most famous fights. The Gans-McGovern fight took place in Chicago in the month of November, 1900. The enormous arena was brilliantly lighted by over 600 electric arcs, making the scene as bright as day and every detail from figures to the remotest corner of the auditorium, as well as the prize ring itself, is accurately and truthfully depicted in this wonderful film. The complete set embraces 600 feet of film, shows all the preliminaries of the fight, the care of the principals by their seconds and two rounds of as fast and furious fighting as was ever seen in the prize ring. McGovern pursues his usual tactics, went in to knock out his opponent without delay, and as Gans was clever on his part, one of the most brilliant and wonderful exhibitions of sparing ever witnessed was caught by the camera and is here reproduced for the benefit of our patrons. Code word, MCGOVERN. Length, 600 feet Price..$72.00

What The Fighters Say.

The best I ever saw—MCGOVERN.

CORBETT-McGOVERN FIGHT. (C) A thoroughly realistic and very hotly contested representation of the original contest. Clear, sharp and distinct. Sold by rounds if desired. Code, GARRULOUS. Length 723 feet. Price $86.76

THE JEFFRIES-SHARKEY FIGHT—Coney Island, N. Y. (D) This is the greatest and longest moving picture film ever made, covering as it does the entire period of the 25 rounds and intermissions of this contest for the championship of the world between the champion Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey. May be ordered by rounds of 200 feet in any lengths desired. The introductory ceremonials take up 600 feet and the scenes after the fight 25 feet. It is magnificent throughout, the fighters being clear and sharp in every movement, and the crowd is shown to a considerable distance on each side of the ring. Code, GABERDINES. Length 5575 feet. Price per 200 feet... ..... $24.00

Bull Fights.

BULL FIGHT. (F) Grand entrance of bull fighters, including matadors, picadors and banderilleros. Picador is seen teasing a bull. Suddenly the enraged animal charges at the horse, and drives his long sharp horns into him. The picador dismounts, removes bridle and saddle, and shortly the horse staggers from loss of blood and drops dead. The matador is next seen. The bull charges at him, but he quickly steps aside and plunges his sword into the unfortunate animal between the shoulder blades. It reaches the heart and the bull drops over, dead. He is then dragged from the ring by the flunkies. Very realistic. Code UPSENDING. Length, 175 feet. Class B. Price..... $21.00

BULL FIGHT WITH THE MATADORES SENOR DON LUIS A MAZZANTINI AND BOMAITA. (QR) This bull fight, which leaves far behind all those represented up to the present date, is the most complete that exists. The spectator sees in turn all the incidents of the fight. Entrance of the cuadrilla, picadores on horseback, setting of banderillas, estocada, death and removal of the bull. The particularly emotional character of this scene justifies our recommending it most especially, as we are confident that all amateurs of strong emotions will be satisfied. Length, 377 feet. A COCK FIGHT. (C) A lively contest between two game birds in a pit. 50 feet. Price..... $6.00

A LIVELY COCK FIGHT. (U) The interior of a barn, showing two Bantam cocks fighting. Of the many cock fights heretofore exhibited, this is we believe, the liveliest and best, being full of action. From a photographic standpoint it is good. Code COMPLETE. Length, 75 feet. Price..... $9.00

BURLESQUE COCK FIGHT. (M) You see a little Bantam rooster pitted against a supposed bird fully as large as an ordinary man. They fight all around a pit, but the little fellow is victorious, and deals his huge adversary a solar plexus blow without seeming difficulty Code YAWN. Length 65 feet. Price..... $7.15

Indians.

INDIAN FIRE DANCE. (U) This dance is usually held at night, the Redskins dancing around with blazing pine knots in their hands. But as the government authorities would not permit the festivities at night they gave it in daylight. It is especially interesting and strong enough to draw a crowd every night for a week. Code word PYROTECHNIC. Length, 100 feet. Price..... $12.00

MOQUI INDIAN RAIN DANCE. (C) A most valuable record of the wierd and unique ceremonies of the Moqui, Zuni, Navajo and Crow Indians. Many of these dances take place at very rare intervals; then for the most part they are guarded very jealously from the eyes of the curious white man. In the Rain Dance of the Moquis over a hundred Indians take part. They are arrayed in the most gorgeous trappings of their tribe. On their heads are enormous grotesque masks heavily decorated with eagle feathers. The chief warriors and medicine men of the tribe lead the dance. In the shadow of the adobe houses sit the old men of the tribe beating time with their tom-toms and rattles. This picture, with appropriate music and effect, is most impressive. Code word GAUFRE. Length, 118 feet. Class A. Price $17.70

RAIN DANCE AT ORABI. (C) A sacred dance by the Zuni Indians, in full festival attire. Several hundred of the Indians take part, dancing in unison in a long line at the foot of a terrace of characteristic Zuni mud houses, from the tops of which the squaws wrapt in gaudy blankets watch the mysterious ceremony. Code word GAUGAMELIA. Length, 216 feet, Class A. Price $32.40

INDIAN HIDEOUS DANCE. (U) Large body of Indians dressed in most hideous costumes imaginable hold dance in the middle of Main Street in Sheridan. Government officers prohibited this dance on prairie and insisted that it be held where enough people would be on hand to quell any disturbance. An amusing feature is the fact that the usual crop of Indian dogs is present and some canines —half coyote—get very prominently into the picture. One of the most strange and weird Indian religious rites ever seen and its full significance is plainly shown in the picture. The Indians say this dance is their idea of the kind of fun the Great Spirit enjoys and they imagine he is sitting on his throne of gold laughing very heartily at the antics of the red children down below. Code word, HIDEOUS. Length, 50 feet Price $6.00

CROW INDIAN WAR DANCE. (C) This is an exceedingly picturesque scene taken in the midst of a Crow encampment with typical Indian teepees in the background. Four old Indians sitting cross-legged upon the ground beat upon their tom-toms, while the warriors, gay in their war paint and eagle feathers, dance around them. Code word GAUKELFUHR. Length, 51 feet. Class A. Price $7.65

CROW INDIAN FESTIVAL DANCE. (D) Taken amid the same surroundings as the previous picture and showing the same lot of Indians in a different dance. Code word GAUKELMANN. Length, 57 feet. Class A. Price $8.55

SHOSHONE INDIANS IN SCALP DANCE. (T) Uncle Sam has forbidden any more of these fierce ceremonies that stir up all latent bad blood in the Red men. The squaws are not permitted around while the dance is going on. The dancers did not like to have the photographer around and one—the most evil looking of the band—tried several times to shoot an arrow into the lens. He was pulled away by the agent who stopped the dance and compelled the Indians to disperse. Code word SHOSHONE. Length, 80 feet. Price $9.60

UTE INDIAN SNAKE DANCE. (U) Never before have the Utes permitted the photographing of their snake dance. This wierd rite is performed every fall after the harvest has been good and is a tribute to the snakes who are supposed to bring plenty of rain next season. After dancing around once or twice the chief puts his snake in his mouth. Some of the Indians drop their reptiles on the ground and tease them with feathers to get them to strike. This film is clear and bright and is not only fine photographically but is a most interesting subject. Code word SNAKES. Length, 60 feet. Price $7.20

THE PIONEERS. (C) This frontier picture taken in the wilderness shows the massacre of a settler and his family by the Indians, the burning of his cabin, the captivity of a little girl and her final rescue by Kit Carson and his scouts.

1. THE HOME IN THE WILDERNESS—Here we see the settler with his wife and babies in his rude log cabin in the wilderness. A pretty scene of domestic felicity.

2. BURNING OF THE CABIN AND MURDER OF THE SETTLERS—A little girl runs in with alarm. The door is quickly locked and barred and the long rifle appears at the loop-hole and is frequently fired. The Indians gradually close in on the ill-fated home, and finally have it ablaze from a fire of brushwood. The door is then battered down and the entire family, with the exception of the little girl, cruelly murdered.

3. DISCOVERY OF THE BODIES. THE OATH—Kit Carson and his scouts come upon the scene, find the ruins of the cabin and the mutilated bodies, and vow an oath of vengeance. A very impressive scene.

4. CROSSING THE MOUNTAIN—The Indians, with the captive girl, are seen crossing a mountain trail.

5. THE TRAPPERS ON THE TRAIL—The same scene as No. 4, showing Kit Carson and his men following the trail. The scenery is very wild and picturesque.

6. RESCUE OF THE CHILD FROM THE INDIANS—This is the last picture of the series, and shows Kit Carson and his scouts in a fierce fight with the Indians, and the rescue of the little girl. Code, GATTESCHE. 610 feet. Price.....$73.20

STAGE HOLD-UP. (U) Indians attack stage coach. One of the passengers is shot and falls off the coach into the dust. Indians follow, shooting and yelling. Cowboys to the rescue. Indians driven off in confusion. Code word BANDITS. Length 50 feet. Price....$6.00

NAVAJO INDIAN TUG-OF-WAR. (D) An amusing contest between about twenty Indians, ten to a side. They are dressed in the motley garments of civilization, and their long black hair tossed by the breeze gives them a very picturesque appearance. Code word GAUFRURE. Length, 35 feet. Class A. Price $5.25

INDIAN HORSEMANSHIP. (C) A Crow Indian riding and subduing a bucking broncho. Code word GAUKELBILE. Length, 27 feet. Class A. Price $4 05

GIRL'S DEPARTMENT, ALBERQUERQUE SCHOOL. (C) A procession of the Indian girls of the school, including representatives of practically every well-known tribe in the country, from Florida to Alaska. The girls range in age from five or six years to fifteen or sixteen, and are a splendid evidence of the good work which the government is doing at this school. Code word GAUFFERING. Length, 23 feet. Class A. Price.... ....$3.45

Farms and Farming.

CORN HARVESTING. (U) This wonderful machine performs the same functions for corn as the ordinary harvester does for small grain. Owing to the greater weight the successful harvesting of corn has presented many difficulties; the latest type of machine, however, has overcome the difficulties, and in this picture is clearly seen the almost human-like ability with which the machine cuts, gathers and binds the corn. Code word, CORN. Length, 100 feet. Price...$12.00

Husking Corn. (T) 50 feet. Price $6.00

ALLIGATOR FARM. (M) During the summer of 1903 at Atlantic City, N. J. the famous summer resort, there was an Alligator Farm, on which thousands of these huge monsters were bred. We succeeded in obtaining the only moving picture ever taken of a large number in captivity, and it is full of animation. The figures are large. Very interesting Length, 75 feet. Price $8.25

TWO HOURS AFTER HATCHING—Ridgefield Park, N. J. (D) This is a companion picture to the above and shows the same lot of chickens two hours after they have emerged from the shell. Very lively and cunning. Code, FUSURORUM. Length, 27 feet. Price.....$3.24

THE GIRLS IN OVERALLS. (T) The story briefly told. Regis Vidal settled on a 725-acre ranch near Gunnison, Colorado. Eight daughters and one son were born. As the family grew up times became hard and the father was compelled to borrow $15,000 on the ranch. He fell into the clutches of a money-lending shark and the worry caused his death. A year later the mother died, leaving the children even more deeply in debt. With true Western spirit the girls and boy decided to work the ranch themselves. The girls donned overalls and took up the heavy drudgery in the field. Like true French maidens they lost none of their graces or charms. Neither could they forego the habit of wearing high-heeled shoes while at work. The film shows the girls at work and at play. Code word, GIRLS. Length, 350 feet. Price.....$42.00

PLOWING, THE MODERN WAY. (T) Shows the old farm, under the manipulation of the Twentieth Century plowing system. We all remember how we used to plow but the picture shows us the modern idea of plowing. Both fascinating and instructive. Code PLOW. Length, 50 feet. Price $6.00

HARVESTING SCENE. (G) Taken in Eastern Washington. Shows combined reapers and threshing machines drawn by thirty eight head of horses, working in the fields. FUN ON THE FARM. (M) On a large farm, the farmers are seen at their work, plowing, sowing and harrowing. A fine picture. Coming home from their work, they find the dairy maids at the wash tub. One of the farmers tries to kiss a pretty maiden. There seems to be no objection on her part, and the fun begins. The farmers are seen stacking corn of immense size. While the farmers are in the field, a darkey visits the chicken coop. Seeing some pumpkins, he also takes a few of these, and quickly escapes. The farmers pursue the fleeing chicken thief. After a long and lively chase, they catch him, tar and feather him, and carry him riding on a rail down to the water, where he gets a good ducking. The dairy maids are seen milking the cows. One of the farmers tries to kiss the prettiest of the maidens, but is punished, to the great delight of the audience. After work is over, boys and girls go for a straw ride to a husking bee. They have lots of fun. Having arrived at their destination, they sing, play games, and enjoy all kinds of merrymaking. One of the farmers tries to kiss the dairy maid, but she laughingly runs away. Husking bee. While husking corn, one of the men finds the red ear, which gives him the privilege of kissing the girls. He tries to kiss the dairy maid, but she again runs away. The last scene shows the farmer sitting by his sweetheart. In his hand he holds the red ear which he shows her, asking for the kiss due him. First she acts somewhat shy, but she soon seems to enjoy the kissing game, and one of the liveliest kissing scenes ends the picture. Length 525 feet. Price $57.75

Children.

THE PUPPIES AND THE LITTLE TEASER. (T) This picture shows what a tease a healthy, lively child can be. She has taken six little puppies away from their mother and lets them play a few minutes in a can of milk, so as to see what they would do. She takes can away from them; then there is trouble and lots of it. Code word. BECK. Length, 50 feet. Price $6.00

CHILDREN FEEDING DUCKLINGS—Wrentham, Mass. (D) Taken on a duck farm, and shows a series of feeding pens, in which are ducks of various ages. The children walk from one pen to another feeding the ducks with corn, a very pretty and interesting sight. Code, FUSCINARUM. 26 feet Price..... $3.12

HEY DING DIDDLE. (M) This picture is made after the old rhyme of:

Hey ding-diddle, the cat and the fiddle,
The cow jumped over the moon;
The little dog laughed to see such sport,
And the dish hopped away with the spoon.

All this and more is seen in this interesting picture, and it is very funny. Code, CATCHUP. 50 feet. Price..... $5.50

Last night I lay a sleeping,
There came a dream so fair;
I stood in old Jerusalem
Beside the Temple there;
I heard the children singing,
And ever as they sang
Methought the voice of Angels
From Heav'n in answer rang;
Methought the voice of Angels
From Heav'n in answer rang!

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
Lift up your gates and sing,
Hosanna in the highest,
Hosanna to your King!

And then methought my dream was changed,
The streets no longer rang
Hush'd were the glad Hosannas
The little children sang.
The sun grew dark with mystery,
The morn was cold and chill,
As the shadow of a cross arose,
Upon a lonely hill,
As the shadow of a cross arose,
Upon a lonely hill,

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
Hark! how the Angels sing,
Hosanna in the highest,
Hosanna to your King!

NOTE—The above words are only a part of the entire song which is covered by the motion picture illustration.

MOTION PICTURE FILMS.

Religious.

Films of the Passion Play, or Life of Christ.

Moving Pictures of the Scenes and Incidents in the Life of our Lord, Jesus Christ.

The Passion Play has become so well known as a reproduction of the life of Christ, and has taken such a prominent place for the education and entertainment of the public, that its value from that standpoint cannot be compared with any other motion picture film that has ever been produced. Several attempts have been made to render a satisfactory reproduction of this sacred drama, but with most of them numerous inaccuracies and lack of dignity subjects them to more or less criticism which detracts much from their value, and is a source of considerable annoyance, both to the audience and the lecturer.

We have selected the only set that we believe to be entirely satisfactory, and are able to submit a complete list covering the entire series of Passion Play films. This reproduction is based on strictly authentic sources, showing the birth, life, sufferings and death of the "Savior." The parts taken by the disciples, the soldiers, and the multitudes, are exceedingly well portrayed.

Without doubt these films represent the highest point of art in photography and the finest ever placed on the market.

To those who are not prepared to purchase the complete set of films, we can furnish as many as they want, as all subjects are sold separately.

Any of the Passion Play Films can be had in 50-foot lengths.

1—THE ANNUNCIATION. (U) Showing Mary seated at a table in meditation. 8—LAZARUS RAISED TO LIFE. (U) The tomb of Lazarus is seen surrounded by relatives and friends, who are mourning his death. The group is apart form the tomb, as Jesus and His disciples are seen passing by. Mary and Martha beseech Jesus to restore Lazarus to life. Christ crosses to the tomb and bids Lazarus to "COME FORTH!" Lazarus is seen to rise from the tomb and come forth. Code word ABSTAIN. Length, 100 feet. Price..... $12.00

9—ENTRANCE INTO JERUSALEM. (T) Christ is seen here entering into Jerusalem, followed by His disciples and a multitude of people of all ages, who are waving palms and strewing His path with flowers, etc., passing under one of the great archways to the city. Code word ABSTAINING. Length, 55 feet. Price .. $6.60

MOTION PICTURE FILMS.

10—THE LAST SUPPER. (U) Christ at the table with His disciples seated right and left. He blesses the bread and wine and offers them to His disciples, who partake of them. Judas is seen in the foreground, and he finally rushes from the room. Code word ABSTAINMENT. Length, 75 feet. Price..... $9.00

11—AGONY IN THE GARDEN. (T) Jesus is seen kneeling at the foot of a large rock, praying for the sins of the world. An angel appears in the background, and, attracted by the holy light, He turns and beholds it. After gazing on each other, the angel disappears and Jesus resumes His prayers. Code word ABSTEMIOUS. Length, 75 feet. Price..... $9.00

12—JUDAS' BETRAYAL AND THE MESSIAH'S ARREST. (T) Christ is seen in the foreground with His disciples apart from Him, with the exception of those who lie upon the ground near Him as He prays. Judas appears and is seen to look about in the trees, then stride forward and kiss Jesus. Malchus, at the head of a guard of soldiers, orders them to advance. Jesus is seized. He surrenders and is dragged away. Code word ABSTENAIS. Length, 60 feet. Price..... $7.20

13—CHRIST BEFORE KING HEROD. (U) A servant of Herod approaches his throne and, after some conversation, Herod orders Christ to be brought before him. His accusers give evidence, and on the strength of this Christ is ordered to appear before Pilate. Code word ABSTENANTE. Length, 85 feet. Price..... $10.10

14—SCOURGING JESUS. (U) This scene shows Jesus dragged in by the infuriated mob. His clothes are torn from His body. He is then tied to a post and beaten. Code word ABSTENIR. Length, 50 feet. Price..... $6.00

15—CROWNING HIM WITH THORNS. (U) After they had beaten Him they array him in a gorgeous robe, crown Him with a crown of thorns and revile Him. Code word ABSTENTION. Length, 50 feet. Price..... $6.00

16—CHRIST BEFORE PILATE, AND CONDEMNATION. (T) This picture shows the mob waiting for the appearance of Christ after He had been scourged and crowned with a crown of thorns. Pilate appears and Christ is dragged before this hater of Jewish leaders, who would, if possible, release Him. The action here shows that Pilate unwillingly sentences Jesus. He washes his hands, saying: "I am innocent of the blood of this righteous man; see ye to it." The populace then revile Jesus, and He is dragged off for the Crucifixion. Code word ABSTENTIOUS. Length, 105 feet. Price..$12.60

17—CARRYING THE CROSS. (U) This scene shows the infuriated mob on the way to the place of Crucifixion. Jesus is assisted by Simon of Cyrene, but weary and suffering from the loss of blood staggers and falls under the burden. For this He is unduly reviled by the Jews. Code word ABSTER. Length, 60 feet. Price... $7.20

18—MIRACLE OF ST. VERONIQUE. (T) Loaded down with the cross and persecuted and beaten by the mob, Jesus is met by the holy woman. St. Veronique comes forward and offers the Lord her handkerchief. She places it upon His face, and, on removing same, the features of our Lord are seen imprinted upon it. Code word ABSTERED. Length, 60 feet. Price..... $7.20

19—CRUCIFIXION (T) This scene shows Christ on the Cross, between the other two crosses upon which are hanging the two thieves who were placed there before the Saviour had arrived. Code word ABSTERGE. Length, 55 feet. Price..... $6.60

20—THE DEATH OF CHRIST. (T) This is a very effective scene. Jesus is seen in agony as the cruel soldiers pierce His side with spears and place the sponge with vinegar to His mouth. In the end the revilers were startled with the cry: "My God, my God, why has Thou forsaken me?" Then, with a look of forgiveness, He said: "It is finished," and the end came. Code word ABSTERGED. Length 50 feet. Price $6.00

21—TAKING CHRIST FROM THE CROSS. (U) Showing Jesus as He hangs to the Cross in death. Mary, the mother of Jesus, and Mary Magdalene are weeping at the foot of the Cross. Joseph and Nicodemus are seen taking down the body of Jesus and carefully wrapping up in a white sheet for burial. The two women kneel and weep as the cortege prepares to depart. Code word ABSTERY. Length, 60 feet. Price.....$7.20

22—PLACING JESUS IN THE TOMB. (T) This scene shows the tomb. Nicodemus and Joseph are seen to enter, carefully carrying the body of our Saviour. Mary, the mother of Jesus, faints and falls into the arms of Mary Magdalene. The body of Jesus is placed in the tomb and the great stone is placed before it. They then depart, leaving Him therein. Code word ABSTERON. Length, 75 feet. Price.....$9.00

23—RESURRECTION. (T) Outside of the tomb the soldiers are seen sleeping. They have been guarding the body of Jesus; an angel is seen standing on the side of the great stone. Suddenly the great stone is seen falling and Jesus is seen coming out and walking away. Mary Magdalene approaches the tomb and discovers that the body of Jesus is carried away. Code word ABSINE. Length, 50 feet. Price.....$6.00

24—ASCENSION. (U) Jesus is leading His disciples to Mount Olivet. There He stops; His disciples gather around Him. Every eye is on Him. Stretching forth His hand He blesses those whom He has loved unto the end, and while He is blessing them He disappears from the earth and a cloud receives Him and carries Him out of their sight. Code word ABSINET. Length, 100 feet Price.....$12.00

25—THE END. (U) A beautiful and fitting climax. Jesus is seen sitting on a throne in Heaven surrounded by His disciples. Angels are hovering around, singing praises to our Lord. Code word ABSENT. Length 50 feet. Price.....$6.00

Religious.

WONDERFUL DRAUGHT OF FISHES. (Q) The scene is laid upon the lake of Galilee with Jesus instructing Peter to cast his net yet another time, in spite of previous discouraging results. The last cast succeeds beyond his expectations, for Peter draws up so many fish that the nets are strained almost to breaking. 131 feet Price $15.72

THE TRANSFIGURATION OF JESUS CHRIST. (Q) Jesus is seen praying on the mountain, while his disciples, Peter, James and John sleep. As they awaken, they see Jesus transfigured. His face as the shining sun, and His raiment white as snow. A luminous cloud appears upon the mountain, and the voice of God says: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Follow Him." 65 feet. Price.....$7.80

ROCK OF AGES. (F) A sublime religious subject, illustrating the well-known hymn. A beautiful girl is seen clinging to a rock, over which huge billows are dashing, sending great volumes of spray and surf high into the air. As the maiden appears to be exhausted, and about to give up in despair, a cross appears on the rock, showing at first thinly, but gradually growing clear until it stands out in bold relief. The maiden then takes courage, and throwing her arms about the cross, clings to it in safety, while the waves continue to surge against her. Code word, UNPRIESTLY. Length, 50 ft. Price.....$7.50

CHRISTIAN MARTYRS. (T,R) Slaves are seen cleaning up the arena from debris of a carriage race. This done, an imposing parade of warriors, gladiators, soldiers and slaves enter the arena, and approaching before the throne of the dictator, the gladiators salute Nero with the words "Ave Caesar morituri te salutant." Another group of soldiers leading Christian captives before the throne are ordered to bind the victims to the post, and the multitude is waiting to see the lions and tigers devour them. We see a big lion jump at the helpless Christians and tear them to pieces, while the gladiators are ready to encourage the lions in their cruel work. 115 feet. Price.....$13.80

LEAVING JERUSALEM. (N) A panoramic view of the Holy City, taken from the rear end of a departing train. A very fine film. Code, LADY. 50 feet. Price.....$5.50

MOTION PICTURE FILMS.

JOSEPH SOLD BY HIS BROTHERS. (N) This film depicts the Biblical scenes when Joseph is sold by his brothers and taken to Egypt, where he finally landed in jail. He explains to his fellow-prisoners their dreams saying one will go free while the other will hang. His predictions come true. The King has some dreams which he wanted to have explained, and he had Joseph brought before him. Joseph explained his dreams and was made Governor. We see Joseph is tempted by Pharaoh's wife, and how he is crowned Governor. This picture makes an exceedingly fine show for church fairs. Code word, JOSEPH. Length, 623 feet. Price.....$68.53

THE LIFE OF MOSES. (T,Q) In six pictures. 1—Moses drawn out of the water. 2—The burning bush. 3—Passing through the Red Sea. 4—The Hebrews in the wilderness. 5—Upon Mount Sinai. 6—Worship of the golden calf. This very beautiful film shows us the whole life of Moses from his very infancy to the moment when he delivers the ten commandments to his people. The story of Moses is too well known to be repeated and we assure our customers that this film is the truest reproduction possible, its photography being superb. We feel convinced that this subject will soon reach the same high standard as our world-known "Life and Passion of Christ." Length, 524 feet. Price.....$62.88

BELTHAZA'S FESTIVAL. (T,Q) Belthaza, the king of Babylon, and all his courts are seen enjoying themselves with wine and food. After having indulged all day and night men and women fall asleep. The king awakes and to his horror sees the unknown hand write the famous words: "Mene, Thecel, Phares." He falls back to sleep, but soon after the walls of Babylon are taken by Cyrus and his brave Persians. Belthaza and his entire court are slain by the conquerors, who demolish the castle and plunder the burning city. Length, 110 feet. Price.....$13.20

JOSEPH SOLD BY HIS BROTHERS. (R) Scene in five pictures. 1—Sold by his brothers. 2—In prison. 3—Tempted by Potiphar's wife. 4—Explaining the king's dream. 5—Joseph's triumph. Apotheosis. Length, 623 feet. Price.....$74.76

DANIEL IN THE LIONS' DEN. (T,Q) The story of the prophet is too well known to be repeated. We witness the scene where Daniel is bound to a post by Cyrus' soldiers. The lions, instead of devouring the prophet, lie down quietly and even lick his hands. Cyrus, who from the outside has been watching the scene, is so surprised that he orders Daniel to leave the den, and slowly and unmolested the prophet walks out of the den of lions. 100 feet. Price....$12.00

THE PRODIGAL SON. (M) The father presents a large quantity of jewels and money to each of his two sons. The "black sheep" of the family accepts his share very greedily and takes it away to squander it. The other son carefully turns his share over to his servants, instructs them what he wishes done with it, and re enters his father's house. Here is shown the spendthrift at his pleasures in a wine garden. Next he is seen, after his share has been spent, on his way back home. Outside of the house he sees the pigs, and being very hungry, pushes them away from their troughs and eats their food. He is discovered by his father's servants and driven off. He returns to the stable after the servants have disappeared and, sitting down on a nearby stone, falls asleep. In his dreams he sees his anxious mother awaiting his return and his father endeavoring to comfort her. Upon waking he decides to go to the house. As he approaches the door he is stopped by one of his father's slaves and not being recognized, is refused admission. He induces the slave to send for his mother, and immediately she appears. She recognizes her son and they embrace each other. The glad news is sent to the father, and when he sees him there is great rejoicing. The fatted calf is killed and great is the joy of the entire household at the return of the lost one. Code word, PRODIGAL. Length, 475 feet. Price..... $57.50

ANCIENT GLADIATOR. (T.R) This picture shows us a strong gladiator engaged in a fight with a lion. Very often the beast kills the brave man, but in our picture we see the man getting the best of the lion. 75 feet. Price..... $9.00

THE SIGN OF THE CROSS. (O.D.) 180 feet. Price..... 21.60

JERUSALEM'S BUSIEST STREET. (G) An interesting scene taken in Jerusalem's busiest street. Shows the natives in their picturesque costumes going in all directions, and finally a herd or camels on the road to Mt. Zion, plainly visible in the distance. Code word URBANORUM. Length, 70 feet. Price..... $8.40

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR GREETING. (T) Gov. Orman meets Dr. Eberman on the steps of the Colorado capitol at Denver. The city and state officers of the society are also present, and received with cordiality. It was a most notable affair for Endeavorers. Dr. Eberman walked toward the camera, and bowed to the operator. His pleasant smile and cheery face will be easily recognized, for this worker in the good cause is known all over the world. Code word, EBERMAN. Length, 36 ft. Price..... $4.25

MARTYRS OF THE INQUISITION. (R) One of the most realistic and vivid reproductions of this notable torture chamber of the middle ages in five scenes: 1 The Prison. Whence the prisoners are called out to undergo their trials and sufferings. 2 Torture Chamber, where we see prisoners undergoing many of the well-known forms of torture used. 3 The Rack. 4 Torture on the Wheel. 5 Burning at the Stake. The whole is beautifully tinted, in new colors by a process of our own. 688 feet. Price..... $85.86

Temperance and Reform.

Price....$6.00

TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM, NO. 5—DEATH OF SLADE. (D) Slade is killed by his son. who hits him over the head with a bottle while Slade is in a drunken stupor. Code, GAMBRINUS. Length 35 feet. Price.....$4.20

ALCOHOL AND ITS VICTIMS. (R) Drama in five pictures. Ask for special description. 1—Interior of a happy workman's home. 2—The first step to the public house. 3—His wife comes to fetch him. 4—In the garret—Misery. 5—The Asylum—Delirium tremens. Length, 459 feet. Price.....$55.08

CARDS AND CRIME. (G) A highly dramatic picture, opening with a party of friends playing a game of cards. Suddenly a quarrel arises, and one of them attacks another with a chair, and is shot down by a revolver in the hands of his friend. The others leave the room, and the murderer is left alone with his victim. Filled with remorse at his rash act, he seizes a decanter of whisky, and after drinking deeply, conceals the body under a lounge and then, exhausted, throws himself upon the lounge and falls asleep. During his sleep, he dreams the whole scene over again, and the dream is shown with marvelous ingenuity in a smaller moving picture on the wall over his head. Awaking suddenly he draws the body from its place of concealment, and hides it in the garden. He is then shown asleep again, when he has another dream, showing the supposed corpse coming to life in the garden. He jumps from the couch, and is delighted to find his friend only stunned, and helps him into the house. A thrilling picture carrying a fine moral lesson. Length 255 feet. Class B. Price $30.60

SUCH A HEADACHE. (G) Into a dollar-a-day room in a Bowery hotel enters a New York drummer who has evidently been having a "good time." As soon as he is left alone he begins to "see things." His valise flies around the room in a startling manner, and upon opening it a huge demon's head arises therefrom and floats through the air. A bottle on the table changes into a little black dog, which springs to the floor as he reaches to take a drink; he rings for the chambermaid, but immediately kicks her out. She returns reinforced with the landlord and the bell boy. All four now engage in a most furious fight, in which bedclothes, chairs, water pitcher etc., takes an active part. The drummer wraps a towel around his head, and pouring the contents of the ice water pitcher upon it, wearily lies down again. After seeing the picture it is easy to see why we give it the title, "Such a Headache." Code word, UNDERSCORE. 130 feet. Price $15.60

THE LIFE OF A GAMESTER. (R) Drama comprising eight pictures. (Highly recommended) The interior of a saloon is first shown. A man enters and after taking a drink, is introduced to some card players. He joins the game. Scene changes to a street with a gambling house in the background. As the victim seems to be a "good thing" in the game mentioned above, the gamblers lay in wait for him. He comes; is induced to go to the gambling house; submits, and is next seen entering the card room. He sits at one of the tables and plays a few hands. He loses all he has. The usurer appears and lends him money on his note. He still loses. After getting rid of all, he jumps madly from the table, and tossing the cards in the air, leaves the place. Scene now changes to the usurer's office. The gambler enters. The usurer demands payment of the note and the gambler refuses to pay, saying he knew nothing of having given a note to him. At this, the usurer goes to his desk to get the note and show it. The gambler, now seeing his chance to rid himself of the old money lender, pick up a knife from the table and stepping up behind the old man plunges it into him. He then scatters the papers all over the room in an attempt to find the note, but fails, and before leaving stabs the old fellow again. Next scene shows the murderer at home with his wife and child. Judging from the expressions on their faces, his wife is endeavoring to persuade him to give up his bad habits. Suddenly there is a knock at the door, which is answered by the child. The police arrive and arrest the murderer. A very pathetic scene is here shown as the gambler parts with his little girl. Next the courtroom is seen. The judge and jury are seated in their places, and the prisoner is brought before them. His wife and child appear, and he endeavors to reach them, but is held back, and they are induced to leave the room. The case proceeds; the prisoner is found guilty, and the death sentence imposed. Here he falls in a faint. Next scene shows the murderer in his prison cell. He is dreaming. A vision of his sick wife and child appears to him. He rises, gasps, and falls exhausted to the floor. Next is shown the death chamber. The rope is placed around the prisoner's neck, the trap sprung and a wretched life is ended. This film depicts a very strong moral. Length, 557 feet. Price $66.84

CARRIE NATION, SALOON SMASHER. (D) The interior of a barroom with customers is shown. Mrs. Nation and her crusaders come in with their hatchets and proceed to demolish everything in sight. Mrs. Nation knocks out the spigot from a beer barrel and is deluged by its contents. Code, GALOPPASSI. 26 feet. Price $3.12

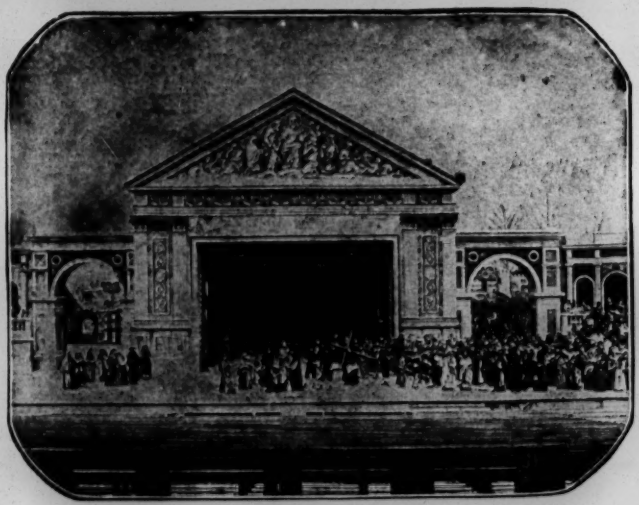
THE PASSION PLAY.



A Wonderful and Magnificent Production

...OF A...

TOUCHING DRAMA ON THE LIFE OF CHRIST

A Cast Including Christ, His Disciples, Pilate, King Herod, and all ancient characters implicated, with

500 ROMAN SOLDIERS and CIVILIANS

Illustrating the Life of Our Savior from Birth to the Ascension, as played at the Last presentation in OBER AMMERGAU, BAVARIA, Reproduced by means of Soul Stirring Panoramic Stereopticon Pictures.

This Play is now produced but once in ten years, and is the sole survivor of those Mystic Plays, or Religious Dramas, which were in full vogue during the Middle Ages in Germany, France, Italy, Spain and England. It costs HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS to produce the play, and people go from ALL OVER THE WORLD to see it.

EVERYBODY MAY SEE THIS WONDERFUL PRODUCTION which will be shown by a series of

Beautifully Illuminated Transparent Views

Magnified to Life Size, and as the views are shown a vivid and most interesting description of each will be given.

INTENSELY INTERESTING TO BOTH OLD AND YOUNG.

EVERYBODY SHOULD SEE IT.

1 Introduction, with title
2 He was trying to finish his Sunday morning sermon
3 He settled down at his desk again
4 He rose and walked over to one of his windows
5 The two men stood facing each other
6 "Did you finish your sermon, Henry?" his wife asked of him
7 The anthem of the quartet choir was inspiring
8 I'm not drunk and I'm not not crazy and I'm perfectly harmless
9 The man gave a lurch and tried to steady himself
10 He fell on his face full length, up the aisle
11 The man lay on the couch breathing heavily 12 Henry Maxwell had to announce from the pulpit that the man was 13 Do we understand fully what we have undertaken?
14 "Here's the press report of yesterday's prize fight," he said,
15 If Christ were editing a paper, do you honestly think He would 16 The Daily News that evening caused a terrible sensation
17 "Would Jesus advertise whiskey and tobacco in his paper?"
18 This will mean a great loss to The News. How long do you think 19 For Rachel, "What would Jesus do with her voice?" And for 20 Rachel spoke with a vigor and earnestness that surprised her
21 "Rachel, you are a fanatic: what can you do?" said her mother
22 Mr. Gray requests Mr. Maxwell to preach for him
23 The two men kneeled together in the study, Mr. Maxwell prayed
24 The meeting in the tent was well attended
25 A drunken man interrupted the meeting
26 The people in the tent were all turned toward the singer
27 "This is a terrible spot," said Henry Maxwell, as they stood waiting
28 Henry Maxwell was stirred deeply by the events of the week
29 "I suppose I ought not to trouble you with my case," said young
30 Henry Maxwell briefly told the cause of their errand
31 Some friends drove up as Virginia was starting for the Rectangle
32 Out of the saloon a young woman reeled, singing, "Just as I am"
33 "You shall not touch me: Let me go to hell: The devil's waiting"
34 When they arrived they were told that Mr. Grey was out
35 "Did you say she was a friend of yours?" she asked in a cold way
36 When the election day came there was great excitement
37 "Yes, she's dying," said Dr. West
38 "I am going to do something with my wealth to help these women"
39 One day Virginia met her brother
40 The Rev. Calvin Bruce, D. D., interviewing Henry Maxwell
41 He went to the window and opened it
42 He kneeled down "What would Jesus do? What would Jesus do?"
43 His text was "Master, I will follow Thee whither Thou goest"
44 Felicia arrived home, her father waiting for her
45 Henry Maxwell kneeled to pray
46 The service at the Rectangle
47 What would Jesus do?
48 He saw the figure of Christ

The Shadows of a Great City

--OR--

The Slums of New York.

This Entertainment Set is a departure from the customary style used for temperance or reform work, being more on the descriptive order, intensely interesting to all classes but at the same time it has a strong moral influence and is adapted to the requirements of Ministers, Temperance Lecturers and General Missionary Work as well as to the Exhibitor who is interested only from a financial standpoint.

.....61 VIEWS—WITH LECTURE.....

FOR temperance work we consider this set to be one of the strongest and most attractive ever produced. The series illustrates the mode of life, habits, etc of the lower strata of society, and the surroundings within which they dwell. There has been an oft repeated assertion that one-half the world does not know how the other half lives, and in this series we reproduce the unfortunate half whose lives are passed in wretched hovels, in the breeding spots of vice and crime.

The Yellowstone National Park

By common consent the term "Wonderland" has been applied to this marvelous region. This name is neither far-fetched nor an exaggerated one. One who could even approach the truth in vividness of description would lay himself open to the charge of wildest romancing, on the part of those who have never seen the park.

With its mammoth geysers, that send streams of boiling water and steam hundreds of feet in the air, its beautiful terraces presenting all the colors of the rainbow, and a thousand other wonders, it is not surprising one is unable to find words to express his opinion of it.

President Roosevelt says: "The Yellowstone Park is something absolutely unique in this world."

Rev. C. A. Payne, the well-known traveler and lecturer says: "It is simply the Almighty's masterpiece."

It must follow that with a set of magnificent colored views illustrating as they do the superlative beauty, the mighty grandeur, the splendid majesty of this wonderful creation, and with a suitable lecture to accompany them, a most unusual opportunity is offered for public entertainment that is both entertaining and educational.

To the charm of the sunny Southland, by the side of the sparkling sea,
Where the palmetto greets the orange, and the south winds wander free,
Add a joy that is past all telling, in this magical pleasure zone,
The southern summer Dreamland, where the winter is never known.

This magnificent set of slides is something out of the ordinary, and should make a big hit wherever shown. It includes Jacksonville and its ostrich farm, the quaint old city of St. Augustine with its narrow streets, old Fort Marion, the old Spanish houses and stores and Palatial Hotels, Palm Beach, the Paradise of the south, Daytona, Miami, and other east coast attractions, the world-famed Nassau in the Bahama Islands, Key West, Havana and Cuba. Brimful of interest from start to finish. Advertising Posters in Colors, 12x24, per 100 $1.60

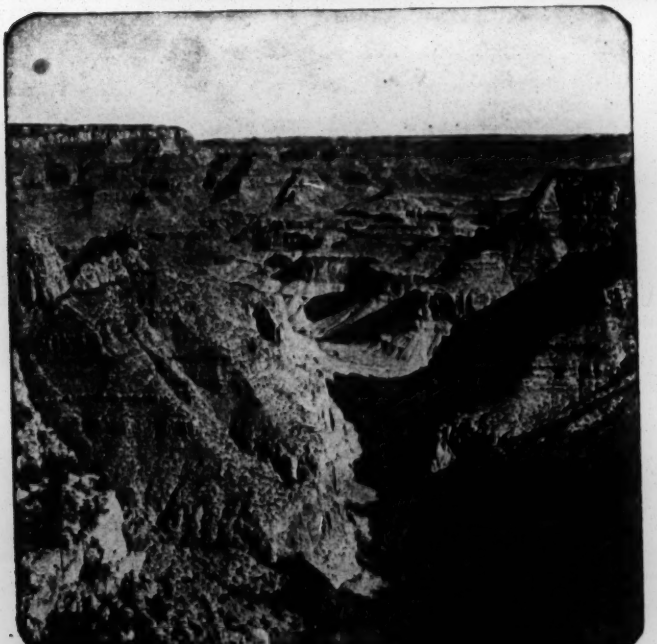
Lantern Slides from Original Negatives Illustrating

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado in Arizona



No better description can be given than to quote Major Powell:

"The whole scene is forever reminding you of mighty architectural pinnacles and towers and balustrades and arches and columns with lattice work and delicate carving. All of these architectural features are sublime by titanic painting in various hues pink, red brown, lavender, gray, blue and black. In some lights the saffron prevails, in other lights vermilion, and yet in other lights the grays and blacks predominate."

No painter can convey the impression of titanic immensity; no photograph can give more than an idea of the reality, but in the series of views we have selected for our lecture sets, it is possible to give the best possible presentation on a scale larger than by any other method. A set of these views with the lecture or reading that accompanies them never fails to interest any audience.

The San Francisco Disaster

The Greatest Calamity of Modern Times

Illustrated with Motion Pictures and Stereopticon Views.

Never in the history of this country has such a calamity occurred as that which in April, 1906, destroyed by earthquake and fire, the Golden Gate City, the metropolis and pride of the Pacific Coast. The area destroyed was many times greater than that of either the Baltimore or Chicago fires, while twenty-five hundred people lost their lives, and many times that number were rendered homeless and destitute.

We have fifty stereopticon views, and a number of motion pictures that were taken about a year before the fire, and seventy stereopticon views, snd a large number of motion picture views that were taken immediately after the catastrophe. The first series shows the magnificent city in all its splendor, while the second series shows the charred and twisted ruins, the great earthquake cracks, the improvised camps where both rich and poor are on an equal footing, feeding the refugees, etc.

Our stereopticon views are made from original negatives, and the slides are furnished colored only, which makes them more realistic and natural. These views have PRODUCED A SENSATION wherever shown, and should be made a part of every exhibitor's outfit.

A TRIP to PARIS

..... 52 VIEWS—WITH READING.....

WE hear so much about Paris, both by reason of its world famous expositions, and because it is generally conceded to be the Most Beautiful City of the World, that it brings an entertainment on this subject into popular demand. This set contains views of all the principal points of interest, and includes a few of the most important views of the late exposition. The views are made from original photographic negatives, are clear, sharp and artistic, and the set, together with the interesting printed description that accompanies them gives one a good general idea of the capital of the French republic, and is equally interesting to the person who never expects to go, the one who does expect to go, and the one who has been there.

Complete Set of 42 plain and 10 colored views, including reading and view box..... ..... $16.00

The Trocadero.

ON rising ground and near the Pont de Jenna, a handsome bridge built in the time of the First Napoleon and commemorating in its name his victory over the Prussians at the town of Jena, in 1806, is the Palace of the Trocadero, which derives its name from a Fort in Cadiz, taken by the French in 1823. The Palace is modeled after Oriental styles, and is occupied in part as a museum, contains reproductions of monumental sculpture in Europe since the Middle Ages, Chinese sculpture, curiosities and domestic objects illustrating the life and customs of various nations. It also contains a large concert hall capable of accommodating six thousand persons, and annually on July 14 (the great national holiday of France) the entire building is brilliantly illuminated, and then becomes a veritable palace of fire, every arch and column and pinacle being marked out in dazzling lines of light.

Sights of Paris and the Exposition.

No. 14—Column Vendome.

LOCATED near the Place de l'Opera, which marks the junction of what bears the universal reputation of being the gayest and most brilliant thoroughfare in Europe is the Place Vendome, on which stands the mammoth Bronze Monument, Column Vendome, which is an imitation of Trojan's Column at Rome. This lofty shaft was erected by the First Napoleon to commemorate his victories over the Russians and Austrians in 1805. The bronze plates which form a spiral from base to top were made from cannon captured from the enemy and represent in bold relief the chief events of that campaign. Since its erection the column has more than once indicated political changes through which the country has passed. At first it was surmounted by a colossal statue of Napoleon the First, in the attire of a Roman Emperor, but in 1814 the Royalists replaced this by an immense fleur-de-lis. In 1831 Louis Phillippe substituted that for a new statute of Napoleon in the uniform of a General, and that was changed in 1863 under orders of Napoleon the Third to a reproduction of the first statue. In 1871 the Communists overturned the column destroying many of the bronze plates, but the fragments were collected, new plates made for those which were broken, and the column erected in 1875.

No. 7—London Bridge.

THE most famous of all the bridges which cross the Thames within the city limits is called the London Bridge and was opened to traffic by King William the Fourth in 1831. It is constructed of granite and the lamp posts on its sides are said to have been cast from cannon captured from the French during the Spanish War. The cost was about eight millions of dollars. During twenty-four hours it is estimated that an average of twenty thousand vehicles and one hundred and twenty thousand pedestrians cross here from one side of London to the other. Standing on this connecting link between the two great sections of the world's metropolis one realizes the immensity of London. The city's population is nearly five millions, to which twenty-five hundred are added per week by birth and two thousand taken away by death. If the entire population of London were placed in single file eighteen inches apart they would extend a distance of twelve hundred miles, or further than from Chicago to Boston.

No. 10—Paris Panorama.

A TRIP to Europe would be very incomplete if it did not include a visit to Paris, the capital of what has been by turns the Empire, the Kingdom and the Republic of France. It is a most beautiful city and of it the French are justly proud. For many centuries the City of Paris changed but slowly and to no great extent, but under the Bourbons and the Bonapartes the changes have been great and rapid, until to-day the population numbers full two million souls and the appearance of the city has been entirely changed. In her wide, well-built, well-paved streets, her broad boulevards, her parks, fountains, arches, churches and bridges, she presents an appearance of extent and splendor and completeness unequaled by any city on the globe.

No. 21—Church of St. Basil, Moscow, Russia.

ONE of the most extraordinary buildings, not merely in Russia but of the world, is the Church of St. Basil. It was erected by Ivan the Terrible about three hundred years ago, and was placed over the grave of St. Basil, who was regarded as the prophet and miracle worker at that time. The architecture of St. Basil's is most wonderful. It has eleven beautiful towers of different forms, which are crowned with cupolas resembling the turbans of oriental giants. It is painted in all the colors of the rainbow, its cupolas being finished in gold or with brightly tinted tiles, and the effect of the variety of coloring can hardly be exaggerated. It shows almost every variety of architectural form and decoration, and so delighted Ivan the Terrible that he caused the architect's eyes to be put out in order that he might never erect a rival to it.

No. 27—Pisa.

LIKE Florence and Venice the City of Pisa also has been famous. It was founded by the Romans 180 years B. C., but beautified by the erection of many temples, theatres and triumphal arches. The celebrated "Leaning Tower" is close to the cathedral and was commenced in the year 1174. It consists of eight circular stories, the uppermost containing seven sonorous bells, the largest weighing upwards of 12,000 pounds. The total height of the tower is 180 feet, with an inclination from the perpendicular of 13 feet; it is ascended by an interior flight of 290 steps. Nothing can exceed the grace and lightness of the structure and nothing can be more remarkable than the general appearance. This wonderful piece of masonry together with others draw the lovers of art from every land to look on them.

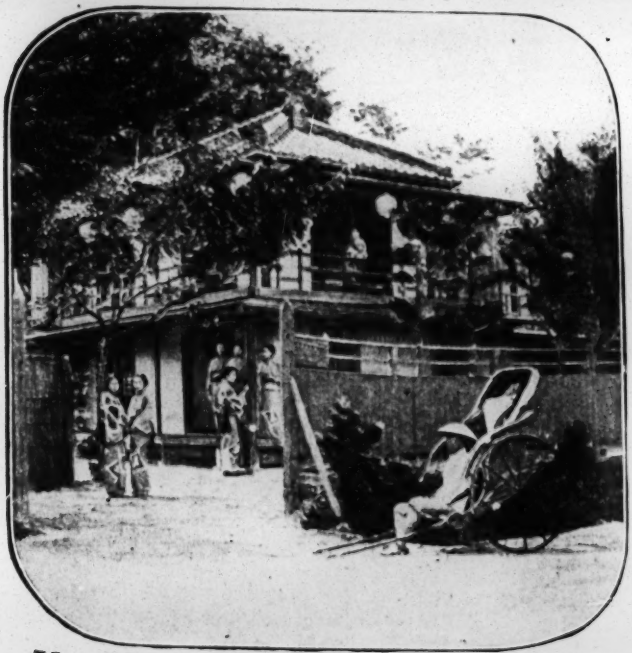
No. 28—Castle of Chilon, Geneva, Switzerland.

GENEVA is most delightfully situated, lying as it does at the southern end of the lake, which is 55 miles in length, and commanding a charming view of the snow-clad chain of Mt. Blanc and is within a few hours' drive of Chamounix. It is the most beautiful, as well as the most popular of Swiss cities. Close to Montreux and only a rod or two from the shore is the Castle of Chilon. Count Peter of Savoy did much during the thirteenth century to enlarge and strengthen, as well as to beautify the castle, and it now remains much as he left it. A feature of special interest in the castle are the dungeons where prisoners of state were confined, and many good men who dared to assert their independence with reference to their faith. Among the many objects of special interest in Geneva are its historic souvenirs, stately hotels and elegant jewelry shops. In the manufacturing of watches Geneva holds a very prominent position, and its products are known the world over.

No. 44—Pyramids and Sphinx.

THAT which most prominetly claims the attention of the tourist is the Pyramids, whence forty centuries look down upon us. The origin of these monstrous masses of stone was undoubtedly the desire of the Rulers of Egypt to perpetate their memory. The Great Pyramid was the Mausoleum of Cheops, who ruled in Egypt more than three thousand years B. C. Its length on each side was 764 feet and it covered an area of more than thirteen acres. In the interior of the Pyramid is to be seen in the King's Chamber after a slippery, suffocating, decent of 320 feet a battered sarcophagus which is said to have served as a coffin of the Cheops. Near the Pyramid is the Sphinx, the huge image of one of the deities of the Ancient Egyptian.



No. 50—Roadside Tea House, Japan.

EVEN though it has been but a few years since the cities of Japan have been thrown open to foreign travel they have during these few years lost no time in assuming many European characteristics. In fact, so rapidly have these changes been brought about that the traveler who sees Japan of to-day sees but little of what it once was. The foreign dress and mode of arranging the hair have been very extensively adopted a..d numerous buildings are constructed on the European style. Electric lights, telephones and street cars no longer excite wonder. There is, however, an old custom, which probably will for many years be retained, and that is the use of the Jinrikisha for the transportation of passengers. A man places himself between the shafts and plays the part of the horse for as many hours and as long a distance as the passenger cares to ride. In the foreground of this picture will be seen the Jinrikisha, while in the background is the Roadside Tea House, where tea and other dainties are served as refreshments.

No. 77—Niagara Falls.

WHEN we consider that the Niagara River at the Falls has a normal width of nearly a mile, that it requires the drainage of half the continent to supply it, that its sources are some of them two thousand miles from here, and that eighty-five million tons of water are falling every hour a distance of 160 feet to the abyss below where it assumes a boiling, seething mass in its effort to pass through the narrow channel known as the Rapids, we have before us a subject which is too sublime, too grand, for minute description. The American Fall is about one thousand feet in width, which is about half the width of the Canadian Fall. The two are divided by Goat Island, which is reached from the American side by a bridge. As we stand on the edge of the precipice and view the mighty rush of water, the roar of which can be heard for many miles, we can scarcely realize that this wonderful spectacle existed before there were human eyes to see it.

China and the Chinese.

No. 16—Chinese Soldiers.

IT is said that the Chinese Soldier never wears his full uniform except when he is upon particular duty. His uniform consists of a wide pair of drawers squeezed into his boots with stockings of quilted cotton, an under garment of blue or black cotton hangs loosely over them. The jacket is short, made of nankin cloth and bordered with red. In the center of the jacket immediately below the shoulders is a badge or patch of red cloth with black characters denoting his Company and Corps; a long que hangs down below the waist, and upon the head is worn a small cap covered with red hair. The weapons of the Chinese consist of bow and arrow, pikes, sabers, matchlocks and muskets. Their Arsenals at Foochow, Shanghai, Nankin and Tientsin, where warships, cannons, muskets, and all other war appliances are turned out under foreign superintendence. The army of China is magnificent "on paper" but in reality is exceedingly defective.

No. 21—Cat Sellers at their Work.

We may think it disgusting at the idea of having Pussy served up for dinner, but to the Chinese who do not even object to rats and mice nor the flesh of monkeys and snakes, a tender kitten is not to be despised.

NOTE.—The above represents two sections taken from the Descriptive Reading on China, but we regret that for want of space we cannot give a better idea of the great treasure of knowledge contained in this set.

Japan and the Japanese.

.....70 VIEWS—WITH READING.....

THIS series deals with one of the most interesting countries of the world, and is of peculiar interest at the present time, due to the fact that the Japanese are rapidly acquiring a form of civilization such as exists in all modern and progressive countries. So rapidly is this change taking place that the traveler visiting their country is amazed to note how the picturesqueness of their architecture and their dress is disappearing. We have here preserved in a series of views all of the quaintness, picturesqueness and romance that is characteristic of the people and their world, before the march of progress had worked its changes.

THIS SET is of a rather humorous character, illustrating Mark Twain's famous book of the same title. The series of pictures represents the great humorists' experience in Europe and Asia, and is described with his own pen. While of a humorous nature, the set is very instructive, and the reading contains much of interest regarding well-known places abroad.

Nansen's Polar Expedition.

52 VIEWS—BOOK FOR READING.

THE series of fifty-two beautiful photographic views illustrates the many interesting, exciting, and dangerous incidents of the noted explorer's expedition. These slides graphically illustrate the frozen North, and the hardships and privations endured by the hardy navigators, who risked their lives for the sake of science. As the set is very interesting, and treats of something very much out of the ordinary, it promises to become very popular.

The Passing of the Indian.

No. 6—Pocahontas and John Smith.

IMPROBABLE as the romance may seem, we want to believe the story of Captain Smith and the lovely, dark-eyed Pocahontas. I would not give a snap of my finger for a man who had not any poetry or romance in his composition. Generations have been thrilled by the doubtful story of Pocahontas, and every Anglo-Saxon feels in his heart that if the story was not true it certainly should have been. The injustice that brought about the first sanguinary war between the white settlers and their Indian neighbors is a matter of history and need not be recalled. To-day there is scarcely a trace of the once powerful people who once called the Great Phillip their Sachem.

It is a relief to turn from the New England Puritans and the Virginia Swash Bucklers and their career of extermination and study the different course pursued by William Penn in the province of Pennsylvania. His treaty with the Indians was inviolate during the seventy years that the Quakers controlled the province, and has been a model for statesmen ever since. He paid them for their lands, kept his word in all his agreements and this is almost the only instance of the kind in the early history of America.

No. 20—Sitting Bull. (On Advertising Poster.)

SITTING BULL has usually been considered the leader in the Custer massacre. This is an error. The real fighting leader at that time was Chief Gall, one of the bravest and most resourceful leaders that the Dakota Nation has produced. During the battle, Sitting Bull, who was a medicine man, was in his tepee making medicine—endeavoring to placate the Great Spirit and thus secure a victory for his people. After the battle Sitting Bull, with the remnant of his tribe, escaped across the line into Canada. A command headed by General Terry met Sitting Bull and his braves near Fort Walsh on the Canadian frontier. Full pardon for all past offences was offered the old chief, and he was told that if he would peacefully return to the United States the Great Father at Washington would make a new treaty with the Sioux, which would be kept inviolate for all time. Sitting Bull had been crouching with the members of his family with his blanket drawn over his head. As General Terry ceased speaking the old chief dropped the blanket and slowly rose to his feet. "Why should I go?" he asked. "Your government never keeps its promises with my people. If you can show me one single treaty ever made by the Great Father that was kept in good faith I and my people will go back with you," and General Terry in speaking of the matter afterwards said that he was compelled to confess with shame that he could not recall one such instance.

The Passing of the Indian.

No. 13—Indian Mother and Pappoose.

BECOMING impatient at the government's delay in providing for them, the lower agency near Mankato, Minnesota, went on the war path. A force of United States troops was sent against them and after some of the Indians had been killed the others surrendered and were taken to Mankato as prisoners. At the subsequent trial thirty-eight were condemned to be hanged. The execution took place at one time and upon a single gallows at Mankato on December 26th, 1862. The punishment was just, but even at that time some of the white people failed to demonstrate wherein they were any better than these red marauders. While the Indian captives were being taken to Mankato with their women and children they were attacked and brutally beaten by citizens, and an eye-witness of the scene has said that one frantic white woman snatched the pappoose from the back of its Indian mother and raising it above her head dashed it to the ground so violently that it died in a few minutes.

Stereopticon Views with Reading, and Colored Advertising Posters

The author says "there is nothing in the amusement line that can so thoroughly stir the individual or that can turn a community topsy turvy so successfully, but that a circus is something more than a huge entertainment joke." There's another side to it as told by one who for twelve years has acted in the capacity of advance agent for the World Renowned Ringling Brothers Circus. The story is exceedingly interesting, is humorous and pathetic and deals in such a masterly way with the inside features of a subject of general interest that it should draw good patronage wherever advertised.

The full set consists of seventy views, all colored but five, and the set of fifty-two is selected from the seventy.

The Advertising Posters in natural colors are very attractive and lend much to the successful advertising of the entertainments. See facsimile and prices on another page.

Life Under a Circus Tent.

Part of the Introduction.

IT IS safe to say that nearly all the world loves a circus and there is nothing in the amusement line that can so thoroughly stir the individual man or that can turn a community topsy-turvy so successfully. Many are inclined, however, to look upon the Circus simply as an amusement—a kind of huge entertainment joke, but it is more than this. An institution that represents a capital of from one to three millions of dollars; employs nearly a thousand men, women and children; with average daily expenses of from three to five thousand dollars; which spends $150,000.00 annually for advertising; which requires from forty to sixty double length railroad cars to carry it; which has upwards of three hundred high class horses and can comfortably seat from 8,000 to 12,000 persons—such an institution must be more than a mere amusement. It is a great industrial enterprise demanding study, patronage and respect.

No. 70—The Clowns.

THE Clowns are the hardest working people in the show. They are always at it and if it were not for them the Circus would be pretty flat. Nowadays there are no speaking clowns. The tents have grown so large people could not hear them. The clown has to depend on his actions for his work and not infrequently it happens that sev-

The Spanish-American and Filipino War.

.....52 VIEWS—WITH READINGS.....

OF ALL the illustrated entertainment sets that have been produced, there probably never has been and may never be another of such universal merit as this one illustrating the Spanish-American and Filipino war. It appeals to the patriotism and the National pride of all, and then nearly every one has a near or distant relative or near friend who was in the service, and they will gladly patronize anything that will freshen their memories and throw more light on the subject.

One of the strong elements in the success of a set of this kind is that the public seems never to tire of listening to war stories, but the great popularity of this set is not, however, merely because it's a war story, for neither an internal rebellion or a war in or between foreign countries would appeal sufficiently to any very large portion of our county, for with the former the seat of trouble is so near home and brings so much devastation and suffering, that it's preferable to forget rather than to resurrect, and with the latter there's not enough personal interest in some other nations' troubles to afford the support that the exhibitor needs.

Not only has this set been our best in the past, but it continues to be in good demand and probably always will be popular. This set has our most earnest endorsement and should be included with the outfit of every traveling exhibitor.

This view illustrates the unfair methods employed by the Spaniards in their warfare. Instead of fighting as other civilized nations they prefer to conceal themselves, oftentimes making overtures for peace in order to meet their opponents unawares.

Spanish Treachery is the subject of the above illustration, which shows how the gallant Cuban General Maceo met his death

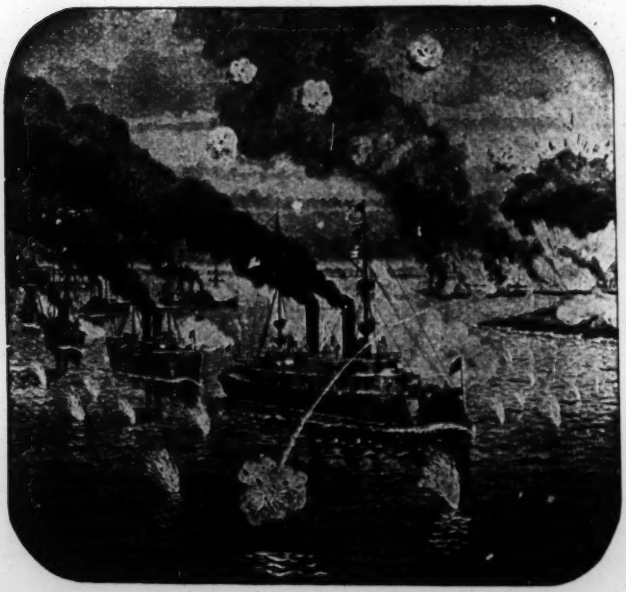
Battle of Manila.



(COLORED)

ONE of the most thrilling and important events of the Spanish-American War is represented by the above picture. It shows the battleships in action in Manila Bay and how the Spanish squadron was destroyed in that most wonderful naval battle, heralded the world over as Admiral Dewey's Victory.

With a set of these most beautiful and valuable pictures together with the very interesting description of each, every entertainment should be a grand success and serve as an advertisement and a recommendation for future exhibitions.

Devastation of Cuba.

THE awful sight presented by the above picture is but one of the many events of the kind which was reported from time to time during that long and most cruel war waged by Spain against the Cubans who were struggling to free themselves from the unbearable oppression.

Even the women, children and aged men were not exempt from

The Disgraceful Methods of Spanish Warfare.

So realistic are these views when shown with the mammoth high power Stereopticon which magnifies to life size or larger, and so faithful and interesting are the descriptions of the scenes that the audience will derive almost as much satisfaction as they would from a trip to the spot where the events happened.

The Japanese People, and The Russian-Japanese War

Set of Sixty Views, with Reading

Deals with a most interesting subject of the hour, and describes and illustrates one of the greatest of modern wars, which was waged by the weaker nation for the cause of Justice. It pictures an interesting story of a brave, patriotic, honest, and extremely progressive people who have made the most rapid strides in the line of reform that stands to the credit of any nation.

This set is especially desirable for entertainments in churches, and in co-operation with missionary societies, as well as for general amusement work, owing to the fact that the awakening of this wonderful little nation is said to be due to the efforts of our foreign missionaries. The nature of this set is such that

IT'S BRIMFUL OF HUMOR AND SIDE SPLITTING MERRIMENT

From start to finish, and is equally appreciated by both old and young.

A HUMOROUS STEREOPTICON SET of this kind has never before been offered for sale, so it's a BRAN NEW IDEA, but it's what the people want, and is MAKING A BIG HIT.

This new departure has been the means of putting New Life into this line of business, in fact it has worked a revelation, and exhibitors who are using it are showing to Crowded Houses Every Night at good prices and are Coining Money. "Peck's Bad Boy" in book form, even though very sparingly illustrated, has been one of the best selling publications ever printed, is known everywhere and by nearly everybody, and when the large advertising posters are put up in conspicuous places, announcing that this funny story is to be superbly and profusely illustrated with the finest quality LIFE SIZE STEREOPTICON VIEWS representing every scene as natural as life

THAT WILL BE ENOUGH AND THE HOUSE WILL BE CROWDED.

There's a big demand for Real Entertainment, especially for something humorous, and in the "Peck's Bad Boy" Set We've Hit the Nail on the Head. It's full of sentiment, has a good moral effect, appeals to both adult and child, and affords them an opportunity to Laugh Off the=ues, and Forget all Their Troubles.

In fact, it's brim full of fun from start to finish, one continuous round of pleasure, Think of the nearly Twenty Thousand small towns and villages in the United States, to say nothing of several times that number of country school houses, churches, etc., where people would come from miles around to see an entertainment of this kind.

THE LARGE SIZE ADVERTISING POSTERS arranged especially for this set, with attractive illustrations and excellent display are an important feature, and a great help to the exhibitor. Furthermore the views are not from drawings, but are made from Original Negatives Photographed from LIFE MODELS, and everything is of the Best Throughout.

OUTFIT No. 25 COMBINES BOTH Motion Pictures and Stereopticon Views

.....For Illustrating .....

Peck's Bad Boy and His Pa.

The Motion Picture films listed with this outfit are especially adapted to the "Bad Boy" set, showing incidents that are not included in the stereopticon views and may be used to best advantage between the different chapters. As they are full of action and strictly in keeping with the sentiment of the story, they add much value to the production. We have in our regular list ten of these "Bad Boy" Motion Picture views, all of which would make a delightful diversion between the eleven different chapters, as two between each could be used to advantage.

The Outfit Consists of the Following:

1 Optigraph Motion Picture Machine with lenses and reels.
1 Combination Sliding Attachment for connecting Motion Picture Machine and Stereopticon.
52 All colored Stereopticon Views ("Bad Boy" set).
2000 Admission Tickets.
1 Polished Wood Case for Views.
1 Double View Carrier for quick change of views.
1 Case of Large Rubber Type for printing dates, etc., on Posters.
1 Holder for Type.
1 Type Tweezers.
1 Ink Pad for Type.
1 Instruction Book and "Business Guide."
1 Book "Bad Boy" to be read or recited while views are shown.
1 Carrying Case for Stereopticon and Motion Picture Machine.
1 Muslin Picture Screen, 10x12 feet.

TERMS:--Outfits will be shipped C. O. D. to points within the United States subject to examination on receipt of a deposit of $5.00 with order as a guarantee of good faith. Deposit will be refunded if outfit is not found as represented.

The "Bad Boy" Series Motion Picture Films.

A selection from this series is especially valuable for use with the "Peck's Bad Boy and his Pa" set of stereopticon views, but may be used to advantage with almost any set. They are full of action and as they are all humorous, they never fail to bring enthusiastic applause.

252 B—A CURE FOR "LOVE SICKNESS." A couple love-making in a picturesque garden. The youngster spoils it all by tying a bunch of firecrackers to the young man's coat tails, and setting them off. Very laughable results. Length 33 feet. Price.....$4.00

275 B—THE LAMP CHIMNEY LOADED. One of our most popular comedy pictures. Boys fill a lamp chimney with flour, and hide under the bed while the schoolmaster comes in to light the lamp. As he takes off the globe he is covered with flour. Length 52 feet. Price.....$6.25

727 B—THE BAD BOY INTERRUPTS THE MINISTER'S WOOING. While the minister is courting the young lady of his choice, he is interrupted by the "Bad Boy" who dangles a spider in front of his nose. He jumps up suddenly, and the bench upsets; the girl, thinking it intentional goes away in anger, much to his chagrin. Length 30 feet. Price.....$3.60

658 B—AN INNOCENT VICTIM. Taken in front of a country grocery store. The storekeeper has put out a sign: "Nice Fresh Tomato Catsup for Sale." The "Bad Boy" by a quick change on the sign, causes it to read "Nice fresh Tom Cats for Sale," and hides behind a barrel. A country youth strolls in; stands and laughs at the sign, and the grocery keeper comes out. He at once jumps to the conclusion that the country youth has made the change and proceeds to assault him, much to the amusement of the Bad Boy. Length 28 feet. Price.....$3.40

488 B—A RINGER JOKE, ON HIS PA. A big hit. Scene: In the kitchen with old lady washing and old gentleman dozing by the fire. While his mother is outdoors hanging up clothes, the "Bad Boy" ties a cord to the back of his father's chair and attaches the other end to a towel in the wash tub. His mother returns, puts the towel in the wringer, and as the cord tightens it pulls the old man's chair over, and as he falls with a crash he pulls the tub of water over and upon him. The scene is full of action and very amusing. Length 47 feet. Price.....$5.65

4101 B—HE PUTS "A HEAD ON HIS PA." The "Bad Boy" paints a comic on his Pa's bald head while the old gentleman is sleeping in his chair. His sister comes in and is greatly startled at the Sight. Seeing the boy behind the table, she starts after him. In his haste to get away he upsets the old man; and his sister falls over him, making an uproarious finish to a laughable scene. Length 40 feet. Price.....$4.80

4201 B—"A GOOD SHOT." The "Bad Boy" steals his father's old musket, and with his sister starts out to practice at a target. As luck would have it Mrs. Murphy, the washerwoman, was busy over her tubs on the opposite side of the fence, and received the charge in a very sensitive part of her anatomy. Length 28 feet. Price.....$3.40

6912 B—THE "BAD BOY" TRIES A MECHANICAL EXPERIMENT. The "Bad Boy" finds his grandfather asleep in the rocking chair, and connects a swinging gold fish jar to the rocker with a cord. Grandpa wakes up, starts to rock, and tips the jar of water and gold fish upon his head, much to the Boys' amusement. Length 50 feet. Price.....$6.00

75 E—THE OLD GENT AND THE NURSE IN TROUBLE. A young nurse is seated asleep on a bench with an infant in her lap, while opposite her is an old gentleman also snoozing. The "Bad Boy" and his chum enter upon the scene, one gets a small log about the size of a child and places it in the nurse's lap and the other takes the child from the nurse, and lays it in the old gents' arms. In a few moments the old gent awakens and finds the baby, the nurse wakes up and misses her baby, and seeing it in the old gents' arms, seizes him and mops up the earth with him. A policeman marches them off to the station house. This picture is bound to provoke a great deal of mirth. Length 50 feet. Price.....$6.00

78 E—THE WASHERWOMAN'S RETREAT. While busily engaged at her occupation the washerwoman is annoyed by the mischievous boys, who throw lighted firecrackers at her from a window nearby. She retaliates by sousing the boys with a convenient piece of wet linen. This enrages the boys, who proceed to deposit a lighted pack in such close proximity to her heels that she is compelled to beat a precipitous retreat, with the tub, suds and clothes in a somewhat inverted order. A side-splitting picture sure to win a laugh. Length 50 feet. Price.....$6.00

WHAT ALICE SAW

During Her Adventures

IN WONDERLAND

'Twas Indeed a Wonderfully Queer but Intensely Interesting Experience, and We Know You'd Thoroughly Enjoy It

THE LOBSTER QUADRILLE.

"So they began solemnly dancing round and round Alice, while the Mock Turtle sang this very slowly and sadly:—
You can really have no notion how delightful it will be, when they take us up and throw us, with the lobsters, out to sea!"

NO ONE BUT ALICE—as we have been informed, has ever visited this strange but delightful place called Wonderland, which, according to the illustrations, must have been THOUSANDS OF MILES UNDER THE EARTH. She found there such queer looking animals and such funny people, and in the beautiful gardens and the grand theatre, they gave so many startling exhibitions in keeping with this wonderful place that ALICE WAS COMPLETELY BEWILDERED.

THIS SUPERB SPECTACLE

OUR NEW SET OF 42 VIEWS ILLUSTRATING

Alice's Adventures in Wonderland

Stands prominently AT THE HEAD OF THE LIST for the entertainment of children, and is far above the average for the amusement of the older folks.

A good set for the entertainment of children is always in great demand, owing to the greater numbers available, and also to the greater number that may be seated. Then too anything that will draw the children brings the parents. Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, is a most delightful fairy story, and has without doubt had the largest sale of any book of the kind ever published. The views are all clear, sharp and comprehensive, while the story is superbly charming.

Complete Set of 22 plain and 20 Colored Views (42 in all) including our regular View Box $15.60

Book for Reading, large size, cloth bound extra..... 1.00

The following is a list of the views. (For fac-simile of poster and further description see preceding page.)

1 The White Rabbit said to itself, "Oh, dear! I shall be too late!"
2 Alice looking for a means of escape.
3 She discovers a bottle containing a magic fluid.
4 She finds herself extended like a telescope.
5 Alice sorely grieved.
6 She swims in a pool of tears.
7 O mouse, do you know the way out of this?
8 The mouse tells its history.
9 "And who is Dinah?" asked the Lory.
10 Alice waits for Dinah.
11 A crash from broken glass.
12 She hears a queer scrambling in the chimney.
13 An enormous puppy was looking down at her.
14 Alice appeals to the caterpillar for advice.
15 Father William, "I fear it might injure your brain."
16 "Yet you turned a back somersault in at the door."
17 "In my youth," said the father, "I took to the law, and argued each case with my wife."
18 "Yet you balanced an eel on the end of your nose."
19 "Anything you like," said the Footman.
20 "There's certainly too much pepper in that soup."
21 "Don't grunt," said Alice, "that's not at all the proper way of expressing yourself."
22 "Would you tell me, please, which way I ought to go from here?"
23 But a grin without a cat.
24 A mad tea-party.
25 "Have you guessed the riddle yet?" the Hatter said.
26 And they put the Dormouse into the teapot.
27 Five and Seven said nothing, but looked at Two.
28 Next came the guests, mostly kings and queens.
29 The chief difficulty was in managing her Flamingo.
30 "Off with his head" said the queen, without even looking around.
31 "Be what you would seem to be" said the Duchess.
32 They very soon came upon a Gryphon, lying fast asleep in the sun.
33 The Mock Turtle's story
34 The Lobster Quadrille.
35 "You have baked me too brown, I must sugar my hair."
36 "Who stole the tarts?"
37 And the White Rabbit read:—"The Queen of Hearts, she made some tarts, all on a summer day"
38 In his confusion the Hatter bit a large piece out of his cup.
39 "You may go," said the king, and the Hatter hurriedly left the court.
40 Alice has grown to her natural size.
41 "Why, there they are!" said the King, triumphantly, pointing to the tarts on the table.
42 At this the whole pack rose up in the air. Alice awoke, and said to her sister, "Ah, I've had such a curious dream!"

Pose Slides.

These slides are known by the name of Poses Plastique, Costume or Cloak slides. They get their name from the original method of projecting the slides, which was done by having a person pose before a black screen, usually a lady with a white dress and black cloak with a white lining. The cloak is made in the form of a kind of plain mantle, and along the front edges is provided with loops through which the arms are passed and by which the cloak is supported when the arms are spread out, in which position the cloak together with the white dress of the lady, forms a screen on which the picture from the lantern may be projected. The pictures blend with the costume in such a way, as to make it appear that it is either woven into or printed on the goods. The cloak should be closed, which will leave everything black, while the slide is being changed. The slides for this purpose having the background blacked out, shows only the picture from the slide.

Slides for Serpentine or Skirt Dances, Colored and Blacked Out, Each $1.00

Costume slides are furnished in two ways. Where they are intended to be projected on some one posing, the space in the slide where the head would come is left transparent, so as to project the light on the face of the poser. These slides may be used, however, to advantage without a poser, by ordering them with a face, in which case they may be projected on an ordinary curtain or screen.

Comic Stereopticon Slides.

A few Comic Slides will add much interest to a Stereopticon Lecture or Motion Picture Exhibition and the popularity and increasing demand for something new in this line has encouraged us to make up an entirely new list of comic slides in which we have combined originality, the best work and the most entertaining subjects.

We would suggest that the selection of comic slides be left to us, as it is impossible to give an accurate idea of slides of this kind from the title and abbreviated description. If the exhibitor will give us the subject of his lecture and what other features he is using in his entertainment, it will enable us to make a more satisfactory selection than probably he could do himself,

PRICES { Plain Comic Slides, each..... $0.25
Colored Comic Slides, each..... .50

What Our Customers Say

Best Motion Picture Machine on the Market.

EN ROUTE, SAGINAW, MICH., July 30, 1899.

GENTS:—Have been using your Optigraph Motion Picture Machine for nearly a year and have found it very satisfactory and believe it to be the best Motion Picture Machine now on the market. Have seen many so-called picture machines but none seem to enthuse an audience as the Optigraph, and your new model for 1899, with late improvements, is, in my judgment, the peer of all, and if it can be attached to the one we have been using would prefer to have all the late improvements. Please advise us the cost of same.

Awaiting your prompt reply, I am, yours very truly,

Stereopticon Advertising.

A Profitable Business, to which you may devote all your time, or it may be conducted successfully after hours in your own town without interfering with regular daily employment or business.

While it is not generally known, a good income can be made by stereopticon advertising with a stereopticon alone, or in combination with a motion picture machine. Advertisers are ready to patronize the best means of getting their business card, or a list of their bargains, before the public, and this method, we believe, is not surpassed by any, but good as it is, it has been worked very little.

Arrangements can be easily made with from twenty to thirty merchants at a time, to show their advertisement from four to six times during the evening (either a single slide or a series). The advertising slides should be interspersed throughout with a selection from our regular comic list, scenic views, etc., to keep up the interest, and an occasional motion picture view will add much to the value, but is not imperative.

At great expense, we have prepared a large list of designs suitable for representing almost any kind of business. Each slide has an attractive design, comic drawing, cartoon or lettering in attractive form, with blank space for name and address. Each slide is colored to make them more natural and interesting. The name and address of the dealer or a list of special bargains may be written or printed in with a pen and India ink.

We have several different kinds of slides for the different kinds of business, which affords an opportunity for selection, or to run a series for the same advertiser.

Special slides for advertising will be made to order when desired, where copy is furnished us. The expense will be the same as listed on another page under special slide work. If we are to make the copy, price will depend on the amount of work required to produce what is wanted.

Any further information desired with reference to the advertising slide business will be cheerfully furnished.

Illustrated Song Views, (COLORED ONLY)

FOR THE STEREOPTICON.

Illustrated Songs have become one of the most popular means of entertaining the public. The views for illustrated songs consist of a series of pictures which represent the most important acts described in the song, and are projected by the Stereopticon, while the song is rendered by a vocalist or a Talking Machine.

Song Slides are furnished colored only. They are hand-painted showing all the colors of nature, and when they are shown with the Stereopticon enlarged to life-size they are very realistic.

If the exhibitor does not sing and does not care to engage a regular vocalist or use a talking machine, it is most always possible to secure the services of a local vocalist to assist in the entertainment, and as entertainments are usually given under the auspices of the church or some society, the services will usually be donated, and by reason of local talent being represented it creates much additional interest in the entertainment. The vocalist is usually pleased to have an opportunity to sing, as it increases his or her popularity.

THE TALKING MACHINE affords an excellent means of producing songs to accompany Stereopticon illustrations. The song productions of the latest improved machines and records are loud, clear and distinct, and the novelty of the all mechanical entertainment, helps to charm the audience. When the talking machine is used for producing song slides, ten or a dozen slides will be sufficient. Talking machine records cannot be had for all the songs, and as the lists of records are constantly changing and the forms and sizes differ, it is best to make selections of songs you like and write us for the information.

We have marked those titles for which we are able at the time of compiling this catalogue to get Talking Machine Records. For disc records the mark is "(D)," for cylinder records "(C)" and for both disc and cylinder (D. C.)"

MUSIC will be furnished when desired, and with few exceptions the price is 35 cents. Orchestrations when desired should be ordered of the publishers, names of whom will be furnished on application.

PRICE PER SLIDE. Colored, each, ... $0.50

What Our Customers Say

Boscobell, Wis., Nov. 19.

Chicago Projecting Co., Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen—Have been using your combination moving picture and calcium gas machine for the past year and must say that I am meeting with grand success. By adding to my outfit now and then I am now in a position to give a high class entertainment and find the secret of my success in using my advertising matter liberally. I know of no business where the profits are so large and the returns so quick, as this. Yours for success, W. W. B.

Quick and Large Returns.

Sedalia, Mo.

Chicago Projecting Co., Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen—If you remember I started out a short time ago with one of your combination outfits, and am now successfully working the street fairs, and opera house circuit. At first I was a bit skeptical as to the success of my venture, but am now thoroughly convinced there is no other business I know of that pays such quick and large returns as this. Wishing you the success that I am now enjoying, I remain.

Nice, Clean and Easy Business.

Kansas City, Mo.

Chicago Projecting Co., Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen—I have used one of your combination stereopticon and moving picture machines for the past two years, and have succeeded beyond my fondest hopes. I have confined my work to the school houses and churches and have averaged from $20.00 to $100.00 per night. To anyone wishing to enter a nice, clean and easy business, on a small investment I would certainly advise them to get a combination outfit at once. Yours for business, T. F. N.

SONGS THAT NEVER GROW OLD.

Killarney. (D.C.)

1 By Killarney's Lakes and Fells.
2 Mountain Paths and Woodland Dells.
3 (Chorus) In that Eden of the West.
4 Every Rock that you pass by.
5 Bright-Hued Berries Daff the Snows.
6 (Chorus) Angels Often Pausing There.

Light of the World.

1 I Heard the Bells at midnight pealing.
2 I saw the Blessed Mother Kneeling.
3 And then I heard the sound of weeping
4 I saw an Angel shining clear.
5 And still the Ages tell the story
6 For us He lives and reigns in Heaven

Star of Bethlehem. (D. C.)

1 I sat beside my window.
2 There rose one radiant Star.
3 On many a garret Bare.
4 And many a homeless wanderer
5 I rose, as borne on wings.
6 And then the gates rolled backward.

The Holy City. (D. C.)

1 Last night I lay a sleeping.
2 I stood in Old Jerusalem
3 Me thought the voice of angels
4 The streets no longer rang.
5 Upon a lonely hill
6 I saw the Holy City.

Old Kentucky Home. (D. C.)

1 The sun shines bright in the Old Kentucky Home.
2 (Chorus) Weep no more, my lady, Weep no more to-day.
3 They sing no more by the glimmer of the moon.
4 The time has come when the darkies have to part.
5 A few more days and the trouble all will end.
6 A few more days till we todder on the road.

Star Spangled Banner. (D. C.)

1 Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light.
2 And the rockets red glare, the bombs bursting in air.
3 On the shore dimly seen thro' the mists of the deep.
4 And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
5 Oh, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand
6 And this be our Motto, in God is our trust.

Marching Through Georgia. (D. C.)

1 Bring the good old bugle, boys
2 How the darkies shouted
3 Yes, and there were Union men
4 Sherman's dashing Yankee boys
5 So we made a thoroughfare
6 Hurrah! Hurrah! we bring the jubilee.

Swanee River (D. C.)

1 Way down upon the Swanee River far far away;
2 Dere's where my heart is turning ebber, Dere's where the old folks stay
3 All up and down the whole creation sadly I roam
4 (Chorus) All the world am sad and dreary everywhere I roam
5 All around de little farm I wandered when I was young
6 When I was playing wid my brudder happy was I
7 One little hut among de bushes one dat I love
8 When will I see de bees a humming all around de comb

America (D. C.)

1 Land where my fathers died.
2 I love thy rocks and rills
3 Let music swell the breeze and bring from all the trees
4 Long may our land be bright with freedom's holy light

Home Sweet Home (D. C.)

1 Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home
2 An exile from home splendor dazzles in vain
3 How sweet 'tis to sit 'neath a fond father's smile
4 To thee I return overburdened with care.

$500.00 for Two Evenings.

CALUMET, MICH., February 1st, 1899.

DEAR SIRS:—The Optigraph came to hand in good order, and, while I have been somewhat skeptical, I must confess I am quite surprised in the operation of the machine. It works to perfection; have given two public exhibitions to nearly two thousand people and they are simply delighted. Words of compliments reached me on all sides. The machine is all you claim for it and is a little wonder.

Yours truly, PROF. T[illegible] W[illegible]

Note:—From the above you will see that he says that he had an attendance of nearly 2,000 people at two entertainments. Figuring the average price of admission at 25 cents, his receipts would amount to $500.00 for the two evenings. Testimonials from most of the more successful exhibitors we cannot get as they advertise the machine under another name, believing it is best to give people the impression that they have something which no one else has, and for this reason they do not wish to make a contradictory statement in a letter. Most of the prominent exhibitors use the "Optigraph" while the audience believe it to be some other machine.

GOOD AMUSEMENT PAYS BIG RETURNS.

With a Stereopticon and Motion Picture Outfit illustrating some interesting subject, your services are always in demand and when the merit of your entertainment is known, the engagements WILL COME TO YOU.

With a view to assisting the prospective purchaser in the selection of his outfit and figuring cost on the same we submit a number of combinations that are suited to various requirements. They are all complete with the exception of films in the outfits that include Motion Picture Machines. It is best to include ten or more Motion Picture Films where the means available will permit, but in cases where it will not, we advise including as many as possible and adding more from the profits of the business.

Outfits Nos. 50 to 68½ inclusive are suited to the requirements of the Traveling Exhibitor. Those from 80 to 86 inclusive are for Nickel Theatres, and those from 90 to 94 inclusive are adapted to the requirements of those who wish to do Street Advertising.

Great Successes are the result of things "well done." To do your work well you must have a good outfit. We have only that kind, and can start you right.

On the Side. Mr. M. of Elmhurst, Ill., a traveling salesman, gives about 100 shows per season. Average receipts $25.00 to $30.00. Gives one-fourth for use of church or hall. Makes all dates by correspondence.

$2,500 a Year on the Side. Mr. Campbell, superintendent of a school in this state, says he averages about six entertainments a month with Stereopticon and Motion Pictures, and clears about $2,500.00 per year besides his school income.

Think of It. The average attendance in this city at the Holmes lectures (Stereopticon and Motion Picture Views) for this season was about 3,500 each evening. Eight evenings and five afternoons. Admission averaged about seventy-five cents each.

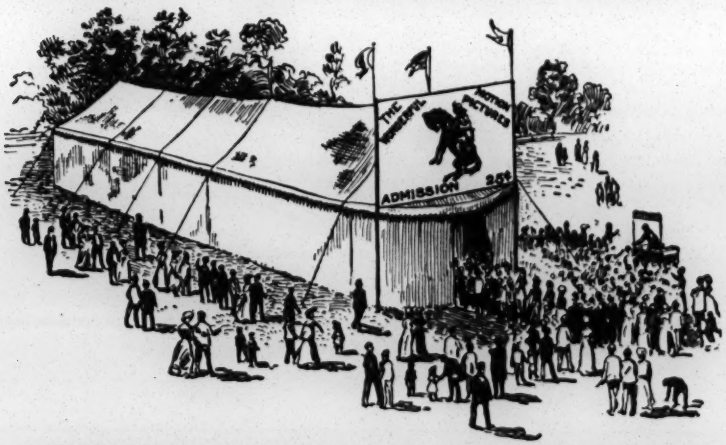
CHICAGO PROJECTING CO.,

Motion Picture Exhibition Tents.



The black canvas tent with black cotton flannel lining, has been designed especially to meet the requirements of motion picture and stereopticon exhibitors, who wish, during the summer time, to be entirely free from the renting of halls, etc., and especially for those who wish to give exhibitions at street fairs, picnics, county and state fairs, summer parks, etc. Being of double thickness and made of black material, it can be used for either day or evening entertainments. The outside of the tent is made of heavy black cotton duck or drill, and will shed the rain.

With a tent of this kind the exhibitor can stop for several days or weeks in the same town with the minimum of expense. He has no rent to pay, the tent always attracts attention, and is cooler than a building. The customary method when using a tent at fairs, etc., is to give short exhibitions of one-half hour each, making the admission appropriate to the locality. All of these tents are made up and roped in the regular showman's style, and nothing but good material and the best workmanship is used.

The banners and flags as shown above are not included at prices quoted on following page. We make to order any style or size of banner that may be desired. Prices on banners and flags will be furnished on application. In writing for prices on banners please state as clearly as possible what is wanted, or that you would like to have our opinion or advice in the matter.

We list both an A and a B grade, the difference being in the quality of the material. Some dealers list only one grade, which is the same quality as our B grade, but we recommend the A grade as being worth far more than the difference in price.

As tents are made only to order, customers must send the full amount of cash. We cannot send them C.O.D., but we guarantee them to be exactly as represented. About a week will be required to fill orders.

The above cut gives a good general idea of the outside of the tent. On the following page will be found the ground plan, sizes and prices.

The above quotations are for the "B GRADE" tents. For the "A GRADE" tents add 10 per cent to the body price only. Lining and poles is the same price in either case. The "A GRADE" includes the finest grade material, the greatest care in making up and will well warrant the additional expense. We also make a "C Grade" tent in the black only but do not recommend it. Prices will be quoted on application.

These prices are for tents with 15 inch curtain, scalloped, bound with scarlet braid on outside. Tents with same curtain on outside and plain 28 inch curtain on inside, and 15 inch sod cloth at bottom of wall will cost 10 per cent extra on above prices.

We solicit inquiries from any who are interested, and shall be pleased to furnish any further information regarding tents, outfits, etc., that may be desired.

...The Talking Machine...

FOR PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENT.

There is no question but that the up to date Talking Machine has a permanent place in the field of Public Entertainment and recent improvements have still further enhanced its value by making it possible to reproduce perfectly the productions of the world's most famous vocalists, to say nothing of its wonderful rendition of Band, Orchestra and Talking selections, which never fail to please the most critical audience.

The talking machine has recently entertained Kings, Queens and Emperors, besides the world's most exclusive society, hence, there is no reason why it should not become a part of every entertainment outfit. Its usefulness is not alone in the general production of Vocal, Band, Orchestra and Talking selections but it is admirably adapted to the production of Illustrated Songs with Stereopticon Views, a feature that never fails to charm the audience.

While we recommend the talking machine outfit as an auxilary or addition to our Stereopticon and Motion Picture Outfits, it is possible to do a profitable business with the talking machine outfit alone. Then too, where an outfit is desired principally for home amusement it may very quickly return its cost by giving one or more public entertainments, after which an endless amount of pleasure may be derived from it without cost.

The selection of a Talking Machine for Public Entertainment work is, however, a question of the most vital importance, as nothing but the very best and latest improved machine and records will produce satisfactory results, before a large audience and sustain the pride of the exhibitor, without which he is liable to soon become discouraged and give up a golden opportunity.

For Public Entertainment we recommend and urge the use of the Improved Disc Machine and the Improved 10 Inch Disc Records. The productions are very loud, clear, distinct and natural, and can be distinctly heard in the most remote parts of large halls, churches and theaters. The flat Disc Records are not only far superior to the wax cylinder records in quality and quantity of tone, but they may be carried in very small space—without fear of breakage, and a feature of even greater importance to the exhibitor is that one Disc Record will outwear three wax records.

Talking Machines and Records are being improved from month to month, in fact the changes and improvements are so numerous that its development is a constant evolution, with nothing short of phenomenal results in quality and volume of tone. Jean De Riszke, one of the world's most famous singers says: "It reproduces the human voice to perfection." In fact its productions have often been taken for that of the living performer.

In consideration of the numerous and important improvements, it is of the utmost importance that you place your order where the sales are large, hence the stock always new, fresh and up-to-date.

We make a specialty of Talking Machines for Public Entertainment purposes and handle nothing but the latest improved and very best goods. Our Machines and Records are manufactured especially for us by the largest and best equipped factory in the world and every detail of their construction has been given the most careful attention, thus making them especially adapted to this class of work.

Our line is very complete and includes a number of novel specialties.

If you want the best in this line, as in any other line, you must go to those who make a specialty of the business.

WE FULLY GUARANTEE all machines sold by us and will cheerfully refund money if not found as represented.

CHICAGO PROJECTING CO.,

The Disc Record Talking Machine.

Is the now acknowledged leader for both public and home amusement. Our line embraces a considerable range in price, and while each one is Guaranteed to give entire satisfaction, the higher priced machines possess the added advantage of more elaborate cases, larger springs, run more records, larger horns, etc., and, especially for public amusement, where it can be spared, the additional money for the higher priced machine is well spent.

New Process Improved Disc Records.

So much has been said and so many claims made as to the superiority and quality of various forms and types of records that every known adjective of praise has been used over and over again, but,

We want you to know that the development of recent discoveries in the laboratories of the factory has placed our Improved New Process Disc Records far in advance of all other sound records, and that we are selling the FINEST DISC RECORDS ever produced, records that are in a class by themselves.

A trial will convince you that for volume, musical quality and absence of annoying scratch, these records are not approached; and we are constantly adding new selections to our catalogue.

Another most important feature in which our disc records excel all others, is DURABILITY.

Send for one of our Improved Disc Records, compare it with any other style of record, and if you are not convinced of the great superiority of these records, return them to us and get your money back.

All selections listed herein are furnished in BOTH 7-INCH and 10-INCH RECORDS except when otherwise specified. The 10-inch Record is much longer, and has greater volume and roundness of tone.

7-INCH DISC RECORDS, Price Each 35c

10-INCH DISC RECORDS, Price Each 60c

Disc Records will be Sent by Mail at Purchasers' Risk for 15 Cents in Addition to the Price of each Record.

.....HOW TO ORDER.....

Always specify whether 7-inch or 10-inch records are desired.

Designate the selections by their numbers only.

State whether you wish us to ship by express or freight. If this is not done we use our judgment as to method of shipping.

The nature of the record-making business is such that it is impossible to avoid occasionally running out of some selections. We recommend customers to make a double list, giving first and second choice, the second choice list to be used for substituting for any of the preferred selections of which we are out.

Unless directly instructed not to do so, we will substitute other records of our own choice for any which may be out of stock, to the extent necessary to send the full quantity of records ordered.

14-inch Records, each.....$2.00

Just on the Market. Not LOUDER than the 10-inch, but LONGER.

IF INTERESTED, SEND FOR LIST.

We can furnish anything in the Talking Machine line. If you don't find what you want listed in this catalogue, write us about it. Our Records can be used on ANY MAKE of Disc Talking Machine.

225 DEARBORN ST., CHICAGO. ILL.

OUR No. 32-B.

$18.50 Public Exhibition $18.50
TALKING MACHINE OUTFIT

This outfit is complete in every detail and is furnished with everything that is necessary to give a Public Entertainment and should in almost any locality pay back its cost from the proceeds of one or two entertainments. The large horn is 26 inches in length, 12 inches in diameter, is made of steel and has japanned finish. This horn will give excellent results but must not be compared with our Mammoth Aluminum Ampliphone, the name of which has been imitated by some other houses.

The Records and other accessories in this outfit are of the very best quality and we most heartily recommend it to those who do not feel able on the start to purchase a more expensive outfit.

This outfit is also very popular for home amusement. When so desired we will furnish it without Advertising Matter, Printing Outfit, etc., for $15.75

We furnish the Complete Outfit, No. 32-B., including everything needed, as follows:

- 1 "QC" Graphophone Musical and Talking Machine
- 1 Oak Carrying Case with handle
- 1 Extra Loud Reproducer
- 1 Small Concert Horn
- 1 Large Concert Horn, Japanned (26 inches long)
- 1 Folding Stand, nickeled, for supporting the horn
- 24 Musical or Talking Records (your own selection if you desire)
- 100 Large Illustrated Pink Advertising Posters (1½x2 feet)
- 1000 Admission Tickets
- 1 Printing Outfit, complete, with large type for filling in dates, places where exhibitions are to be given, etc.
- 1 Instruction Book and Business Guide, complete with information about operating the outfit, making engagements with churches, societies, etc.

Our Guarantee.

We Guarantee Every Instrument sold by us to be exactly as represented, to work perfectly and give satisfaction. Should any error occur or any goods not give satisfaction from defective material or workmanship, it will be gladly corrected by us.

Our Very Liberal Terms.

We will send any one of our complete Exhibition Outfits, either the Stereopticon Lecture, or Motion Pictures, to any Express Office, C. O. D., and subject to a thorough examination, on receipt of $5.00 with order as a guarantee of good faith. After the Outfit is examined if it is found exactly as represented, perfectly satisfactory and a wonderful opportunity to make money, the express agent may be paid the balance and the express charges, but if not found as represented by us the outfit can be returned to us at our expense and we will refund the $5.00 deposited. Where two outfits are desired we will require a deposit of $6.50. Stereopticons, or Motion Picture Machines will be shipped on receipt of $3.00 with order, and miscellaneous goods, supplies, etc., will be shipped upon receipt of 10 per cent. of the amount of the order. Orders amounting to less than $2.00 should be accompanied by cash in full.

We cannot under any circumstances send goods C. O. D. to foreign countries.

Cash with Order.

When cash in full accompanies the order the customer saves not only the express company's charges for collection and return of money, but also the trouble of unpacking and examining the machine and outfit at the express office is avoided. The outfit can be thoroughly examined at your own home, and if everything is not found to be exactly as represented and a big money making opportunity, it can be returned to us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Our Reliability.

As to our reliability, we refer to any bank, any of the express companies, or any old reliable business house in this city. We are well known in the mail order business, and if you have not already had dealings with us, and there is any doubt in your mind as to our reliability, it will be an easy matter for you to learn of our reputation for fair and honorable dealing. If you would like to know more about us, and you have any friends living in or near this city, we would be very glad to have them call on us and report to you the result of their visit.

How to Send Money.

Remit by postoffice money order, express money order, bank draft or cash in registered letter. If you send your individual check on a local bank your order will be delayed until we have made collection (except that you have it certified) and the expense of collecting will be deducted. Postage stamps will be accepted to any amount as an accommodation to our customers. We recommend sending an express or post office money order, as they are inexpensive, less trouble and perfectly safe. If they should get lost or be miscarried your loss would be made good. Do not send money or stamps to the amount of more than $1.00 without registering your letter.
